FLOWER SHOW INCLUDES CHILDREN

At the Flower Show there will be a class for children, so why not encourage them to grow a few annuals this year. Children generally delight in digging into the soil and respond quickly to the suggestion that they have a garden plot. Hence, while one may be put to considerable trouble to provide such a plot and may often find the finished product is not as artistic as hoped for, the benefit to the child will more than repay one for the effort.

Children instinctively like flowers and often get quite a thrill from their culture. Boys will be found in most instances to be more enthusiastic over vegetables than flowers, but allow them to raise both.

Children should have some supervision, although much can be left to their own initiative. They enjoy planting seeds and setting out plants, although cultivating soil and pulling weeds does not appeal to them. A moderate amount of care should be insisted upon and children encouraged to have their own individual garden plot. This may play an important part in their education. Make it small enough not to be burdensome and large enough to be interesting.

TIPSY DRIVING INCREASES

Tipsy driving is on the increase on the Eastern Shore, if figures released today for the last week indicate the trend. According to State Officer Carl G. Storm here, six automobile licenses were revoked during the week ending today for drunken driving, while ten penalities in all were imposed for violations of the State motor laws, in the nine-county area.

Licenses revoked were: Stanley Bishop, Pocomoke City, operating under the influence of liquor and turning off lights to avoid arrest; Claude Griffin, Centreville, drunken driving and reckless driving; John M. Lee, Perry Point, drunken and reckless driving; Thomas M. Lee, Perryman, drunken and reckless driving; Fred Scott Shelor, North East drunken and reckless driving, and F. E. Sutphin, Rising Sun, drunken and reckless driving.

Esley Ayres, of North East, and Edw. Jones, of Fruitland, and their licenses suspended, the former for reckless driving and the latter for operating on an instruction license unaccompanied.

Fred Camper, of Cambridge, and Raymond Miles, Jr., of Easton, were refused licenses, the former for having operated without a license and the latter for the same cause.

QUARTER MILLION HERRING CAUGHT

A fish story has been unearthed at Millsboro, eight miles south of Georgetown, Del., which causes most of them to pale into insignificance.

The story has to do with the record-breaking catches of herring that have been made within the past few days, and which are continuing to be caught by the thousands.

Seven men, with a seine, on Monday caught what is estimated to be a quarter of million fish within a working day, and in one haul, it is stated, by actual count, there were 35,000 fish. The seine was so filled that it was impossible to drag it and the lines had to be tied to rowboats and the fish dipped out into other boats by means of crabnets.

One haul of the seine Tuesday resulted in a catch of 40,000, which probably never has been equalled by any gang of fishermen on the Indian River for a century. The catch on Tuesday is said to have been about 200,000.

THIEVES have been stealing flowers from boxes in front of Edw.Ringgold, Herman Dowell and other homes on High street. This is a most despicable act and if caught should be severely punished. Flowers are planted for the public to enjoy and anyone who steals them is a low type of citizen.

Carey, former Washington College flinger continued on the mound for Rock Hall Club, of the Chesapeake League, when he struck out 11 men as the local nine trounced Cecilton, 11 to 9.
