WEAR A POPPY OVER YOUR HEART

The last week of May has been set aside as poppy week, throughout the State of Maryland.

The poppy is an emblem of sacrifice, those who love it are making every effort to teach the public all over the country the true meaning of the flower.

The world in general has forgotten the war, and if the poppy will, in the season of Memorial Day, make the indifferent public remember the sacrifices which have been made for it by the men who gave their life that our country might be saved, then indeed the first and greatest mission of the poppy sale has been fulfilled.

It is also well for the public to be reminded that the war is not over for thousands of former fighting men who are now in hospitals, nor is it over for the wife or little children who need assistance as the result of the inability of some men to care for them.

A word in regard to expenditure of the poppy profits, 25 per cent is given to hospitalization; 50 per cent to child welfare, and 25 per cent to the unit.

SERVING ON JURIES

News that M. J. Van Sweringen, famous Cleveland railroad magnate, has been called to serve as juror in his home city and has expressed his willingness to serve emphasizes once more the fact that jury service is a duty which the country's leading citizens usually manage to evade.

If we were as civic-minded and conscientious as we should be, there would be no news in the mere fact that a rich business man was about to serve as juror; the man would get his name in the papers only if he tried to get out of serving. As it is, however, prominent men appear on juries so seldom that it is front-page news when one of them agrees to perform such duty.
