BUG DEATH.

Be sure to use Bug Death on all plants, the great exterminator of insects, for house and garden plants and small shrubs. While it is non-poisonous to man is sure death to insects. The farmers who used Bug Death freely on potatoes last season had a large crop of good smooth potatoes, which actually brought higher prices in the market. It does not injure the potatoes or vine in the least.

Leather Belting and Lace Belting in large quantities. Hoes, Shovels, Spades and Hay Forks, and in fact, all goods suitable or used on the farm.

MR. W. C. ROLPH, DEAR SIR: The Self-Feeding Huber Separator with Blower that I bought of you last year gave me perfect satisfaction. It threshes very rapidly and does the work in perfect order. The Huber Self-feeder, I think, is superior to hand feeding at all times. I like the way the Blower Fan is driven better than any I have ever seen. Wishing you success in the business this year, I am

THE HUBER MFG. CO., HARRISBURG, PA.:
GENTLEMEN: The Huber rig we got from you last season is a beauty. The engine the most economical in fuel, powerful, on road and belt, and the easier to operate than any other engine we have ever seen.
The thresher will thresh faster, save more grain, than any other, while the self-feeder handled the heavy straw of last season faster and better than hand feeding.
We can truthfully and cheerfully say that the Huber is the finest rig ever sold on the Eastern Shore.
Yours very truly,

Miss Carolina M. Anthony, Who Was a Nurse in Cuba, Visits Elkhon Relatives—Three Letters Showing a History of Her Family.

Miss Carolina M. Anthony, who was a nurse in Cuba during the Spanish-American War, spent part of the past week with relatives in Elkhon. Miss Anthony remained in Cuba for some time after the close of the War, during which time she contracted yellow fever. She expects to return to the Island Republic in the near future. Miss Anthony was a daughter of Wayne Anthony, and a grand-daughter of John Anthony, who was a Revolutionary soldier, and fought at the Battle of Wayne. She was raised in Kent county and recently paid a visit to friends near Georgetown. She has in her possession three interesting letters, from Captain Andrew Woodall, Philip F. Rasin, and Cornelius J. Scott, which prove that she is a descendant from a Revolutionary soldier. Miss Anthony had a copy made of the letters above referred to, by Magistrate Philip M. Groves, who will send them to Washington D. C., in order that her cousin, Mrs. Harry T. Alexander, may be elected a member of the Society of Daughters of the Revolution. Miss Anthony is already a member of the society. The letters read as follows:—
Georgetown, Md., May 6th, 1899.
Miss Carolina M. Anthony,
Dear Miss:—

Your favor duly received. In reply am pleased to say that I was acquainted with your father, Wayne Anthony, and in my boyhood knew your grand-father, John Anthony, and remember of his death and burial on his land one mile from Georgetown, on the Susquehanna river. He at the time of his death owned considerable real estate between this town and Galena, including a mill property. Since his death his heirs have disposed of all his property, and which is now owned by several parties, one of them being a member of your family. She is Mrs. Ross.

Your grand-father was known to all his acquaintances as a Revolutionary soldier and fought under Anthony Wayne, and your father, as you know, was named Wayne Anthony after him. Your grand-father's remains yet lie where buried, as I do not remember of them being removed. His death occurred about 1836. The property above referred to is on the east side of the road, about one and one-half miles between Georgetown and Galena, present owners being Mrs. Prettyman, Miss Jervis, Mrs. Ross, Mr. Scott, Mr. Todd, Mr. Hyson, Mr. Walls, Mr. Horsey, Mr. Griffith and Mr. Burns. The latter is the owner of the site of John Anthony's house and burial place. My age is 81 years April 24th, 1900. Yours Respectfully,
A. WOODALL.

A letter from Philip F. Rasin, reads as follows:—
I, Philip F. Rasin, of Kent county, State of Maryland, born and raised therein, and now in my seventy-fourth year, state that I knew John Anthony, who lived at his mill, near Georgetown Cross Roads (now Galena) in this county and State of Maryland, who was reputed to have been a Revolutionary soldier, and I was present at his funeral about the year of eighteen hundred and thirty-five or eight hundred and thirty-six which occurred at his late residence above named, and I witnessed his burial with the honors of war, it having been acknowledged by all the neighborhood that he had been a Revolutionary soldier with an honorable discharge. Given under my hand, signed,
PHILIP F. RASIN.

Galena, Md., October 3rd, 1898.
A lady called at my house last night and represented that her name was Caroline Anthony, a daughter of the late Wayne Anthony, with whom I was well acquainted, and upon intimate terms. She said that she was a trained nurse, and had been with the sick, with the yellow fever, on the Island of Cuba, and expected to return in a short time and take her place in the hospital. But, before returning she wished to learn some history of her family on her father's side, and applied to me for information. I having lived longer in this village than any other living person; and lived longer in this neighborhood than any other person, except Capt. Andrew Woodall, who has resided in Georgetown, about one and one half miles from this village.

Wayne Anthony was the son of John Anthony, a reputed soldier of the Revolutionary War and was with Washington at Yorktown and saw Lord Cornwallis surrender his sword to the commander-in-chief. Although I have of late seen it stated, that Washington would not receive the sword, but appointed another to do so, but I believe that John Anthony was right, when he said it was Washington whom he saw receive the sword. The Anthonies always had four peculiar characteristics, for which they were noted—high temper, fearlessness, truthfulness and honesty. From my earliest recollections, John Anthony owned and ran the grist mill, between Galena and Georgetown to the time of his death, which was in the summer of 1835 or 1836. I have been told that the ownership dated back to the last century. He also owned a tract of land of about two hundred acres, purchased by George W. Wilson, within my recollection, adjoining the mill property, and on the eastern side of the public road from Georgetown to Galena, connecting them. I was not present at his burial, being absent from home, but know where his remains lie, and know that he was buried with the honors of war. He was a man of considerable means. He was reputed to be about eighty years of age at the time of his death. John Anthony was a Spaniard by birth, but was naturalized, or adopted this country as his home, and married here. He had five children, Wayne, named after "Mad" Anthony Wayne, who married Miss Brown and left children; he married a second wife and left children, Benjamin arrived at his majority but died single. Fannie married Benjamin Jervis and left one child; I think I have an indistinct recollection of another daughter, named Caroline, whom I think married a Kenton. I can't speak positive of the last named. My father was his family physician for many years, and I have often heard him relate the trials and hardships as told by Mr. Anthony, during his experience as a Revolutionary soldier. I knew the old gentleman very well, and he was
