KENT COUNTY HEALTH REPORT

During the month of January considerable service work in the county has occupied the nurses besides their regular duties connected with the public health of the community.

One patient in the upper part of the county was in need of medical care and had no money with which to pay a physician. She was visited by Dr. R. G. Beachly and the nurse and necessary care and attention was given. While such cases are rare in Kent they in no way cast a reflection on physicians practicing in the neighborhood who are always willing within reason to take on charity cases.

Another patient, this time a colored case, was given first aid care by Dr. Beachely and the county nurse at precipitate birth of a child. A. local physician was then called in to take charge.

A young girl who was living under very deplorable conditions at home has been placed in a private home in Queen Anne's county and is apparently much happier.

Needy cases have applied for aid at the Health Center and through the cooperation of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce and he Red Cross food and coal were supplied.

A family of father, mother and two children who were in jail for ten days has been investigated and the Children's Aid Society of Maryland has been asked to assist in getting a good home for the members of the family.

Two colored cases in need of social service attention were investigated and turned over to the Town Relief.

At the monthly Tuberculosis Clinic held at the Health Center by Dr. J O'Neal three white cases were examined. Two of these were discharged the third advise to have X-Ray of chest taken. Two colored patients applied and application for one was made to Henryton.

In Mililngton 45 children were immunized against diphtheria, at Rock Hall Elementary and Adventist Schools 92 children, Skinners Neck 9, and at Piney Neck 16. At Fairlee 15 children have been given two treatments each. All children needing one more dose will be visited and immunization completed.

Pre-school clinics were held at Rock Hall and Quaker Neck, by Dr. E. Goodson. Both clinics were well attended and several children were recommended for medical attention.

The regular monthly Eye, Ear.Nose an Throat Clinic was attended by eight patients. Glasses were prescribed for four adults and one eleven year old child received glasses.

Four venereal clinics were held at the Health Center and eleven patients were treated. Seven Wassermann tests were taken.

Letters were sent to all midwives in the County concerning the annual course of study and instruction which will be held in February. Eight midwives were visited by the nurses in regard to the same classes.

The investigation of colored homes and schools of Sharptown resulted in the exclusion of several children from school and the hospitalization of one child who was admitted to the South Balimore General Hospial through the efforts of Dr. Knox and Senator Ogden.

Communicable diseases were headed by an outbreak of scarlet fever. All homes where the disease was reported were visited and quarantined. Large yellow warning signs have been adopted by the County to be placed on houses in which there is scarlet fever, diphteria or cerebro spinal meningitis.

Tweleve white births all of which were attended by physicians were reported for the month and eight colored births. Of the last named, one was delivered by a midwife, the other seven by physicians. Two stillborn cases were reported among the white births. The deaths of two infants under one year of age were investigated and causes given for one inanition and the second, broncho pneumonia. Stillbirths and deaths of infants under one year of age remain a matter of great concern in the State bringing its death rate of infants much too high in keeping with the advanced methods of furthering public health.

STATE GAME DEPARTMENT BUYS 10,000 RABRITS

An order for 10,000 cotton-tail rabbits for release in the counties of the State during March was placed Saturday by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden, with game breeders and trappers of Kansas.

The order was placed after considerable opposition had been made by the State Health Department to the importation of rabbits because of the possibility of spreading tularemia to the local hares, which have but recently come through an epidemic of this disease.

During the controvesy between the Game and Health departments, Mr. LeCompte insisted that the danger of spreading the disease by rabbits from Kansas was extremely slight. He said that the State Bureau of Health of Kansas had assured him that the disease was not prevalent in that section. The rabbits cost 70 cents each.

The story is told of Aristotle that his love of study was so great that he devised the plan of holding in his hand while at work a ball of copper, which, if he fell asleep, would rouse him by falling into a metal basin.

NEW BOHEMIA SPAN ASSURED

The State Roads Commission for Maryland assurred the members of the House of Delegates from Cecil county—Fred H. Leffler, Thomas W. Reynolds and William E. Griscoe—that a new concrete bridge will be built across the Bohemia River this coming summer, to replace the present wooden structure, which is in a delapidated and dangerous condition.

This news will bring delight to the hearts of many thousands of persons who travel up and down the Eastern Shore annually.

It is estimated that it will cost at least $250,000 to build a new concrete bridge across the river, it being a quarter of a mile from one shore to the other.

In response to a letter written to the State Roads Commission last week, the members of the House of Delegates from Cecil county have just received the following letter:

"Answering your letter of February 3, with reference to the Bohemia bridge, wish to advice that if the appropriation for bridges is approved we expect to build the Bohemia river bridge this year.

Very truly yours.
G. CLINTON UHU, Chairman."

TATOOING POULTRY

Kent farmers are considering the use of the Delaware system of tattooing poultry as a means of ascertaining the ownership of fowl discovered in the possession of thieves.

The system, as practiced by the poultry department of the Delaware Board of Agriculture, consists in the web of the wing with an indelible oil. Each firm is assigned a different number and these are kept on record.

The tatoo oil does not harm the birds in any way, it is said by Delaware authorities, and the number will remain on the web of the wing during the lifetime of the bird. H. R. Baker, pathologist of the Delaware board, asserted. The bird can be tatooed at any time after it is six weeks old.

Another curious thing is that a racketeer never cares to make a racket when he's racketeering.
