BISHOP COLEMAN

And the Mission to be Held in Emmanuel Church, November 11th to 15th, Inclusive.

WHAT IS A MISSION?

Some may be saying in their hearts, "What mean you by this service. It is something new. What is a mission?" In trying to answer this question let me say, first, that this movement is in one sense new, while yet in another it is not so. It is new, for we have never yet had what we call a mission, in this place and the methods adopted are fresh, and so fitted to arouse inquiry and interest. It is not new, if by new is meant setting forth new doctrines. You will not be able to ask about new doctrines, for the truths which will be set before you will be the old truths of the gospel message--the one faith of Christ's Holy Church, into which all who have been baptized have been admitted, and it will be left for you to ask only, "Why are you adopting this new method of setting this truth forth? Tell us, what is a mission? Have I read your thoughts aright?"

As I understand it, then, in simple words--for the thoughts are simple truths--in this Mission, God is going to speak to you, and you, I trust, are going to speak to God. This is a solemn thought and it must make us all in earnest. If this day were to be your last, and you knew that before tomorrow's light you would be standing before the judgment seat of God, what would you expect to hear from Him? What would you have to say? But see, now He is going to speak to you through His minister, not as Judge, but as Saviour, and you are permitted to plead with Him, not as a criminal standing before the throne of your Judge, but as a son or daughter speaking to a loving father. It is a solemn thing to hear God's voice, and to come near to speak to the living God. So let us be earnest. Too often, alas! we have trifled with the solemn realities of God, of the soul, of sin, of death, of judgment, of Heaven and hell, of the everlasting issues of the life we are now leading. Let us be in earnest during the time of this mission. Let us come away from the world for a while, and in the quiet stillness of the church listen to what God has to say to us, and send up some strong, earnest, prayers, that He would help us to live higher, nobler lives in the future, than we have in the past. But perhaps you say, "God is always speaking to me. I may see Him in the works of His hands, the beauty of the world about me; He speaks to me in my reason and my conscience; I hear His voice in His Holy Word; Sunday after Sunday He calls me in the outpouring of His grace." Yes, this is all true. But do you not often neglect His voice? Does the beauty of nature make you praise Him when you rise from your beds? Do you obey your conscience? Do you read and meditate upon His Holy Word? Do you seek for His Holy Spirit by prayer? Do you never miss the summons of the Church bell on the Lord's day? Does the voice of conscience keep you from sinning often and repeatedly against Him, while His voice grows fainter and fainter, until at last you hardly hear it at all? Surely, though God speaks to us always, if we would hear, we need some stirring call to rouse us out of the slumber into which our soul has fallen, and this is that call--this mission. It is a call to repentance to hearken to the voice of God calling to you, to all prodigals, to all the sheep who have strayed from His fold. This mission is like Jonah calling to the people of Nineveh; it is like John the Baptist preaching in the wilderness of Judea; it is like Jesus Christ, going into one of the villages of Galilee, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God.

This mission will be conducted by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Coleman, the Bishop of Delaware. The services are free, most cordially free to all--to men, women and children. A list of these services are printed below. It is earnestly hoped that the men of our town will attend--at least the evening service at 8 o'clock. For these few days let them try to so arrange their affairs and business that they may be able to spend one hour in attendance upon these services. This is an affectionate and cordial invitation and I send it forth in hope that many will accept it.

HENRY B. MARTIN.

SIGHT SEEING IN ALASKA.

The Baltimore Sun of Wednesday contained a very interesting account of the travels of a party of Marylanders through the Alaskan regions. Among the party was Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ireland Elliott, who took this trip as a part of an extensive honeymoon tour. Many scenes of wonderful interest were past and novel experiences enjoyed. Among the curiosities found was the task of a walrus, upon which a very creditable aboriginal map of the Yukon and Nunivak Island had been artistically etched by an Eskimo native of that Island. What seemed to impress the tourists most was the vastness of the region known as Alaska and the almost entire absence of trees. It is said that the willow is the only tree of importance that will grow in that bleak climate. In the absence of the palatial hotel the party enjoyed the novelty of camp life, and several cuts were given showing Mr. and Mrs. Elliott enjoying the rough but nevertheless pleasant experiences of Camp "Corinne," named presumably in honor of Mrs. Elliott, who before marriage was Miss Corinne Vickers, daughter of Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., of Chestertown. The party of tourists had a most excellent opportunity to study the habits and mode of living of the strange inhabitants with whom they came in contact in the city of Nome. A glance at their surroundings confirmed the party in the belief that the inhabitants subsist almost exclusively upon canned provisions. There are quite a number of fine restaurants in the city where excellent meals are served. Maryland chickens and other delicacies were enjoyed. The trip was one of great benefit to the tourists and was a source of much knowledge concerning the people, climate and scenery of the great northwest.
