The Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., - - MAY 20, 1893.

THE following from the Baltimore Sun is highly appreciated as are also the kind words spoken of us by other exchanges:

The KENT NEWS, Chestertown, has just entered upon its fifty-fourth volume. The Messrs. Usilton, father and son, editors and proprietors, stand among the careful, painstaking, conscientious newspaper men of the State, who deserve the success which has crowned their efforts and who have the best wishes of the Sun.

LOCAL POLITICS.

As the warm days of summer advance candidates for political honors come forth and can be seen here and there feeling the pulse of the public. The Legislature next winter will have some very weighty questions before it, among which will be the new assessment bill, the oyster question, etc. It is therefore important that each county in the State send their ablest men to represent the people in that body.

The first district is claiming the right to name one of the candidates for the Legislature and it is quite likely that they will present the name of Dr. E. J. Clarke before the convention. Dr. Clarke was in Chestertown, Tuesday and announced himself as a candidate for the Legislature. He has on several occasions previous expressed his desire to go to the Legislature, but before the primaries came off withdrew from the contest. His candidacy seemed to meet with general favor in this district.

Sheriff E. J. Plummer and Sam'l Cooper, both of Worton, are making a warm fight for the Legislature, and each one feels confident of winning. We saw a prominent man from Worton Tuesday who said that Plummer would beat Cooper two to one, while another man expressed the opinion that Cooper would beat Plummer three to one. Thus the fight goes on. A "love-feast" was held at John Clayton's Wednesday night, at which many of Sheriff Plummer's friends were present. We also hear the name of Mr. John P. Nicholson mentioned in connection with the Legislature, but it is without his authority.

Captain James Willson was in town Tuesday and says he will go through the fifth without any opposition. The oystermen realize that they have much at stake and therefore demand a candidate from their number to represent them in the next Legislature.

We have also heard T. Romie Strong's name mentioned in this connection. A gentlemen from the fifth district Thursday said that Mr. Strong had publicly announced himself in the field.

The fight for the sheriffalty nomination seems to be narrowed down to the fourth and fifth districts. Messrs. A. I. Dugan and T. S. Dodd are making an active canvas throughout the county for the place, and each one feels confident of success. Messrs. Harry Francis and John Dickinson are mentioned as candidates for the nomination in the fifth district, but no authority is given for using the latter gentleman's name, nor for Mr. Wm. Ford's of the fourth district.

We hear the name of our friend ex-Sheriff Casey mentioned for the Republican nomination for sheriff. He is a hustler, but "Al," "Steve" or Harry could beat him, couldn't they?

Our neighbors in Queen Anne's have lots of candidates and the Observer states that the fight is well on. For clerk, A. J. Gadd, of the first; Finley and Godwin, second; Senator Turpin, third; Frank B. Legg, fourth; John Dodd, George Davidson, fifth; W. H. Cecil, sixth; John F. Godwin, Chas. W. Clements. For senatorial honors the candidates are Col. W. Scott Roberts, Dr. Robert M. Price, Robert J. Catlin. For legislative honors the avowed candidates are Dr. Reynolds, Col. Wm. H. Legg, John M. Aker, Olin Bryan, James E. Kirwin, S. S. Goodhand.

In Cecil John S. Wirt and Charles C. Crothers will lock horns and a bitter contest waged. The latter has strongly supported Mr. Wirt heretofore, and it is said has a very formidable following.

THE World's Fair is to be open on Sunday. So are the summer resorts.

"IT is my policy not to appoint any man, no matter how good a Democrat he is, who runs a liquor saloon." So says Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis.

CONGRESSMAN BRATTON, who was in Washington Thursday, said he would endorse State Senator Hepbron, of Kent, for U. S. Marshal. No other member of the delegation has as yet announced his preference.

THE Democratic Editor's Association, of Maryland, called on President Cleveland Monday and left for the World's Fair at 6 o'clock the same evening. The party numbered 30 including a number of ladies. They traveled via B. & O.

GEN. SETH, Commander of the Maryland oyster navy, sent his resignation to the Board of Public Works last Saturday to take effect June 30. Capt Tom Howard is spoken of as his successor. The appointment will be made next Wednesday.

THE murderers of Bowie, in Prince George's, have confessed. That is, Pinkney, says he killed Bowie and Barber knew of it and helped him put the body in the well. Whoever got a chance at him first was to kill him was the agreement between Pinkney and Barber. They killed him in order to prevent him presenting them for stealing. They will be hung June 30.

Turns Up Dead, Too.

SING SING, N. Y., May 16.—The decomposed body of murderer Thomas Pallister, who, with Frank Roehl escaped from Sing Sing on the stormy night of April 20, was found in the Hudson river, near here, Tuesday morning. It was picked up by two fishermen, Jack Binkle and Bob Smith, and taken to Sing Sing.

Both state detective Jackson and Principal-keeper Connaughton identified the body. A bunch of keys found in the clothes were identified by Mr. Connaughton as those taken from the guards by Pallister and Roehl at the time of their escape.

It is thought that Pallister and Roehl, fought in the boat, and during the struggle Roehl was shot by Pallister and the latter fell over the boat, which probably pitched about in the storm.

The body of Pallister was laid out for the inspection of the coroner. The prison physician examined the body and found a bullet hole under the left eye. There was also a revolver in the trousers pocket with all the chambers loaded. This changed the whole theory that a fight had taken place and the prison officials are convinced that the two men, finding their boat would surely be swamped, decided to die. Roehl, it is thought, shot Pallister and then killed himself.

A Frightful Discovery!

A special to the NEWS from Rock Hall yesterday says: Capt. George T. Sewell, of the bugeye "I. X. L." with a number of other gentlemen of this place, while on their way from Baltimore on Tuesday last, found a batteau bottom up off Bear creek in the Patapsco river! When righted it was found that three sails were hoisted and all the sheets made fast, proving at once that the boat had been capsized during the heavy wind of that day. A shoe, stocking and hat were found in the boat. The supposition is that the crew were drowned. The boat was brought over to Huntingfield creek and will be duly advertised.

Real Estate in the Market.

Wm. W. Beck, Esq., attorney, will offer for sale in Chestertown, Tuesday, June 13, all the real estate of the late Horatio Beck, consisting of the Broad Neck or Home farm, 'Hill Top" in Worton, and "Scott's" lot in Broad Neck.

Wm. W. Beck, Esq., trustee, will sell on Tuesday, June 13, in Chestertown, valuable property in Lankford. The improvements consist of four dwellings, a wheelwright and blacksmith shop and stables.

H. H. Barroll, Esq., trustee, will offer for sale in Chestertown, Tuesday, May 30, a house and lot in Sassafras.

Philip H. Tuck, Esq., will sell Saturday, June 10, the Redue farm in Quaker Neck.

H. W. Vickers, Esq., mortgagee, will offer for sale in Chestertown, June 13, that beautiful and valuable estate occupied by Mrs. Wickes, near town.

BADLY BURNED.—Richard Merriken, a student at Washington College, was badly burned about the hand and face Thursday afternoon. He was engaged in the laboratory performing a chemical experiment when an explosion of nitric acid occurred burning one of his hands very severely and also his forehead and nose. His wounds were at once attended to and he is now doing very well.

THE GRUBB WORM.—Many of our farmers are complaining of the grubb worm doing considerable damage to the corn. Mr. I. R. Leaverton had a beautiful field of corn and in a few days the worms had played havoc with it. The damage was so bad that he went to work and replanted the whole field. Corn is doing very well throughout the county, except in places where the cut and grubb worms are at work.

SALE OF FARMS.—George W. Ingram, of Middletown, has sold to Alexander Maxwell, the N. Burris farm of 310 acres, for $16,500; and to Aldey Clements, of Crumpton, the F. M. Gooding farm of 213 acres, for $12,000; to Frank Gooding, Mrs. Clements' farm of 351 acres, near Barkley, Queen Anne's county, for $7,000.

BOAT NEWS.—The Gratitude on her trip to Chestertown Wednesday broke one of her eccentric straps and did not reach town until 7.30 P. M. She was off Rock Hall buoy when the accident happened. The B. S. Ford came over Wednesday night and took the Gratitude's route the following morning. The disabled boat was able to reach Baltimore safely of herself and will be on the line again in time for the round trips.

The Emma A. Ford arrived at Chestertown Thursday after undergoing a thorough overhauling. Capt. P. S. McConnor was at the wheel.

The Baltimore Wrecking Company has raised the schoone Kat e L. Gerdes, which was sunk April 28 off mouth of Sassafras river by collision with a sunken wreck. The same wrecking company has started to raise the tug Dophlin, which was cut through by the ice and sunk last February near Sassafras river.

EXCELLENT QUARTERS.—The directors of the Kent County Savings Bank at their meeting Tuesday completed arrangements with Mr. W. H. Blakeney whereby they get possession of the entire building now occupied by him on June 1. After that date the entire of the building will be remodeled and a pretty front with folding doors and a large window will be put in. The by-laws of the new institution were adopted and the committee empowered to buy necessary safes. It is arranged to provide the bank with a thoroughly fire and burglar proof safe with vaults for money and other valuables, and a fire proof safe for the books.

A BIG INDUSTRY.—One of the largest industries in the lower district is George E. Leary & Sons large saw mill. The firm is now engaged in towing by tug large rafts of timber which have been cut the past winter. They have purchased of Judge Robinson, of Queen Anne's about twenty acres of wood land and have been busy clearing it of timber. From the Kent side Mr. Leary takes two pair mules, two horses a cook and five men, and he also employs a number of men on the Queen Anne's shore. These live in shanties constructed for temporary homes and a small village has been made by this firm. Soon the hum of machinery will be heard sawing this timber, into peach box stuff, etc.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—The Building Loan Association held their annual election of officers Monday night, and resulted in the election of Williard Melvin, president; Clinton W. Wroth, vice-president; Harry Rickey, secretary; James A. Shaw, treasurer; M. deK. Smith, counselor; directors, C. T. Westcott, S. F. Smith, J. W. Chapman, J. W. Lambert, Wm. B. Usilton. The association is in a flourishing condition and about fifty shares of the new May series were subscribed.

ACCIDENTS.—Wesley Cannan, a farmer living on the James Robinson farm, in Still Pond Neck, met with a singular and unfortunate accident on Monday morning. Mr. Cannan at an early hour, went into the field to drive his horses in from the pasture. He caught one of the horses, mounted without bridle or saddle and the animal started off in a canter around the other horses, when it stumbled and fell, breaking its neck, causing instant death. Mr. Cannan was thrown to the ground and his shoulder blade broken. He succeeded in reaching home, when medical aid was promptly summoned.

ROUND TRIPS.—The Emma A. Ford has been newly painted and looks as fresh as spring time. She will begin daily round trips Monday, May 29th leaving Chestertown at 7 A. M., and Baltimore at 2.45 P. M. The Gratitude will leave Centreville at 7 A. M., daily after the 29th, stopping at Rock Hall and leaving Baltimore returning at 2.30 P. M.

READY FOR SUMMER.—Mrs. John Shuster has one of the neatest ice cream parlors on the shore and the people appreciate the same by patronizing it. She is now prepared to serve festivals, picnics and families with ices of all kinds on short notice. Her pineapple cream and cake is hard to beat.

THE PEACH CROP!

The Outlook for a Fair Crop is Good. The Danger Point in June—What the Growers Think.

To Kent countains and to many others a failure of the peach crop means a failure in other directions. For several years we have failed to have a paying crop of fruit and there is more dependence in the outcome this year than ever before. Many have been able to struggle through the past with the hope of a good showing this year, and it is now gratifying indeed to report the outlook good for a fair crop. The recent weather has been very trying on fruit and some of it has succumbed to the cold northeast rains and biting frosts, but to-day is the 20th of May and the danger line may be said to have been safely passed. The next great trial will be in June when the "June drop" gets in its work. Having had quite a number of inquiries from canners, commission men and others interested in the crop we have interviewed a number of farmers this week as to the outlook for fruit.

C. S. Hurlock says the prospect in his section is for a fair crop of peaches. Duchess pears are hurt. He has an orchard of pears and the outer rows are full, while the inner ones are barren.

George Bell says he never saw the prospect for peaches so flattering as it is to-day. There seems to be a great many twin peaches and they are growing fast.

James S. Harris, of Still Pond Neck, says there is no doubt that the frost and rains have killed the early peaches but on other varieties there is now a nice sprinkling.

Wilbur Eliason, near Chestertown, says he is preparing for a crop of peaches. "There is no doubt," said he, "that some have been hurt and the evidences can be plainly seen now, while in others the hurt can not be seen before the middle of June when the June drop begins. I think the prospect is good for peaches."

John D. Carter, Worton, says there are now a plenty on the trees.

Joseph W. Usilton, Worton, says with the exception of injury to his early fruit he has a fine prospect for fruit.

Wm. Carter thinks his fruit is hurt quite badly.

Bartus Trew, Quaker Neck, thinks the fruit is generally killed, but will be able to see the effects later as the blossom is still on. Duchess pears are hurt certain. The effect of rain and frosts makes an orchard look as if a fire had swept through it. Mr. Trew says he has a colored preacher working for him who has a small peach orchard. The colored man has no peaches on his orchard and was being plagued by a gentleman who had some peaches. "Well," said he, "you have your reward in this world and I get mine in the other."

Samuel T. Newcomb was in three orchards one day this week and thinks the prospect poor. "There are plenty on the tree now, but the hull is still on them and they are not growing any. They must therefore fall off."

Wm. Hudson, near Fairlee, thinks he will have a plenty if they all stay on. He pulled a small twig Monday which had 4 or 5 on it, when one would have been a fair yield.

Wm. T. Nicholson has a fair crop at this time.

George W. Hatcherson—"I think there will be plenty of peaches. The early fruit and Beers Smock are hurt some, but it makes very little difference about early fruit and there is enough on other varieties to make up for the loss of the other."

Philip B. Wilmer, of Morgan Creek Neck, says he has plenty of peaches now.

John Brice—"I think we will have a fair crop of peaches which will pay far better than a full crop. The early varieties and Beers Smock are hurt, but it makes but little difference as far as the pecuniary benefit is concerned. I am preparing for a good crop of fruit and I think most of the growers are doing the same. The June drop two years ago was very small and I am hoping it will be as small this year."

Edgar H. Strong on Grey's Inn Creek, says he has plenty of peaches of all kinds. Indeed the trees will not be able to stand up under the load if they all stay there. The caps are all off and they are of fair size.

J. Biddle Hossinger—"I have plenty of peaches now. They are not hurt as badly as I at first thought. They may be hurt along the bay shore and exposed places.

J. K. Aldridge thinks his crop will be a fair one. One small limb was cut from his orchard with 23 peaches on it in a healthy condition.

Charles S. Hurlock, Melitota, says peaches are hurt some but plenty are left. Young trees have good crop, but on old trees the fruit is badly hurt.

T. J. Shallcross, Kennedyville, hears they are hurt some, but plenty left.

Wm. H. Stewart—"My early varieties and Beer Smock are hurt, but on other trees I have a plenty. Early peaches seldom pay."

John Bell—"I have plenty of all varieties, early and late, and from what I can learn the outlook is indeed promising."

Aldey Clements—"I think the prospect is good for a fair crop of peaches in my section of the county. I was in Denton last week and good reports came to me there. In the West I learn by letter there are plenty of peaches."

Abe Crawford—"Plenty with exception of Beers smock and early fruit."

Tylden Brice—"The prospect is good for a fair crop."

Robert Wickes on Eastern Neck Island says the outlook there is first class. The caps are falling off nicely leaving the peach large and healthy.

G. L. Maslin—"It is impossible for all the fruit that is on the trees to mature. Two-thirds must come off. The peaches are different from the usual size as they appear to be all one size and not three as heretofore. This is a good sign as heretofore the small ones all fell off. The farmers of Kent can certainly feel encouraged."

George W. Smith, of Queen Anne's, thinks the crop near Chester bridge will be a good one, although they may have been hurt some. The June drop will be the trying time.

Harry Willis—"I think there are at present too many peaches, but perhaps after the "June drop" is through with them there will be exactly enough.

George S. Biddle—"I think the recent frosts and rain have been God-sends to the farmer. Heretofore we have been sending all our early trash to market, which did not bring a fair price, only glutting the market and preventing good peaches selling at reasonable prices. The Lord seeing this state of affairs, has sent the frosts to kill this early trash and thereby helping us get good prices on good peaches. I think we will have a paying crop of peaches."

E. J. Watson thinks they are badly hurt by cold rains.

J. M. J. Byron says they are hurt to some extent but cannot tell at present.

Carroll Wilson says the ground under his trees is covered with fruit and so are the trees.

John Hadaway thinks the peaches are badly hurt as does Johnny Morris.

Ellwood Morris thinks there are plenty in his neighborhood.

S. Merritt says the orchards in his neighborhood have fair crops on them now.

E. N. Roland says the outlook for a crop of peaches is very good.

Wm. Ford—"I think we will have a good crop of fruit this year."

The Crop Elsewhere.

In Queen Anne's the indications point to a good yield.

J. C. Price, a prominent farmer of Cecil county, says the frosts have destroyed the peach crop. He reports that out of his orchard of 1,300 trees he cannot tell whether he will get enough for his own use. H. H. Hessey, the largest pear grower in the county, reports pears badly hurt. John W. Harriott at Chesapeake City says there is a good prospect for all kinds of fruit.

In Caroline the peaches are unhurt and none are falling, so says G. E. Inidort. F. C. Ramsdell says that one-half the crop is killed.

In Garrett county the fruit has been hurt to some extent by frosts, but the prospect is yet very good.

From Washington county we learn that peaches are doing well and the prospect is good for a large crop of Mountain peaches. Pears and cherries are badly damaged.

In Anne Arundel county there is a good prospect for large peach crop.

Sewell C. Biggs, of Middletown, anticipates a fair crop of fruit unless future frosts do serious damage. "The prospect here are extremely good," said Mr. Biggs, "and from a talk with Judge Cullen, of Sussex county a few days ago I learn the outlook there is equally good. In the neighborhood of Milford there is every promise of a large crop, but down the State further and nearer Georgetown the outlook is not so good. In the vicinity of Laurel the trees are full of young fruit in apparently perfect condition. I think there will be peaches for all this season."

DEATH'S DOINGS.

It Strikes Suddenly Into a Happy Home and Frees the Long Sufferer.

Again it becomes our sad duty to record the sudden death of a loving and popular young wife—MRS. MAMIE EMORY, wife of Mr. Edward W. Emory, who died at her pretty home near Quaker Neck Wharf, at 5 A. M. Wednesday. Mrs. Emory was in town Monday afternoon and greeted her friends in her usually courteous manner appearing as well as ever. About 2 o'clock Tuesday morning she was taken extremely ill and three physicians were sent for. They remained with her until the end came, the following morning as stated. She suffered a fall about a week ago, but it was thought that she had recovered from its effects; but it seems not. Dr. John L. Wethered arrived by train Tuesday and was in the consultation of the doctors.

Miss Mamie was married to Mr. Emory on June 30, 1892, and life was sweet indeed to the happy young couple. She was one of the most popular young ladies in the county and rarely met one without leaving him a friend of hers so sincere and friendly were her manners. Before marriage she was a Miss Whethered and was considered one of the belles of Kent society. She was a sister of Mrs. Hope H. Barroll.

The funeral took place yesterday morning, interment at Shrewsbury, Rev. S. C. Roberts officiating. The pall bearers were Wm. Janvier, John Janvier, L. W. Wickes, Dr. C. P. Gilpin, Spencer Comegys, Thos. R. Emory.

MISS EMMA PARKS, daughter of G. Washington Parks, died at the home of her father opposite Sacred Heart Church, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, aged 26 years. Emma has been quite sick since February but fought for life with an indomitable will and never retired to her bed until last Friday. It was then that she began to realize her condition and reluctantly gave up to the situation. She died peacefully, after undergoing a long siege of untold suffering, nursed by her sister, Mollie, and loving friends who left nothing undone to make her end calm and painless. Emma had a large circle of friends who will miss her from their number but will count her in the chain of loved ones gone before. The funeral took place from the home yesterday afternoon interment at Chester cemetery, Rev. D. L. Greenfield officiating. The bearers were Walter U. Lusby, Horace Reed, John G. Roland, Fred G. Usilton, T. D. Bowers, J. W. Chapman, Jr.

MR. FRIZBY DEAL, a well-known resident of the fifth district, died at the home of his son, John, near Edesville, Wednesday, aged about 71. He leaves two children, Mrs. James Newcomb and Mr. John Deal. The funeral took place from Wesley Chapel yesterday afternoon. He had been a sufferer for several months from a complication of diseases.

MRS. W. W. PIPPIN, a well known lady of Church Hill, died at her residence on Sunday night. Her death was very sudden and was due to heart disease. She was apparently in good health previous to her death. Mrs. Pippin was a Miss Shawn and a highly-esteemed lady.

J. HARVEY BRICE, the nine-year-old son of William A. and Katie D. Brice, died in Baltimore Saturday, 13. The little son has been a sufferer for two years. For some time he lived with his grandparents on Washington avenue and had only been home a few weeks when grim death claimed him. He was brought to Chestertown Monday and his body interred in Chester Cemetery Tuesday.

DO WE APPRECIATE OUR ROADS?—Mr. Carle Westcott, who started from Baltimore last week for Newberne, N. C., on a bicycle, was heard from Tuesday. He wrote from Fredericksburg, May 15, and stated that he never saw such bad roads! And it was indeed a rare thing to see a bridge over a stream. He just had to wade across the streams, and some of the mud holes were up to his waist! Many of the roads were so impassable that they had not been used for a year while in other places he had to ride around large stones that filled the roads for a long way. Carle says that the Rambler is the only machine that could stand such hard roads, as he expected every minute for his bike to break down. After remaining in Fredericksburg over night he expected to start for Richmond the following morning.

BADLY FRIGHTENED.—Helen Lewis, 10 years old was seriously frightened in Smyrna last Friday night and is still ill from the shock. Several children were returning from a child's birthday party at the home of Edward Thomas when, for mischief, Stewart Wilds, a boy 15 years of age, stood on a porch roof along the street where the children were to pass with a sheet wrapped around him to frighten them. As the result little Helen lay in spasms all night, while friends and the physician labored to keep life in the sufferer, with many fears that she would sink under the terrible shock. This same boy played a similar prank a year or so ago by which a woman was so bably frightened as to feel the effects for months after.
