The Kent News.

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

ATURDAY, - - JULY 21, 1894

WHEAT tumbled four cents per bushel his week. Last week buyers in Kent paid 54 cents for best grades. Yesterday 50 cts. was the outside price.

WHILE the Senate and House wrangles the country suffers. Each body insists upon its own pet views. Is this obstinacy or something worse? The result will be Republican supremacy again.

"CLEVELAND has knocked the Democratic State's Rights doctrine into a cocked hat by sending regulars to Chicago."—Republican Journal.

This is the first time we ever heard that anarchy was "State rights' doctrine."

A WRITER in the Baltimore county Democrat asks the question: "Are there two kinds of Democracy?"

We answer: Yes—the regular and the irregular. The great dispute now is to determine "which is which!"

BIMETALISM is better than any tariff measure that could be devised. But—a "tariff reform" measure is greatly needed, and there is no excuse for longer delay.—The two houses of Congress should "get together" at once, and agree upon a measure as thoroughly Democratic in detail as possible. Quit talking. Act!

A Deadlock on the Tariff!

The disagreement of the "conference committee" on six articles in the tariff bill will cause further delay in its passage. The House stands by these schedules in the Wilson bill, while the Senate, it is said, is as solid as ever for the bill passed by that body. The result may be no reform tariff. For this a fearful responsibility rests somewhere!

President Cleveland's Letter.

Chairman Wilson made a ringing speech in the House on Thursday in which he had read a letter from President Cleveland urging the House to stand by the principle of free raw materials, and declaring that the future welfare of the Democratic party depends upon adherance to the principles upon which the House bill is framed. The President's letter was a surprise, but it will do much to strengthen the House position.

THE strike is ended. It ought never to have commenced. Yet this does not imply that the laboring man is altogether in the wrong. The people of this country will always listen to the appeals of labor. Their cry for justice will be heeded. The oppressor—the Pullmans and all others who take advantage of the toilers for bread—will be brought to account and compelled to deal honestly with their employes.

MISS FRANCES E. WILLARD is the most popular woman in the world! For two years past she has been sojourning in England for her health, but on leaving that country was tendered a farewell that would have done honor to a queen, and on her arrival in New York was given one of the greatest receptions ever known in that city. Miss Willard can sign L. L. D. to her name now. The degree has been conferred upon her by the Ohio Wesleyan University.

IF the Democratic leaders don't get out of the "Gold bug" car they will get left sure. The people want the "dollar of the daddies." The single gold standard is in the interest of monopolists. It has more to do with the present low prices and hard times generally than all other causes combined. Stick a pin there!

THE Prohibition Congressional convention which met at Salisbury this week nominated James T. Anthony, of Queen Anne's, and Bennett E. Miles, of Somerset, the first for the short and the last for the full term.

ONE of Kent's most intelligent agriculturists has a communication in another column, calling attention to the injustice done the colored laborer in Kent by a recent publication in the Baltimore Sun. In the NEWS of last week we referred to the strike among certain farm hands while threshing wheat, but we certainly had no intention and did not inveigh against the colored laborer. There are worthless men among them, of course, but as a class the colored farm hands in Kent are as honest in endeavoring to do their duty, and as little disposed to unreasonable exactions as they are in any other section, and to do them justice we cheerfully give place to the article of "A Farmer."

IT IS INTERESTING just now to know what army the United States Government has outside the militia. It consists of:

Ten cavalry regiments, with 432 officers and 6,050 men; total	6,482
Five artillery regiments, with 280 officers and 3,675 men; total	3,955
Twenty-five infantry regiments, with 877 officers and 13,125 men; total	14,002
Total in active service	24,439

To this could be added the engineer battallion, recruiting parties, ordinance department, hospital service, Indian scouts, West Point cadets, signal corps and general service, amounting to 567 officers and 4,142 men additional.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has received the very strongest endorsement for his manly action in subduing the anarchistic spirit in Chicago. Repubiicans and Democrats are alike hearty in commending him. Dr. Spencer, in his sermon to a great multitude at the Ocean Grove auditorium, on Sunday week, referred to the President's action in lauditory terms, and the "amens" which greeted him showed the popular approval. The Peninsula Methodist of last Saturday, voices the universal approval in these words: "In such a contest, every intelligent patriot, every true friend of free institutions, every one who believes in the unity of constitutional government for the best interests of society, and every one who appreciates the danger of anarchism, will promptly take the side of law and order, and rally heartily to the support of President Cleveland in his prompt and patriotic stand for the maintenance of the authority with which, under the constitution and laws, the people have invested him."

The Easton Gazette (Rep.) says: "The lesson of the strike has been instrumental in totally obliterating all sectional feeling. No North, no South, but one Union, and one President, and one great American principle—that of liberty. Freedom to employ or to refuse to be employed, but not to interfere with the rights of another in the exercise of that same freedom."

THE "POPULISTS" are said to be seeking a foothold in Maryland. Mr. Josiah Massey declares that such a party will soon be organized in Kent.

Mr. Vickers for Congress.

Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., enters the Congressional race again under auspicious circumstances. His county cordially backs him with a delegation of her best citizens, of his own choosing, and these with others of his friends, will no doubt be present at Ocean City to secure the coveted prize.

The resolutions adopted by the convention on Tuesday, and Mr. Vickers' admirable speech on that occasion, strikes a popular cord. He is himself one of our most extensive land owners; his own pocket is touched by the depression of this interest, and he is therefore very properly and forcibly put foward as the farmers' candidate. The Democratic party needs strong candidates in the coming conflict: it needs candidates selected with reference to locality and personnel; the first should have in view the two sections of the district; the second should be the embodiment of principles in accord with the demands of the hour. Kent's candidate does the latter, and with a strong "running mate" from one of the lower counties, the whole district will be compassed, and the campaign made a vigorous and successful one from the start. So we again urge, as in the past, let there be no flagging interest, but make a strong pull and a pull all together" that victory may perch upon our banners.

The numerous candidates in the district greatly complicates the situation, so that no one can fortell the outcome. In our sister county, Queen Anne's, we regret to see a heated contest. It is certainly a great pity that differences could not be settled without the animosities that must be engendered by such a primary as is now being witnessed. However, it is to be hoped that a spirit of fairness and regard for the party interests will prevail, and the outcome will be good will and Democratic harmony. The primary election in that county takes place to-day, and the ballot will be under a special primary election law. The friends of both Messrs. Weedon and Hopper are said to be sanguine of success. Caroline has a solid delegation for ex-Senator John F. Dawson. Talbot has no candidate, and her delegates are strong personal friends of Senator Gibson. Somerset will have a delegation in favor of Joshua W. Miles. Worcester for Clayton J. Purnell; and Wicomico, without a candidate, is said to be prejudicial to Senator Gibson and favorable to some one "above the Choptank." Dorchester has a solid delegation for her favorite son, W. Laird Henry.

HARD TIMES IN 1843.

A Culpepper correspondent of the Fredericksburg Free Lance, quotes figures from an old sale book of a gentleman who died in Madison county, Va., in 1843, to show that the present depression in the price of farm products is not the first that has occurred in this country. The property referred to was sold on twelve months' time, and brought the following prices: Horses, from $20 to $40 per head; colts, from $10 to $14; cows and calves, $8; cows without calves, from $4 to $6; two and three-year-old cattle, from $6 to $13; yearlings, from $1 to $2.50; calves, from 75 cents to $1; hogs, 50 cents to $1.50; turkeys, 18 to 20 cents; geese, 10 cents; bacon, 5 cents per pound; flour, $3.25 per barrel; wheat, 61 cents per bushel; corn, $1.50 per barrel; rye, 45 cents per bushel; beans, 30 cents per 100 pounds; tobacco, $1 per 100 pounds, and all other things in proportion. —Exchange.

BIG FIRE AT HILLSBORO'.

$40,000 Damages—Half the Town in Ashes in Three Hours.

About one-half the town of Hillsboro', Caroline county, was destroyed by fire on Friday of last week. It originated about two o'clock in the stable of Mr. Wiloughby, caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove. The barn was filled with fodder, that gave more sway to the angry flames. Buckets were of little use, the wind scattering the sparks, and in twenty minutes the entire southern portion of the town was in flames. The firemen of Hillsboro' having found the flames unmanageable, telegraphed for the Easton fire department, which promptly responded, and found the creek the only water supply. With 1400 feet of hose this was available and the fire was extinguished.

The residences of Charles Jarrell, C. C. Wheeler, Gen. T. Hobby, F. J. Willoughby, W. H. Thawley, four dwellings belonging to George Sherwood, one to J. F. Russum, and one to Charles Stewart, and the Greenley residence, the old hotel property, the Rolph hotel, the storehouse of George Ford, several stables and two horses were completely destroyed. The household goods were among the ruins, there being very little saved. The loss is estimated at $40,000, with but $7,000 insurance.

"TAX-PAYER'S" letter to the Messenger this week is not published because we do not intend that he or anyone else shall use our columns to vent his spleen upon his personal enemies. If he desires such a communication published and will temper down his language and sign his name to it then we will publish it. But he can't ambush himself behind a nom de plume in this paper and cut to the right and left at his own sweet will. We believe in manliness and the courage of one's convictions, but it is not courageous or manly to write communications of this character under cover. While the persons referred to are not friends of ours and would probably delight to see us so maligned yet that does not justify us in allowing such an attack upon them in this paper.—Snow Hill Messenger.

A Novel Temperance Plan.

A temperance scheme which combines one or two of the features of the celebrated Gothenburg plan with others decidedly novel has been devised by the prohibition element in Haverhill, Mass. The last municipal election in that city resulted in a decisive defeat of the temperance people, with the result that last week the licensing of saloons began, and within two days twenty-six groggeries had sprung up into a flourishing existence. The prohibitionists have now determined to fight fire with fire, and are preparing a saloon of palatial design wherein they will sell liquor at the minimum rate of cost. No attempt will be made to make money, and if whiskey of a sufficiently satisfactory grade can be purchased for five cents a glass the prohibitionists' saloon will sell it for that. Beer will be sold for two cents. The theory is that in the face of the superior attractions and extremely low rates of the new saloon the other twenty-six liquor venders will lose all their trade and be compelled to surrender their $2,000 licenses and go out of business. Then the prohibitionists will close their rum shop, remaining ready to open in case their opponents revive. It is an extremely interesting experiment of which the first result will probably be a sudden influx to Haverhill of all the thirsty souls within a radius of twenty miles. What the after-effects will be is to be ascertained. If the prohibitionists' funds hold out while they are pursuing their heroic methods they may succeed, though at the cost of having created a great temporary increase in drinking and in the taste for it.—Omaha Christian Advocate.

Wouldn't the thirsty welcome such a scheme in these parts?

REAL ESTATE SALES.—James C. Mullikin and Charles T. Westcott, Esqs., as trustees sold last Tuesday at the Court House door in Chestertown, the real estate of the late Alex. R. Parks, as follows:

The home farm, containing 218 acres, near Still Pond, to Mrs. Dr. J. B. Merritt, of Easton, at $31 per acre.

The Startt farm at Hanesville, 95½ acres to Mrs. Martha A. Parsons, for $40 per acre.

Worton Heights farm, 67½ acres, to W. J. Coleman, at $20 per acre.

Wood lot of 11 acres, to Mrs. Samuel W. Wallis at $19.75 per acre.

DEATH OF A HORSE.—Mr. L. C. Justis, Jr., of Kennedyville, lost a valuable young horse on Monday. He thinks the cause possibly was over feeding with wheat. Mr. Justis always keeps a large stock—his horses and blooded cattle now number over one hundred head. He says he has lost forty horses in eighteen years by just such cause as that of Monday.

HAIL STORM.—The storm of Monday afternoon did some damage in the neighborhood of Masseys. The wind blew a part of the roof off the new canning house of Mr. C. S. Hurlock, and the hail cut pretty badly the growing corn of Messrs. Thomas C. Roe, Herman Massey and Thomas Dunn, Jr., also that of Mr. C. H. B. Massey, and others slightly. The hail storm covered a territory of only about a half mile.

THE Williamsport and Chesapeake Company will begin on next Monday, at Sparrows Point, to saw up the logs which came down the Susquehanna river in the great freshet of June. There are about 40,000,000 feet to be disposed of now, and it is estimated it will take a year and a-half to complete the work, one hundred and twenty-five men being employed in the sawmill and one hundred and fifty in collecting logs on the various shores of the bay. Every day logs are being bought in, and salvage of twenty-five cents per log is paid for those logs that have been washed on private shores. The flood of 1889 sent down a much larger number of logs, four years being employed in transforming them into lumber.

No Proof of Foul Play.

Drs. M. J. Hughes and James Walker, who made a post-mortem examination of the body of John Willis, for whose murder William Heintzelman and John McCollom have been arrested, have made their report to the attorney-general. As already stated, the physicians, with Deputy Coroner Palmer and Detective McVey, went to Hickory Grove Cemetery on Thursday, and Mr. Palmer had the body exhumed.

The doctors made a thorough examination, but found no marks that would indicate foul play. Deputy Coroner Palmer examined Willis' clothes and found only two buttons. The authorities have several persons who state that Willis was paid considerable money on the day he is supposed to have been drowned. What has become of the money he received, is a question that is puzzling the authorities.

Skating on Ice.

"What will dese white folks do next," was the exclamation of a colored man in Kent when told that white folks were skating on ice in Baltimore. A representative of the NEWS attended the opening of the Baltimore Ice Palace Monday evening, and it was, indeed, a monstrous exhibition. To skate on solid ice in midsummer with the thermometer registering 68°, is of itself a novel pleasure. The ice was about five inches thick above the pipes and very smooth, but about an eighth of an inch of water covered the surface and made it very wet for the fellow that could not remain on his feet. It was, indeed, ridiculous to see a young man dressed in white pants, negligee shirt, and white straw hat skimming about over the glassy surface. Not a lady ventured on the ice, but hundreds sat in the galleries and enjoyed watching the skaters. When a skater would fall, he would very likely throw his neighbor, and ten-pin-like, quite a company would go down. This rink is located at the Auditorium adjoining the Academy.

Blighted Pear Trees.

The pear-tree psylla, or flea, one of the least-known but most destructive enemies of pear culture, has made its appearance in the orchards of Robert S. Emory, near town. Mr. Emory has a magnificent orchard of twenty thousand pear trees. At the opening of the season his prospects were a large crop, but in many cases the trees are nearly stripped of both fruit and leaves. The crop will be cut fully one-half, and the trees look as though a fire had swept through the orchard.

The insect was first seen this year about June 25. Very soon the leaves and twigs were covered with immense quantities of a sweet, water-like fluid called "honey dew." This substance fairly rained from the trees and ran down to the ground. Even now a discolored circle extending around the base of the trees attests the extent of the presence of the liquid. Heavy and protracted rains kept the honey-dew washed from the trees for several weeks, so it was not at first noticed, but after the rainy season, when the trees were being worked, the horses used became so covered with the sticky substance that it was necessary to wash them off with sponges, a curry-comb being useless. The trees became weakened and lost much of their fruit, the leaves became blackened and fell in great numbers and the body of the trees look as though they had been smoked. Mr. Waite, of the United States Department of Agriculture, at Washington, has just made a close examination of the trouble, and, if possible, an entomologist will come on to look further into the matter.

The remedy prescribed is a kerosene emulsion. The formula is ½ pound of hard or soft soap, 1 gallon water, 2 gallons kerosene. First thoroughly dissolve the soap in boiling water. While this solution is still very hot add the kerosene and thoroughly agitate the whole. After the emulsion has been allowed to cool it should be dissolved before using in three or four parts of hot water. Cold water should be added before using as a spray.

"PRIZE BABY."—One of the attractions at Asbury Park last week was a baby parade. Prizes were awarded the prettiest, ugliest, biggest, one with least hair, etc. Natalee the six-months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Wood, formerly of Melitota, now of Baltimore, was awarded the prize for beauty, a high oak chair.

ORPHANS' COURT, July 17.—All present. Letters of administration on the personal estate of William J. Rutter were granted to Tilghman Shafer, and John P. Hendrickson and John McGugan were appointed to appraise said estate. Court was also engaged in routine business.

A GRAND TOURNAMENT and baseball game will be held at "My Lord's Gift" farm, near Queenstown on Wednesday, July 25th, 1894, for the benefit of St. Peters Church.

RAN INTO THE DRAW!

A Loaded Vessel Does Some Damage and Then Goes Ashore.

Capt. Joseph W. Thompson's vessel, "S. H. Travers," Capt. Phil. Dickerson, during the high wind yesterday afternoon ran into Chester river draw and did considerable damage. She was aiming to get through the draw, but finding that a head wind and tide would prevent, she tried to go about. In doing this she struck the bridge fenders and, glancing, ran into the large pile driver lying in the other opening of the draw and which was being used in the bridge repairs. The boat knocked a hole in her port side causing her to leak and lose some of the wheat with which she was loaded. She then ran aground on the shore in the rear of Dr. W. F. Hines' residence, where she now lies.

At 3.30 the vessel sunk, the whole cargo of 2,000 bushels being submerged. The wheat belonged to Gamble, the miller, and purchased by Wm. Archibald, agent.

The pile-driver was also damaged.

IMPROVEMENTS.—A mud machine arrived at Shallcross' wharf Wednesday, and is at work there deepening the channel. Steamboats will hereafter be able to come up to the side or at the end of the wharf without danger of running aground. There will be eleven feet of water at high tide and eight at low.

PEACH MARKET.—The fruit market has been firm this week, peaches bringing from $1.10 to $3.00; pears from 75 cents to $1.25.

Mr. D. A. Smith, of Edesville, shipped some peaches to Philadelphia Tuesday by the Ericsson line which brought $1.75 per basket. Mr. James S. Harris shipped 58 baskets Thursday which averaged $1.50 per basket. Mr. W. G. Rasin shipped 44 baskets Tuesday to Philadelphia which averaged $1.85, and 31 baskets Wednesday averaging $1.75. He received $3 for a basket of Early Rivers.

A FIRE FORTUNATELY DISCOVERED.—A fire was discovered in Mr. Percy T. McFeely's yard Wednesday afternoon which threatened to do serious damage. Mrs. T. Waters Russell and daughters were sitting in their hall when they smelled smoke and finally it came pouring in their hall. Upon investigation they found the fire located in Mr. McFeely's. It seemed impossible to attract Mrs. M's attention and help from outside was obtained. Messrs. T. J. Joiner, Herman Gruber, J. B. Sappington, C. T. Howard and others came to the rescue and extinguished the fire. Ashes had been emptied in a barrel about noon and it was from this that the fire originated. A chicken coop was burned and the chicken house was scorched. But for the timely discovery it would no doubt have been a very costly fire. Mrs. M. was upstairs and learned of the fire from persons on the street.

Sudden Death.

This community was shocked Sunday to hear of the death of Mr. Harry F. Hill, at his home on the Dunlap farm near Still Pond, at 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was taken with a conjestive chill on the 5th brought on him by being caught in a heavy rain when very warm. The chill was followed by typhoid fever and the patient grew rapidly worse, and died as stated. He was a robust gentleman having the appearance of a very healthy man and when his death was announced it was indeed received with feelings of sincere regret and sympathy with the bereaved. The deceased was in his thirty-sixth year and was the son of Mr. Samuel J. Hill, of Locust Grove. He leaves a widow, daughter of the late Wm. Archibald, and a son nearly a year old.

The deceased was one of Kent's most progressive farmers and had but recently purchased the "Ginn" farm. He was a very quiet citizen but drew numerous friends to him by his generosity and honesty. He was insured in the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York, for $5,000, payable to his widow.

Funeral services were held Monday, Rev. E. H. Nelson officiating, interment in Chester Cemetery. The bearers were E. E. Hudson, Theodore E. Hayes, John P. Hendrickson, Jesse R. Copper, John Medders and Samuel Comegys. Undertaker Dodd had charge of the funeral.

Jottings on the Water.

Capt. Lewis made a quick trip to Baltimore last week on his schooner "Beauregard Lewis." He left Buck Neck Friday evening, went to the city with a load of grain and returned the next evening.

Capt. Hughes, of Philadelphia, makes Worton Creek his headquarters during the summer. His pretty yacht lies anchored off Mr. Wm. B. Plummer's shore.

The employes of the Chester River Steamboat Co., gave an excursion Tuesday night on the B. S. Ford from Baltimore and about 700 persons made the trip.

The Louise in addition to her regular trips makes additional trips Tuesday and Friday evenings. She leaves the city at 7 P. M., Tuesdays and Tolchester at 9. Her first trip Tuesday evening was largely patronized.

The steamer Sassafras has been running excursions during the past two weeks, the Trumpeter taking her place on the Sassafras river route.

Father Scott, of Queenstown sailed to Chestertown Tuesday on his yacht "Timepiece" and remained in town several days. He was accompanied by Miss Lizzie Lawery, of Kent Island, Misses Lizzie and Elva Friel, of Queenstown. While in town the ladies were the guests of Mrs. H. L. Boyd.

The Chester river ferry started Monday. It is in charge of Mr. C. C. Perkins, of Chestertown, and Prof. Pierson, of Queen Anne's.

The appropriation of Congress for improving Chester river is but $1500. The amount asked for was $4750. The existing project for improvement is for a six foot low water channel, 50 feet wide, from Crumpton to Jone's Landing, a distance of 6¼ miles at an estimated cost of $12,750.

A party of fishermen left Chestertown at 9 o'clock Wednesday night on two boats the "Happy Bachelor," Capt. Wm. P. Howard, and Collins' steam launch, Capt. Jos. Downey. In the party were Messrs. Geo. B. Westcott, Thomas D. France, Jack Coleman, Wm. B. Usilton, Jr. They carried provisions and expected to try the fish at various places along Chester river.

They returned Thursday night. Owing to the heavy seas it was impossible to fish.

The yacht "Nonpareil" arrived at Green Point Thursday from St. Michaels having on board Rev. W. S. Phillips, of St. Michaels, Prof. Richards, Dr. Beale and brother, of Frederick. Mr. Joseph Mills boarded the boat at this point and the party started on a two weeks cruise up the Delaware.

OWING to the high tides no advancement has been made on the repairs to Chester bridge during the past week.
