LOVE
Often leads to poverty. No real woman ever sold her heart for the luxuries of life. But many a woman who has gladly faced poverty for the man she loved, may well doubt her wisdom when pain becomes the mate of poverty. If she were rich, she thinks, she could find a way of cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is within the reach of every one. It lifts the burden of pain which weighs down those who suffer from womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.
"You have my heartfelt thanks for your kind advice to me," writes Mrs. Geo. Fletcher, of 107 Victoria Avenue, Galt, Ontario. "I was troubled with catarrh of uterus for over a year. The doctors said I would have to go through an operation, but I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery, also his 'Lotion Tablets' and Antiseptic and Healing Suppositories. Now I am completely cured, after using six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicines. I am glad to say his medicine has made me a new woman."
Weak and sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held strictly private and secretly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative.

A GROWING INTEREST.

Poultry growing of all kinds is rapidly on the increase. Not only do governments look with hope upon this industry to add to the wealth and betterment of their people, but they see in it a source of employment for thousands who crowd other pathways of gaining a living. People are gradually learning that where equal attention is given to poultry to that bestowed on dairying, more can be made from poultry, dollar for dollar invested, than from the cows. Neither will give profitable returns if neglected or poorly cared for. Both are valuable to the farm, and the profit from each comes from the full winter production, and when the products sell the highest; and this comes to those who keep good quality of stock, and who give this stock proper care.

The keeping of fowls has gradually become a branch of farming. The hen is now being cultivated as a thing of value—as should be—rather than a "necessary evil." Reports from this State, as well as others, show conclusively that hens kept for egg-producing for market can and do produce over $2 per hen; in some cases, $2.48 to $2.58 per hen has been gained with flocks of 300 to 500. This is unusually good work; but that which has been done can be done continually if those who can will give attention to the work; but such results only come from the very best management.
We hope to see poultry raising become more generally popular. One thing in favor of poultry farming is the fact that the care of fowls does not demand the same continuous hard work, nor is it necessary to begin so early and continue so late in their care and attention as it is in the case of cows. Under good organization one man can care for 600 to 800 hens; and this number, well managed, will return more profit than will come from as many cows as the same labor will care for.—Country Gentleman.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB REALLY LIVED.

Many people will be surprised to learn that Mary and her little lamb celebrated in verse, were realities. The original was Mary E. Sawyer, afterward Mrs. Columbus Tyler. She was borne and brought up near Worcester, Mass., where the lamb episode really happened. From the fleece sheared from her pet two pairs of stockings were knit.
One pair, treasured by the old lady until she was about eighty years old, was contributed by her ten years ago to a fund which was being raised for the preservation of the old South Church, Boston. The yarn of the stockings was raveled out, and small pieces were attached to cards being her autograph. From the sale of these cards the sum of $100 was realized.
The pet of Mrs. Tyler's childhood was the little newborn lamb, found almost dead, which she had carefully nursed back to life, sitting up all one night to care for it. Daily she combed its fleece, and tied the wool with bright ribbons. It became devotedly attached to her, and followed her about everywhere. One day her brother, "Nat" suggested that they take the lamb to school. It followed willingly enough, and Mary secreted it beneath her seat, a high, boarded-up, old-fashioned seat. It lay there very quietly, covered up with her shawl. By-and-by Mary had to leave her seat to recite. A moment later there was a clatter and a patter on the floor and the lamb came following after.

The teacher, a Miss Polly Kimball, who was afterward the mother of Mr. Loring, of Boston, did not reprimand Mary, but laughed heartily with all the pupils. Mary, very much mortified, led the lamb out of doors, and put it in a shed, where it remained until she went home at noon.
There happened to be visiting the school, that morning a young man—John Roulistone, the son of Mary's dancing master. He was greatly pleased at the incident, and the next day came again to the school house, bringing Mary a slip of paper containing three stanzas which he had composed. Two stanzas were afterward added by a Mrs. Townsend.
When she had grown to young womanhood Mary taught school at Fitchburg. After her marriage she held the position of matron of the McLean Insane Asylum at Mass., for thirty-five years.—Washington Times.

TALKING is like playing on the harp; there is as much in laying the hands on the strings to stop their vibrations as in twanging them to bring out their music. Holmes.
