The crowning joy of womanhood is motherhood and the crowning joy of motherhood is to have healthy children. But there can be no joy in motherhood without health, and without health for the mother there can be no health for the child.

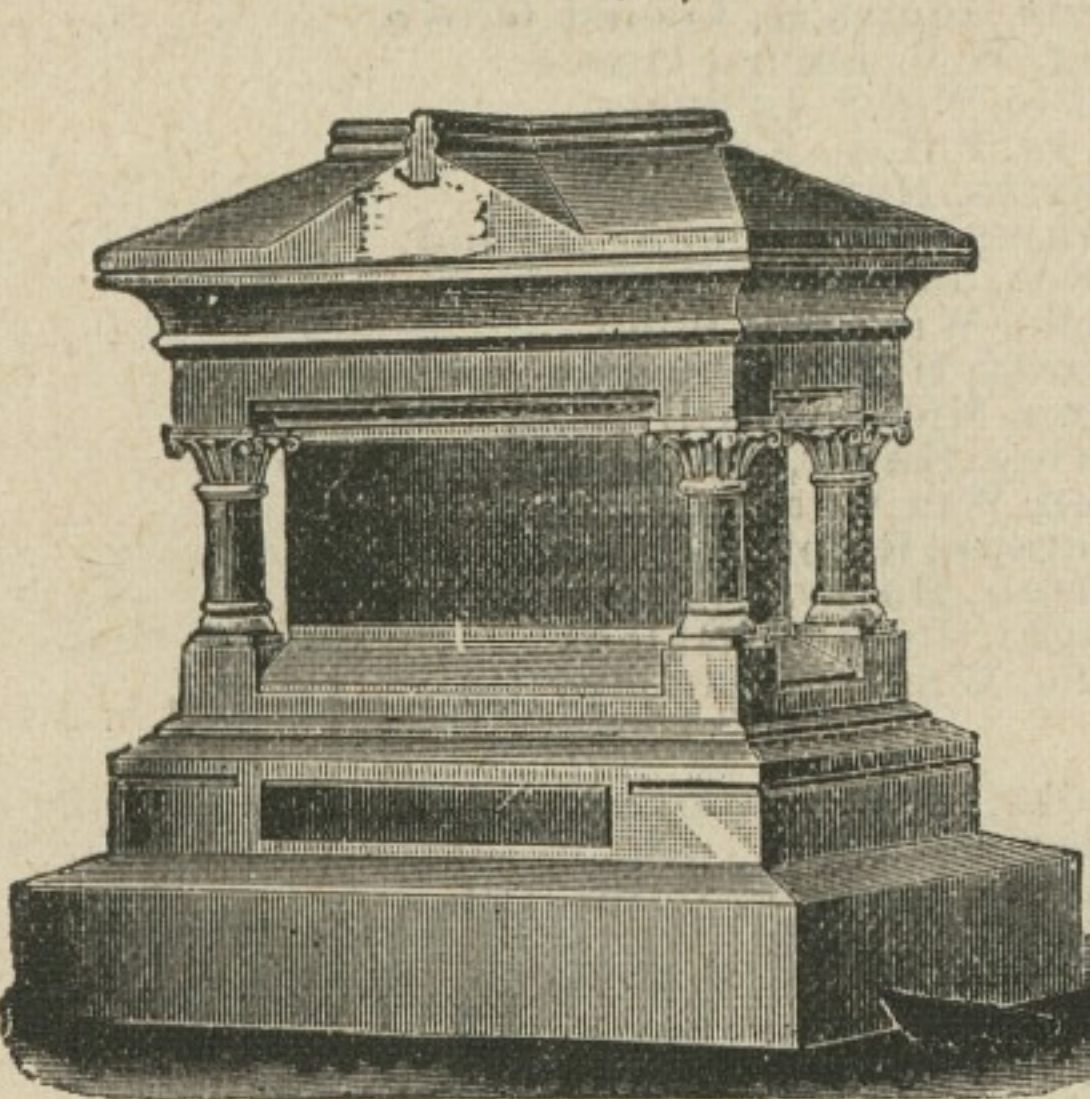

It is of vital importance for women to know that the health of mother and child is in general entirely within woman's control. The thousands of women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when expecting motherhood, have testified that it made them healthy and happy in the days of waiting, made the baby's advent practically painless, and gave them health to give their children.

Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm (Rusburg Center), Essexburg, Vt. writes: "During the past year I found myself expecting maternity, and in rapidly failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. Took twelve bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages, is given away. Send 21 one-cent stamps for expense of mailing only, for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for the volume bound in cloth. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SOME COAL JOKES.

Samples of Wit Going About in the Face of Winter.

Where They Put You Off.

[From the Buffalo Times]
Very much like the man who joked while on his death bed, the humorists of the country, in the face of a biting winter and an almost certain shortage of coal, are making puns on the black diamond famine that is now existing in the country.

Chouffet, the Main street jeweler, has for a week or so displayed in his show window a rich cut-glass dish filled to the brim with coal and bearing a placard announcing that the contents are "Anthracite nuggets, very scarce and advancing in price daily." Below this is the significant little couplet:

ONCE A FUEL,
NOW A JEWEL.

Another merchant, a furniture dealer, has a window full of kitchen chairs marked 78 cents. In the centre of the display is this card:

If you don't need a kitchen chair, buy a few anyway and chop them up for fuel. They are cheaper than coal.

Billville Burns Wood.

[From the Atlanta Constitution.]
Don't keer what's the price of coal. We burn wood in Billville! Never freeze us to the soul. We burn wood in Billville! Wood jest blockin' all the ways. All the backlogs in a blaze. Now you halleluia raise— We burn wood in Billville!

'Taters in the ashes white. We burn wood in Billville! Red sparks twinklin' terough the night. We burn wood in Billville! Take your place Miss Nancy-Lou. There's the fiddler warmin', too. Lemme have this dance with you— We burn wood in Billville!

These Two Are Tired.

[From the Detroit News.]
"Billy" Dobson, the Shelby street joker of Detroit, hangs this sign in front of his news and tobacco emporium:

ONE LUMP OF COAL WITH EVERY 5 CENT PURCHASE.

Inside, in a glass show case "Billy" has a lump of coal labeled:

COAL,
VERY RARE.
FORMERLY USED AS FUEL.

Wanted it Straight.

[From the Chicago Record-Herald.]
"I see," he said, "that coal has gone up some more."
"Has it?" she replied.
"And they're raising rents," he continued.
"Well," she exclaimed, firing up, "if you wish to have our engagement broken off say so. I always hate to have people beat around the bush in a case of this kind."

Something Worth Having.

[From the Philadelphia Record.]
First Train Robber—Shall we hold up the express? There's a mail car and three Pullmans attached to her.
Second Train Robber—No, let her go. There's a coal train coming behind.

His Limit.

[From the Washington Star.]
He speaks to her in burning words
That leaped from a consuming soul,
But after they were wed, alas!
He can't produce a ton of coal!

Sure He's Rich.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.]
"Is he rich, you ask?" said the man who knows to the one who wanted to learn.
"Is he rich? Great Scott!! I should say he is! Why he's got coal to burn!"

Perverse Woman.

[From the New York Times.]
Lot, upon being notified that his wife had been turned to salt, was observed to shed tears. "Why in blazes couldn't she have been turned to cca?" he muttered, angrily. But this vision of a sudden fortune having been speedily shattered, he resumed his weary march onward.

See Your Doctor.

[From Judge.]
"I tell you," said the stranger, "the coal problem has grown to be a very serious one in our town."
"It is everywhere," said the native.
"I know; but in our town you can't get an ounce of it unless you have a prescription."

Appropriate.

[From the New York Sun.]
Visitor—And what are you going to name the precious twins?
Fond Parent—Anthracite and Bituminous.

"What did you get out of your garden this year?"
"Not a day went by that I didn't have one of my neighbor's chickens for dinner."—Town Topics.

"What is the best thing in oil you have today?" asked the occasional patron.
"Well," said the dealer in art goods, "here's an excellent portrait of Mr. Rockefeller."—Chicago Tribune.

ONCE IS ENOUGH TO SEE

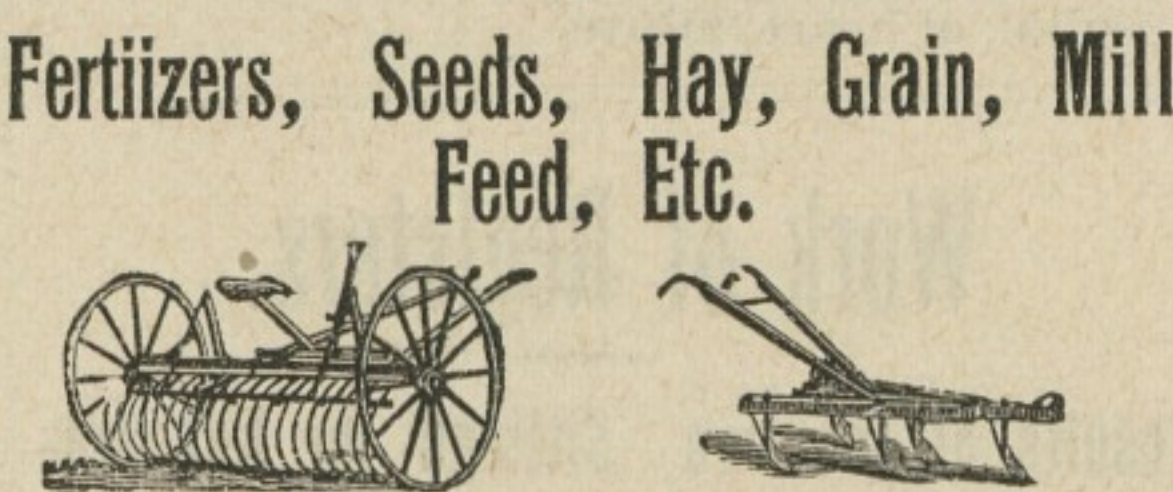

Gustave Doré's portrait of Dante is worth seeing—once. But once is enough. Some such look you notice on the faces of those who have suffered, and still suffer, much physical pain; people subject to rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, periodic headache, lumbago, or pain from some old lesion. This painful habit puts its marks on them, as the custom of handling ropes cracks a sailor's fingers; or as too much riding of a bicycle stamps a worried expression on certain faces. No wonder people said of the Italian poet as he passed along, "There goes

THE MAN WHO NEVER LAUGHS."

The complaints above named all yield to the action of Benson's Porous Plasters, and quickly too. Not only those, but colds and coughs, kidney and liver affections, all congestions and muscular strains, diseases of the chest, asthma and all ailments which are open to external treatment. It is frequently said that Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master. It cures when others are not even able to relieve. For thirty years the leading external remedy. The old-style plasters, as well as salves, liniments, oils, etc., have little or no efficacy as compared with it. Use it. Trust it. Keep it in the house. Ask for Benson's Plaster; take no other. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each. Seabury & Johnson, Mfg. Chemists, N. Y.
