THE CARE OF THE REFRIGERATOR. The refrigerator is one of the important household appliances for which the chateleine must hold herself directly responsible. Servants are prone to be phenomenally careless in this respect, and a refrigerator in bad condition is a menace to health. The position of the refrigerator is important. It should not be kept in the cellar or other damp location, but should always be placed where it can be well lighted and drained. Never allow the drain pipe to connect with the sewer. A new refrigerator should be allowed to stand from twelve to twenty-four hours after the ice chamber is filled before any article of food is placed in it.

In up to date houses there are separate refrigerators for milk and butter and meat, with still another compartment for fruit and vegetables. The vegetable and milk compartments are lined as well as shelved with heavy glass. Where one has no separated and quarantined divisions neither fish, cheese, cabbage, onions nor bananas should be kept in the general refrigerator. Their flavor will not only effect the other food but will render the butter, milk and any gelatinous preparations absolutely unfit for use. When artificial ice is used care must be taken not to let fish come in contact with it, as the ammonia used in the freezing affects the fish. Meat should never be laid directly on the ice, natural or artificial, as it extracts all the good meat juices.

Ice should always be washed and laid carefully in the ice box, not thrown in. Most housekeepers contend from their own experience that ice wrapped in a thick coating of newspapers lasts longer than when left uncovered, but the manufacturers say it should not be wrapped in anything, as that prevents the free circulation of cold air. The inference is plain. If the saving in the ice bill is the main object to be achieved, wrap the ice. If, as in extremely hot weather, there is danger of spoiling, uncover. One woman thinks she has simplified matters by covering the outside and top of her ice box with a heavy blanket lined with newspapers.

In getting ice it is a matter of economy to put in as large a piece as possible at first, in order that the refrigerator may become thoroughly cooled, then keep full or nearly so, as a small quantity of ice will melt much faster. In a small icebox, twenty-five pounds put in three times a week will last better than a smaller piece put in daily. In taking ice from the refrigerator for table use no more should be picked off than is needed on account of its melting so much more rapidly. Covers and doors should always be kept tightly closed. Food must never be placed in the refrigerator until thoroughly cooled, as it occasions moisture. Neither should food be kept in the refrigerator without ice and with cover and door closed. Chemicals of any kind must be kept out of the icebox and all hooks should be heavily tuned. Once a week is often enough to wash the refrigerator, if ordinary care is given to the articles stored in it. Take everything from the interior, put the shelves in a large dishpan and wash in hot soap suds in which a pinch of soda has been dissolved. Rinse with cold water, wipe perfectly dry and put out doors in the sun to dry for an hour. Wash the sides of the refrigerator in the same way, using a flexible wire for the drain pipe and skewers for the corners and grooves. Also pour warm water in the waste pipe to clear the slime that accumulates from the ice.

HOW SHE ENJOYED IT. Miss George, just returned from England, tells of a great blow to her patriotic pride. She was invited to a dinner by Lady— at a magnificent mansion in Kensington and was treated after the dinner to some rare singing by a celebrated vocalist. On the reranda afterward the hostess brought two young debutantes up to our well-known actress and introduced them. "I'm sure you will like each other, for they are Americans, too, Miss George," said the titled lady, as if that settled the question of the mutual esteem of the actress and the debutantes.

Miss George, wishing to be cordial, greeted them pleasantly and remarked, with the intention that the hostess, as well as the girls should hear her: "Did you not enjoy the beautiful singing in the dining hall? And the acoustics were perfect, were they not?" "Yes," said one of her fellow-Americans with enthusiasm, "those acoustics were the best I ever ate."
