POLICE JUSTICE FRANCE.

Four of the Police Justiceships For Kent County—Provisions of the New Law.

The first intimation that Mr. Thomas D. France had won his Police Justiceship fight, came on Friday evening of last week. Mr. France was officially notified of his appointment by Secretary of State Wilfred Bateman but when the commission came it failed to designate Mr. France as Police Justice. The paper was promptly filed and Mr. France delayed until Thursday in qualifying.

The law provides as follows: The said Police Justice shall have the same jurisdiction in criminal cases as Justices of the Peace of Kent county now possess, and which may hereafter be conferred upon them by the laws of the State, but he shall have no civil jurisdiction. He shall have the exclusive jurisdiction of and shall be required to try and determine all violations of the criminal law, which may arise in the Fourth or Chestertown district, within the jurisdiction now possessed by Justices of the Peace, and all violations of any of the ordinances of the town of Chestertown, subject to the same right of election to be tried by jury and to the same right of appeal as now exists. He may also hear and try criminal cases which arise in other districts of the county if the same be properly brought before him, by the consent of the State and the party charged. The Police Justice shall receive a salary of four hundred dollars per annum, payable by the county commissioners in equal quarterly installments. In case the Police Justice is unable by reason of sickness, absence, relationship, or for any temporary cause whatever, to attend to his duties, it shall be the duty of the State's Attorney for the county to designate another justice of the peace to perform the duties of said Police Justice temporarily. Where the Police Justice is not accessible any justice of the peace may issue a writ for the arrest of persons violating the laws of the State or ordinances of Chestertown, but said writs must be made returnable before the Police Justice as he alone is authorized to try criminal cases in the Fourth district.

MRS. STEEL SHOT.

Corset Steel Saved the Life of a Galena Lady From Death From a Cat And Rat Rifle.

Mrs. Lida Steel, wife of Mr. William Steel, of Galena, made a narrow escape from death by a ball from a cat and rat rifle one day last week.

Eight-year-old Harry Steel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Pleasanton, of Chestertown, was visiting at Mr. Steel's home, and had been playing with an old cat and rat rifle in which there was no bullet. It is supposed that several boys of the town, who had been playing around the house loaded the rifle. On the day of the accident Mrs. Steel went to the pump, and the child, who was about ten feet from her called out: "Look out, Aunt Lida, I'm going to shoot," and the next instant Mrs. Steel was turned entirely round by the 22 calibre ball from the rifle. The ball fortunately struck a corset steel, carrying small portions of the corset steel covering into the wound.

The shot was deflected, and instead of penetrating the heart, took a course around the body to a point under and behind the shoulder blade, where it had been located by Dr. Lattimer.

No effort will be made to remove the ball, no danger being anticipated from the small lump of lead.

The injured lady has suffered considerably, but is now out of danger and is experiencing but little inconvenience from the wound.

RECOVERING FROM ACCIDENTS.

John Francis Much Improved—Young Capels and Strattner in Town.

The friends of ten-year-old John Francis will be delighted to learn that the little fellow is now considered out of danger and is rapidly convalescing. Dr. Willson, who attended the injured boy, at first feared internal hemorrhage, but by skillful management it is thought that the danger point is now past.

Medford Capels, the 15-year-old boy who in March shot off his hand, necessitating the amputation of the arm near the shoulder, has entirely recovered and was in Chestertown this week.

Mr. Frederick Strattner, the unfortunate Kent county boy who lost both arms near the shoulder by an accident in the Wilmington Electric Light plant, is spending some time in Chestertown the guest of Mrs. A. P. Matthews. Mr. Strattner has provided himself with artificial arms which in some degree take the place of the natural members. It will be remembered that this young man was awarded $15,000 damages by a Wilmington jury.

ASSAULT AND BURGLARY.

A Young Lady Assaulted by A Claimed Book Agent in the Home of Mr. Wilbur Eliason.

A daring assault and robbery took place at the home of Mr. Wilbur Eliason, about one and a half miles from Chestertown, at about 10.45 o'clock yesterdey morning.

Mr. Eliason was in town, Mrs. Eliason had come to town to bring her son to school, and Miss Rebecca left home at about 10.30 o'clock; this left no one at home except a young lady who lives in Mr. Eliason's family, and a cook. The young lady was at work in a rear room of the house, and hearing some noise in the direction of the dining-room she went toward the library. Just at that moment the door bell rang and she gave prompt response, but as she passed through the library noticed the front door key lying on a desk. This was a most unusual thing, but in the absence of other suspicious circumstances attracted no especial attention. Upon opening the front door, which was locked, a comparatively young man, dressed in dark clothes and with a smooth face stated that he had books to sell. He asked whether or not the lady of the house was at home, and upon receiving a negative answer asked if the "boss" was at home. A negative reply was given to this query and the young lady at the same time stated that she was very busy. The next instant the desperado grabbed her by the arms.

She is muscularly built, weighs about one hundred and seventy pounds and is about twenty-two years of age—a fine specimen of young womanhood. These served her to good purpose in combatting the brute force of her assailant. In her desperation she fought with almost superhuman strength in defence of her unsullied womanhood. The man's face was lacerated by her hands and his neck tie was torn off. The brute in turn left his victim's face criss-crossed with ugly finger nail wounds and in the struggle dashed her against a book case inflicting painful bruises.

At this point the victim of the harrowing experience swooned and became unconscious, but for how long a time she is unable to say, certain she is however, that she was successful in thwarting the hellish purpose of her assailant.

Driven to desperation at his defeat, during this unconscious intervel the man cut the splendid suit of hair from his victim's head and left it lying on the floor.

Upon recovering consciousness the young lady made her way to the field, thinking that Mr. Eliason was there. A colored farm hand saw her and hurried to Chestertown and notified Mr. Eliason of what had happened.

An inspection of the house showed that from the third story to the first floor it had been ransacked. The contents of every bureau drawer in the house was turned topsy turvey; packing trunks were emptied and their contents scattered in every direction; and clothing was thrown about. Mrs. Eliason's jewel case was emptied and rings and other valuables were left in confusion. A diamond ring was taken, while a pearl ring, a band ring and other jewelry were left undisturbed.

When the young lady went to the front door she saw a second man sitting in a carriage near the house. This man she can not describe---cannot say whether he was white or black, but she could positively identify her assailant. She thinks that he was, however, at Mr. Eliason's house last winter. Up to the hour of going to press no clue to the identity of the claimed book agents had been gotten.

The supposition is held by Mr. Eliason, that the man looted the house before ringing the door bell or making the assault.

The young lady is sure that she left the man's face badly marked by her finger nails. She has no idea as to when the ransacking of the house took place.

Every possible means will be availed of to capture the desperado, and in the event of his being caught there should be no "laws delays" or "miscarriage of justice" in the matter.

Mr. William R. Pippin, proprietor of the New Pippin Hotel, will add five guests rooms and bath room to his hotel. This will be done by raising two stories with bay window over the present hotel office. Mr. Pippin's large patronage has forced him to make this addition to his finely-kept and pretty hotel building.

Mr. William L. Fowler, with his workmen, Messrs. Burke and Estes, are painting the Front street residence of Lewin W. Wickes, Esq. The colors will be a light body, gray trimmings and green shutters.

Mr. Curtis E. Crane has asked for bids on a handsome new residence to be erected on his Front street lot. This will be one of the most attractive homes in Chestertown. The contract will be given within the next ten days.

The High street residence of Mr. Thomas R. Hubbard is being painted by Mr. Wm. J. Sappington and Allie Baker.

Mr. Frank Howard is painting the new home of Mr. Horace Reed, on High street.

Mr. William R. Maul has had great improvements made to the store room of his recently purchased Wickes property. J. E. Ferguson & Co., who have rented the property, commenced moving in a stock of fine furniture, carpets and mats on Wednesday.

The lower portion of the old house being torn away to give place to the handsome press-brick building of Mr. Wilber W. Hubbard, was put together with hand-made wrought nails.

The carpenters and painters have finished their work on the new public school building. The only thing remaining to be done is the completion of the heating apparatus and putting the finishing touches on the grounds.

TO FIGHT SAN JOSE SCALE.

The Lady Bug to do What Science Has Failed to Accomplish.

Concededly the greatest menace to the fruit interest, not only of Kent county, but of the country, is the San Jose Scale. After a contest involving the time and energy of some of the most eminent scientists in the country and the expenditure of thousands of dollars the San Jose Scale remains the most formidable menace to general horticulture in this country. The most that has been done is to check to some extent its ravages. The greatest menace to fruit culture in Kent county is undoubtedly the Scale.

Prof. Marlatt, of the Department at Washington, is well known in Kent from his connection with the battle against the Pear Tree Psyela, the scale and other fruit enemies some years ago. It will no doubt be gratifying to know that a new destroyer of the dreaded scale has been found and that the government has already made preparations to fight the scale with the new destroyer.

The United States Department of Agriculture is preparing to fight the ravages of the San Jose Scale throughout the country with its natural enemy, the lady bug, brought from the interior of China. Assistant Botanist Marlatt has just returned from the orient, where he sought the orignal home of the dreaded scale. Far in the interior of the latter country, where European plants had not penetrated, he found the scales and also the lady bugs which kept the scales in subjection and permitted the native plants to flourish. Mr. Marlatt started home with a good supply of these lady bugs, but only sixteen survived on arrival in this country and fourteen of these subsequently died. The two remaining, however, were carefully nursed by the government with a view to fighting the scale in the same manner as in China. There now are fifty of them requiring the constant gathering of scales from the department grounds for food. While not expecting the scale to be exterminated from this country, experts are planning to attack them with the increasing breeding of their natural enemies.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY E. OREM.

Mrs. Mary E. Orem, after a lingering illness of two months, died between the hours of three and four o'clock yesterday morning at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Charles S. Smith. The deceased was the widow of the late James H. Orem, of Baltimore city, and was in her 69th year. She leaves four sons and one daughter, as follows: John, James, Perry and George Orem, and Mrs. Charles S. Smith. All that a daughter's devotion, and medical skill could do was lavished upon the patient during her long and trying illness. The remains will be taken to Baltimore by way of Tolchester, this afternoon for interment. Undertaker Dodd will have charge of the funeral arrangements.
