OSTRICH LOGIC.

"When I can't see danger there is no danger." That's the logic of the ostrich which hides its head and exposes its body to the hunter. There are not a few people who seem to have gone to the ostrich to learn logic. The most dangerous enemies of humanity are the enemies which can't be seen, the disease breeding microbes which infect the blood. It is harder to get the microbes out the blood than to keep it out, but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does both, by purifying the blood and then keeping it pure.

If there are eruptions on the skin, boils, pimples, sores or other signs of impure blood, use Doctor Pierce's Golden
 Medical Discovery, which will purify the blood and cure the eruptions which come from it.

"My blood was all out of order, and I had to go to the doctor," writes Mrs. James R. Moss, New London, Stanley Co., N.C. "He gave me medicine which helped me for a short time. In the winter of '99 I got worse than I had ever been.
 My tonsils were enlarged and my neck swollen all out of shape; my throat was sore and I could not cure it. My husband went for the doctor, but he gave me no encouragement. He helped me a little, but it did not last long. He attended me for twelve months, when I heard of a lady whose condition was like mine, who was taking your medicine and was getting well. So I secured some of the medicine and began taking it.
 In one week I was able to do my cooking. When I began taking the medicine I could sit up only a few minutes at a time. My throat was so sore at times I could not even swallow sweet milk, and my tonsils were full of little eating sores. My left side was swollen out of shape and I could hardly get my breath. The doctor said I would not get well, but three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, three bottles of his 'Pellets,' three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and the use of salt water did the work and cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

BUYING A WIFE.

Englishman's Observation at a Marriage Fair in Tunis.

A famous marriage fair, or mart, is held yearly at the village of Menguelt, in the well-known oasis on the Wady Jemala, in the Kabyle district of Tunis.
 It takes place at the end of the harvest season, when the ingathering of the crops is finished, the produce disposed of and the tribesmen of the country, flushed with money, as money is reckoned thereabouts, think of adding a wife to the other purchases they always make for the ensuing 12 months.

Being within 80 miles of the Ait at the time of the market, I rode over to see how such a show was organized and managed, says a writer in the London Chronicle. In the open space the damsels were ranged ready for inspection in the marriage market. There they face the visitor, separate from the noisy part of the fair, ranged in four separate rows and numbering, I should say, between 600 and 700. Each damsel is seated on a small, brightly-colored carpet spread upon the ground, and each has a negafa—a sort of nurse, attendant and duenna combined—seated beside her.
 Conspicuously displayed in front of each, moreover, is a big roll of woven stuff. This roll of material plays an important part in the marriage negotiations, and is always worn by the girl herself. The young women are attired in the most expensive and richest garments the parents and relatives can secure.

They are painted, patched and powdered, as is the invariable custom of Kabyle belles, and wear sufficient rings, bangles, bracelets, chains and brooches to stock a small-sized jeweler's shop.
 These jewels are not by any means always the property of the girl or her friends. In fact, they are mostly borrowed or hired for the occasion. As there is a good deal of rivalry among the different deheras and kebuls in regard to the appearance of their damsels in the marriage market, there is no difficulty in getting on loan as much ornament of the kind as the girl can carry on her person, especially if she is at all good looking. It is not easy for a stranger to decide upon the beauty of a Berber maid, for she tattoos the face as well as paints it.

How are sale and purchase effected?
 In the simplest way imaginable. The would-be buyer has only to walk up to the carpet upon which the girl he wishes to own is seated, touch with his finger the roll of woven stuff in front of her and ask the price. If the young woman, on looking over the inquiring tribesman, is satisfied with him, she names a very low figure, the small sum of 10 pieces, which is agreed upon among the several clans as the equivalent of acceptance.

If not, she merely quotes a high price, something up in the hundreds, and it is then understood that the offer is respectfully declined and a deal is not likely to be effected. The actual money price to be paid for a girl depends upon the standing of her family and the kebul to which they belong. It is fixed, moreover, by immemorial usage, so that every young man knows pretty well what he will have to pay for his wife. Hence only those who have the requisite means can venture to make an offer for any lot on view.

It should not, however, be supposed that these young Berber beauties are by any means prepared to yield themselves to the first comer who can afford to pay the recognized equivalent to the parents.
 Kabyle women are anything but the docile and obedient drudges many Western readers imagine. They enjoy a good deal more freedom in many respects, than a European wife in a like rank of life. They unquestionably rule the domestic roost, and know how to use the wooden clogs, the kabkab with convincing effect upon the bare pates of their spouses.

"A sight of the American flag fills me with the most serious reflections," said the patriot.
 "I have been reflecting seriously on the flag question myself," answered the cold-blooded and unworthy person.
 "You see the flag floating wherever you go."

"It is a fact of deep significance."
 "I should say so. Just think of the money a man could make by establishing a flag trust."—Washington Star.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.
 Cured by one Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N.
 Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu."
