Fine Pictures at the NEW LYCEUM

CHESTERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

The Seniors have begun practice on their class play, "Am I Intruding?" It is a dandy little play.

Miss Gessford is the proud possessor of forty-eight brand new books given to he 8C Civics Class by Mr. Robinson, County Superintendent of Public Schools. This particular section is studying Vocational Guidance.

Mr. L. C. Robinson spent Friday afternoon observing classes in Miss Kersey's room.

Miss Elizabeth Amery, Home Economics Supervisor paid Miss Kersey a call Friday afternoon

The ringing of the fire drill bell called forth the entire school Thursday?

Baseball practice is developing rapidly under the coaching of J. Wilbur Stenger?

The Volley Ball Courts have been lined?

Every picture for the Dragon has been taken

A Tennis Club has been organized? Anna Harris is president.

The English teachers of Kent county met Monday evening for the purpose of revising the course of study for Freshman English?

Spring has come to C. H. S. at last and the athletic field, front lawn and sidewalks are no longer deserted. The marble season is at its height, although we have heard that it is over at the Elementary School. Spring athletic supplies are arriving. The girls have received two new volley balls, two dodge balls, a hit ball and a volley ball net. The boys are considering baseball, speed ball, track and field events.

Boys basketball is over and the suits have been cleaned and laid away. The girls inter-class games for the championship of the school have been played. The honor goes to the Seniors. These games produced much school spirit and the excellence of the playing was due to the coaching of Miss Gessford.

The boys under Mr. Blades' supervision have laid out and lined two volley ball fields, one touchdown pass field, one hit ball diamond, one obstacle relay course and one catch and relay court.

Mr. Blades attended the Kent County Principal's meeting held on Monday night at the home of Miss Lelia N. Ware, in Massey. Topics pertinent to schedules, rally day, curricula and enrollment of prospective first year students in September were discussed.

The largest squad of baseball players in the history of the school are out for practice.

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH" FILLED WITH HILARIOUS MOMENTS

If you can picture Buster Keaton in the role of a "great lover" you have a partial idea of the hiliarity which pervades the comedian's latest talkie, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," which shows at the New Lyceum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25.

Those who recall the stage version of the comedy will not be disappointed in Keaton's filmization, which not only includes all the original laugh episodes but adds several more which are equally as funny.

Charlotte Greenwood, whose droll antics added immeasurably to the success of the Broadway hit, was wisely included in the talkie cast and her inimitable stunts with those long legs get as many roars from the audience as ever. One scene in particular in which Miss Greenwood plays "dead" and Keaton attempts in vain to hide her elongated body is as funny as any thing ever seen on the screen.

Good Time Had By All

There are plenty of other performers in "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," and when they all get together pandemonium reigns and a volcano of laughs ensues. Reginald Lenny as a matchmaker, Cliff Edwards as a bellhop, Dorothy Christy as the girl who captures Keaton, Joan Peers, Sally Eilers, Natalie Moorhead, Edward Brophy, Walter Merrill and Sidney Bracy all have a prominent share in the fun.

The madcap story involves Keaton as an amateur Lothario whose romantic affairs result in his pursuit by a jealous husband. Keaton blends the tricks of a farceur with his own distinctive straight-faced type of comedy and the result is new and refreshing.
