The Kent News

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

SATURDAY, - - - MAY 12, 1894

SENATOR BRICE says a new tariff bill will be passed before June 1st! So may it be.

THE Baltimore Sun reports a remarkably low death rate for that city during April. That's one good thing for "the bad times" at least.

THE Wilson tariff bill has been so amendid by the Senate that its author would not recognize it. A conference committee of the two houses will have to settle the matter.

THE Maryland Democratic Editors Association will hold the annual meeting at Westminster Wednesday, May 16, when arrangements will be made for the annual excursion.

DR. SHAW, the new Collector of the Port of Baltimore, will enter upon his duties next Tuesday. Kent has about forty applicants for places under him. She may get two—possibly three. What a list of disappointed ones!

GOVERNOR BROWN.

Governor Frank Brown has started out on a new line. This time it is business rather than politics. He accepts the presidency of the Baltimore Traction Railway Co., in place of Mr. T. Edward Hamilton, resigned. He says the duties of the position will not conflict with the Gubernatorial office. This change in the Traction company has been in contemplation for several months, and all the directors of the road have agreed that Governor Brown is the right man to take Mr. Hambleton's place. He will make a most efficient railway executive no doubt as he seems possessed of splendid executive abilities, and "knows a thing or two" about almost everything!

THE PRESENT PHASE OF IT.

The latest phase of the tariff situation in Washington is the Senate bill changed by numerous amendments, and now said to be in shape to receive the votes of every Democratic Senator except possibly Senator Hill and Murphy, of New York, who bitterly oppose the income tax. Other prominent Democrats are opposed to such a tax but are willing to take it rather than defeat the bill. This new tariff bill, which some papers have dubbed the "Gorman bill," has been under fire all the week. Some say the bill is protective in its make up, and earnestly condemn the "compromise," as a disgraceful "make shift."

The Republicans are more bitter in denouncing it than even the Wilson bill. Isn't that strange? Senator Hoar the other day became so wrathy as to declare that the Democrats who voted for the new measure would violate their oaths! He is evidently very much afraid of getting hurt in some way. The able Senator Gray, of Delaware, thus replied to the Massachusetts Republican leader: "Every attempt to approach the monstrous aggregation of folly and greed known as the McKinley bill had been met by those who raised a clamor about the interests of the people and by the greed of corporations. All were arrayed in a solid phalanx against the most moderate attempt to correct existing abuses. We were now living under the McKinley law, which had at last reached its culminating climax, with organized idleness marching on the highways summoning the legislative power of the country to do its bidding. These bodies of men claiming that national legislation was the cure-all for all existing evils. The culmination of McKinleyism was characterized in this debate by the wild statements and assertions of the advocates of the system that had wrought so much ruin to the country."

Mr. Hoar—Why does the Senator put a protective duty on sugar?

Mr. Gray—"I do not propose to put a protective duty on sugar. Can the Senator not understand the difference between a protective and revenue duty?"

The new bill is a tariff for revenue, not for protection. Without a revenue tariff the country is bankrupt and the party responsible for blundering thus would be speedily damned. The Republicans are only anxious that the Democrats shall commit suicide.

Pass the bill! Anything is better than uncertainty. And we yet have enough faith in the Democratic Senators to believe that they are honestly and anxiously striving to do the best they can for the country and the Democratic party. But the long delay, and the wholesale changing of measures apparently satisfactory to the majority, is certainly trying to even those of the strongest faith. It now seems evident, however, that the uncertainty is soon to cease. The bill will be passed in a very few days—if the "talkers" can only be persuaded to shut up!

Hasten the New Tariff.

A Democratic mass meeting was held in the Lyceum theatre in Baltimore last Monday evening, to give expression to public sentiment on the importance of early Senatorial action on the tariff bill. The meeting was well attended by business men and others and speeches were made by Messrs. Daniel Miller, Skipwith Wilmer Philip D. Laird, Clarence Lane, M. J. Nolley, James Bond and W. P. Maulsby, Jr. The following letter from James A. Pearce, Esq., of Kent, and also one from J. E. Ellegood, Esq., of Wicomico, were read by the secretary:

CHESTERTOWN, May 4, 1894.—Mr. Daniel Miller, Chairman of Committee.—My Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge your letter of 3d instant, inviting me to be one of the speakers at the mass-meeting to be held in Baltimore on Monday evening next, to urge the prompt passage by the Senate of the tariff bill, and I regret that an imperative engagement in court on that day makes it impossible for me to comply.

The masses of the people throughout the country are calling for the redemption of the pledges of tariff reform by which the Democratic party at the last election secured their votes, and the recent utterance on this subject from Ohio, in the election of a Democratic Congressman by a majority of nearly 3,000 in a district which gave McKinley a handsome majority, gives significant emphasis to this demand.

Every consideration of party consistency and political honor demands that a Democratic Senate should cease to obstruct and hinder the work of a Democratic House of Representatives chosen by the people for that especial work, and the time has now come when that Democratic Senate should be called and held to a stern account for its long course of delay and obstruction.

While the Senate discusses schedules, the essence of tariff reform, the relief from bounty in the shape of taxation is obscured or forgotten, and, while the ears of Senators are alive to the selfish appeals of their constituents, they seem deaf to the cry of distress which rings through the country.

Longer delay and inaction can only justly be ascribed either to political imbecility or to absolutely surrender to the domination of special interests, regardless of the welfare of the country. Very truly yours,

JAMES A. PEARCE.

Archer Pardoned.

Ex-State Treasurer Stevenson Archer, who has been serving a term in the penitentiary for embezzlement of State funds, was pardoned by Governor Brown and released from prison last Wednesday. He was convicted in July 1890, and his term would have expired in September next. A free man he is again, but old and broken down in health, and saddened at the thought of meeting those he knew in better days. The Governor did right in releasing him.

HON. THOMAS J. KEATING.

The State board of Public Works did a very graceful thing last Wednesday in electing that veteran Democrat, able and upright lawyer, and altogether worthy citizen of one of the best Democratic counties in the State—Thomas J. Keating—as Tax Commissioner, to succeed Dr. Shaw. Mr. Keating was nominated by Comptroller Smith and seconded by Treasurer Jones. The Governor then declared Mr. Keating elected and did not vote himself. It was well known that Governor Brown wanted Comptroller Smith to accept the tax commissionership, but Mr. Smith concluded to support Mr. Keating, and Mr. Jones likewise, which settled the business. Mr. Keating was Comptroller for three terms, from 1878 to 1884. He will enter upon his duties as Tax Commissioner next Tuesday.

FEDERAL OFFICERS.

President Cleveland has sent to the Senate the nominations of Col. Buchanan Schley, of Hagerstown, to be United States District Marshall for Maryland, and Lloyd Wilkinson, of Pocomoke City, to be appraiser of merchandise at the port of Baltimore. Colonel Schley will succeed Wm. F. Airey and Mr. Wilkinson will take the place of Dr. J. H. Butler. This completes the list of federal offices in Maryland.

The choice of Mr. Schley for marshall, while entirely worthy, is a disappointment to Senator Hepbron's friends. He has himself been sanguine of success, and certainly seemed to have the very best reason for his hopes in assurances from those of supposed potent influence in such matters. Kent is deserving of some such good part of the feast, but it seems she must continue to suffer disappointment.

OUR CONGRESSMAN DEAD!

Though prepared for the sad news by the long illness of the deceased, we were pained when the wires flashed the news to us from Baltimore, that Congressman Brattan was dead! He died at 8 o'clock on Thursday morning at his home in Princes Anne, surrounded by the loved ones of his household and lamented by all who knew him.

Robert F. Brattan was popular throughout the State. He had held a number of public positions, always with honor to himself and all concerned. As President of the Maryland Senate during the session of 1890 he commanded the respect of all with whom he came in contact. His last and highest honor came to him unsought. He expressed a desire for the "short term" nomination for Congress, but said he positively did not want the full term. The convention however, which assembled at Easton on September 28th, '92, gave him the full term nomination. He accepted, made a brilliant canvas, was triumphantly elected, began and continued his Congressional career until the fearful disease which terminated his life struck and disabled him. A bright future seemed before him when he entered the halls of the national Congress and when he was stricken there was universal sorrow among the people of his District and State. He has lingered on the very verge of the grave for many months, and his final summons was no doubt a blessed release from his severe affliction. Mr. Brattan's death was from Bright's disease. He would have been 49 years old next Sunday, and leaves a wife and three children—two daughters and one son. He was a graduate of Washington College.

The funeral will take place in Princes Anne at 4 o'clock this Saturday afternoon.

THE Denton Journal makes an "appeal to the District" for the nomination of a Caroline man for Congress. It mentions Hon. J. F. Dawson and Hon. Henry R. Lewis as acceptable candidates. They are both good men and either would make a faithful representative.

All present indications point to Charles T. Westcott of Kent county as the Republican nominee if he will take the place. Mr. Westcott is president of the Chestertown National Bank, is the richest man in his county, and is popular not only at home, but wherever known. He has been prominent in politics for some years and is at present chairman of the Republican State Central Committee in Maryland. As such he has done more than any other man in recent years to harmonize differences in his party, although many differences still exist. The Republican leaders of all factions, however, are in favor of his nomination.—Balto. News.

Mr. Westcott's attention being called to the mention of his name in the above connection simply replied: "I am not a candidate;—have no ambition in that direction."

QUEEN ANNE'S COUNTY.

The Murder Trials and New Railroad Project.

The May term of the Circuit Court for Queen Anne's county convened on Monday last, with Judge Frederick Stump on the bench. P. H. Feddeman was made foreman of the grand jury. William Jackson, colored, who is charged with the Leager murder and who was taken to Baltimore to avoid being lynched, was taken to Centreville Sunday night and lodged in jail to await trial. Sheriff Chas. Bryan, and Constable T. Sudler Roberts brought him over on the police schooner Frolic, under command of Captain Stanley Bryan and reached here at 10.30 P. M. He was quietly taken to the jail and but few of the town knew the prisoner had been returned. A number of Kent witnesses in the case have been in Centreville this week, among them Amos B. Kelley our town officer, W. O. Dugan, Frank Jester and Capt. P. Brinsfield. The case was set for trial yesterday when a full bench was expected.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Queen Anne's Railroad was held in Centreville on Tuesday, and a permanent organization was effected. The following directors were elected: John S. Gittings, W. H. Bosley, B. Palmer Keating, Wilmer Emory, W. Bolner, W. G. McCormick and Frank Ehlen, Mr. W. H. Bosley, was made president; John S. Gittings, vice president; W. W. Busteed, secretary; Robert Smith, treasurer; and John B. and E. H. Brown attorneys. The outlook for the construction of the road is very favorable, a large amount of stock having been subscribed. The survey of a route has been completed from Queenstown to Chestertown, and a free right of way has been secured. It has not been determined when active operations will begin. It is reported that the road will be operated by steam rather than electricity.

Unfounded Charges.

The people of Still Pond and vicinity were thrown into a ferment last week over reported disclosures that were said to affect the character of Rev. J. D. Kemp, pastor of the M. E. Church in that place. The reverend gentleman, whose character has been irreproachable, was astounded at the reports as was the whole community, and an investigation was promptly demanded. Presiding Elder Smith convened a council of ministers at Smyrna on Thursday last. The matter was thoroughly investigated and the minister fully exonerated. This result is just what was expected by all acquainted with Mr. Kemp. He is one of the ablest ministers of the Wilmington conference and the purity of his christian character has never before been questioned.

Death Roll.

Mrs. Julia Kibler, wife of Mr. Chas. W. Kibler, and a daughter of Mr. T. J. Tucker died at her residence near Chester bridge, Sunday night after a long illness aged 38. A husband and three children survive her.

George H. Staats died very suddenly near Chester bridge yesterday morning. He and family have been living on Queen street until the first of May when they removed to Linwood, Pa. Mr. S. remained to till his small place on the river near the bridge intending to join his family in the fall. Yesterday morning after eating breakfast he started out to work, but was attacked with heart trouble and fell dead in his garden. He was found by his brother-in-law, Mr. Lovegrove, and carried to the house. Dr. Hines was summoned and pronounced his death to have been caused by apoplexy. He came to Chestertown from Millington where he lived twelve years. He leaves a widow and five children.

MISHAPS.—Miss Mollie Watts, of this town, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Clendaniel, near Middletown, had her right arm broken last Saturday, by being thrown out of a carriage, while driving with Mrs. C.

Mr J. W. Chapman in passing through his shops last Wednesday was struck in the eye with a red hot scale from the smith's anvil and has been suffering very much since therefrom.

President Reid, of Washington College, had his back badly sprained by being thrown to the ground from his dog cart while at the depot last Monday, but is now able to be out again.

Mr. W. B. Copper, cashier of the Second National bank, hurt his arm badly by slipping from the granite steps in going out of the bank one day last week.

Miss Della Lee, daughter of Mr. S. G. Lee, near Melitota, met with a very thrilling experience Thursday morning. She had been to the village for the mail and was returning home when her horse took fright and ran at high speed up the road. In turning in the gate, one of the shafts struck the post and the horse became loosened from the carriage. Miss Della was dragged over the dashboard and about a hundred yards up the road. She held on the reins as long as it was possible but finding the horse's speed unchecked in the least, and herself about to be dragged to death, she let go her hold. She was helped to the house and her wounds attended to. She was able to be about the house yesterday but feeling a little sore after her experience.

CONTEMPTIBLE LITTLENESS.—We have several cases of contemptible character to report this week. Some scoundrel wilfully cut and damaged the fish nets belonging to some of our town fishermen last Sunday night. The nets had been left on Thompson's wharf over night and some were found next morning so badly cut as to be beyond repair, while all the others were more or less injured, the loss being estimated at over one hundred dollars. Such a miscreant is unfit to live in a civilized community and it is to be hoped that he will soon be landed in his proper place in the penitentiary or house of correction.

Another very little piece of busines was engaged in by a reputed drummer recently. He hired a team of Messrs. C. H. Davis & Son for a week, and failed to return it. Mr. Davis finally learned of the whereabouts of the team, and, proceeding to Easton found that it had been left there to pay a hotel bill. This fellow is no doubt another fit subject for some "corrective" institution.

ASPARAGUS.—The boats running out of Kent waters this week have all carried full freights of asparagus. The steamer Sassafras was belated several days by the large quantities of asparagus and fish. The season has been good for grasses of all kinds. Mr. J. A. Stauffer, of Locust Grove, sends to the NEWS office a sample of asparagus from his five acre field. It is the finest we have seen of all the many fine lots this season. The large quantities of this article going to the market has knocked the price down this week. In Chestertown the best article could be had at eight cents per bunch. In Baltimore prices have ranged from 80 cents to $1.25 per dozen.

ROUGH EXPERIENCE.—During the heavy storm Saturday night two sailors on a tug at the wharf in Chestertown were badly stunned by the lightning. The tug Major Allen brought the Annapolis baseball team to Chestertown but owing to the hard gust the captain decided to remain until Sunday morning. Capt. Edward W. Kirwan, Engineer Daniel Prettyman and Watchman Lawrence Lee who were aboard at the time were knocked unconscious by the flash and for a time deprived of their eyesight.

LAUNDRY.—Mr. Edward B. Jones has accepted the agency for the Eclipse steam laundry and his adv. appears elsewhere. He has carried considerable linen to this laundry and in each case the owners were highly pleased.

A PETITION has been circulated in Chestertown for a public meeting to urge prompt action by the Senate of the United States in the passage of a tariff bill in accord with Democratic pledges.

THE first strawberry festival of the season is advertised to take place in Kennedyville on 7, 8, and 9th of June.
