NEWS FROM LYNCH'S.

Prof. Spicer, of Dorchester county, who married Miss Alice R. A. Rouse, of this county, has been ill of rheumatic fever for the last ten weeks, and is still a great sufferer and very weak. He and his most estimable wife have much sympathy from their many friends in Kent, where Mrs. Spicer is well known.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Noll, of Philadelphia, who were married Nov. 19, and took a trip through the entire southland, have returned and will be at home to their friends today, New Year's, and will be given one of the handsomest receptions this evening at the home of the bride's sister, Miss Rebecca Laulane, 2900 North Broad street, Philadelphia.

Among those invited from this county are the bride's relatives, Mrs. Sallie Rouse Jones and daughters, Misses Clara and Daisy Jones. The bride is a beautiful blonde, and resembles very much her cousin, Mrs. Dr. Glasscock, of Talbot.

Mr. Frank R. Rouse, of Worton Station, spent Sunday last at his aunt's, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Lynch's. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and children were delighted to see him, and gave him a hearty welcome.

The children gave quite a creditable entertainment at our new church here on Tuesday evening last. The speaking and singing by the children were very fine, and the choir excelled themselves, led by Mrs. Etta Akers, assisted by Mrs. Laura Copper, Misses Susie Mann, Clara and Daisy Jones, Lottie Copper, Mrs. Morris, Sarah Copper, Mr. Will Edwards and Willie Hodgson. All sang well those beautiful Xmas songs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. C. Biddle, of Lynch's, gave a handsome birthday party to their only daughter, Miss Bertha, on Friday evening, December 26, her eighteenth year. Miss Bertha is quite a popular girl, and had many young friends to call and leave presents on this delightful occasion. After many hours of games and fun, refreshments were served, and all returned home wishing the hostess many returns of happy birthdays.

"The nicest and pleasantest medicine I have used for indigestion and constipation is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says Melvyn F. Craig, of Middlegrove, N. Y. "They work like a charm and do not gripe or have any unpleasant effect." For sale by M. A. Toulson, druggist, Chestertown Md.

From the Secretary of the Auxiliary.

All of the women's clubs in Maryland have just received invitations from the Women's Auxiliary of the Maryland Civil Service Reform Association to hear distinguished speakers at a public meeting to be held on Monday evening, January 5, in Baltimore. President Daniel C. Gilman, of the Carnegie Institution, will preside at the meeting and among those who will make addresses are the Hon. William Dudley Foulke and Hon. James R. Garfield, who is the son of former President Garfield and a member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Reform Association was founded about six months ago by several prominent ladies of Baltimore upon the model of very efficient organizations of the same sort in Boston and New York. The Massachusetts Auxiliary has extended itself generally over the State of Massachusetts and the meeting of next Monday will be the first formal step in a similar extension here.

"The Maryland Auxiliary," says Mrs. George H. Williams, its secretary, "is an entirely Democratic body of very fairly representative women of Baltimore. We believe that public office should be bestowed for merit, that public service requires qualifications, and that it carries responsibilities with it. All that we can do to advance these principles we are doing. One of the most powerful means at the command of the women is their influence on the men. By interesting themselves in such matters they may do a great deal to stimulate their brothers and husbands to the same interests. In the present movement to extend our organization throughout the counties we have corresponded with every woman's club of which we know. We cannot reach all by special note, but we hope that every woman of the State who is interested at all in our principles, whether she be connected or not with any of the clubs to which we have written, will come to Baltimore and help us advance the movement."

Mrs. William T. Wilson is the president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, vice president, and Mrs. William DeFord, treasurer. The address of the secretary is 805 Cathedral street.
