OWING TO THE DELAY of the engineer reaching Chestertown it will be impossible for the Citizen's committee to get their report ready by Monday next; it will, however, be made at a future date, due notice of which will be given. The meeting of the citizens of the town called for Monday evening next is also postponed.

THE JURY in the case of Harry Thaw on Saturday found him "not guilty on the ground of insanity at the time the murder of Stanford White was committed." Judge Dowling ordered the prisoner sent to Matteawan Insane Asylumn, where he will be confined until proceedings are instituted for his release.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S last message to Congress was a "hummer." It has created a stir in the Republican party, and it looks very much as if the President is either playing for a third term nomination, or is determined that the man who represents his policies must be nominated. The message has made the split in the party all the wider, and if the Democrats will accept the opportunity, and unite behind a strong conservative candidate, their chances of winning the next presidential election are excellent.

TO BREAK UP FACTIONALISM.

Governor Crothers, assisted by the senator from Kent county, William M. Slay, Esq., can do a great deal towards breaking up factionalism in the Democratic party in Kent county by recognizing both factions in their appointments. We do not mean to say that Governor Crothers should keep in office all the appointees of Gov. Warfield in this county, though we are satisfied of their competency. But we do say that there should be accorded to the People's Wing of the party the same recognition by Gov. Crothers as was accorded to the other wing of the party by Gov. Warfield. When Gov. Warfield made his appointments in 1904 for Kent, the People's Wing of the party had control of the State Central Committee. Yet the Governor re-appointed the late T. Waters Russell, of Chestertown; G. C. Townsend, of Millington, and Henry Parr, of Galena, and several others all of whom were members of the opposite faction, as justices of the peace for the county. In other words Governor Warfield recognized the Organization faction in his appointments, and thus strove to harmonize the party. Now Gov. Crothers has the same opportunity. The People's faction of the party deserves recognition in the State appointments. It should have a representative on the Board of Supervisors of Election because of its great strength in the county, and because of the efficeincy of the present officers, every one of whom is a staunch Democrat, it asks for recognition in other local appointments. Gov. Crothers made the statement in his inaugural address that he meant to be the Governor of all the people. There are 900 voters in Kent County who are loyal members of the People's faction, and who are equally as good Democrats as can be found anywhere in the State, and who to a man voted for Governor Crothers and the entire Democratic ticket. We believe Gov. Crothers will do his best to be the Governor of all the people, and we believe that it is for the best interests of the Democratic party in Kent county to refuse to turn down all of Governor Warfield's efficient appointees, simply to place Democrats of an opposing faction in their places. Let both factions be recognized in the appointments, just as they were recognized in Governor Warfield's administration.

"The Old Grandfather's Corner."

[WRITTEN FOR THE TRANSCRIPT]

Once upon a time there was a very old man who lived with his son and daughter-in-law. His eyes were dim, his knees tottered under him when he walked, and he was very deaf. As he sat at the table his hand shook so that he would often spill the soup over the tablecloth, or on his clothes, and sometimes even he could not keep it in his mouth when he got it there. His son and daughter were so annoyed to see his conduct at the table that at last they placed a chair for him in a corner behind the screen, and gave him his meals in an earthenware basin quite away from the rest. He would often look sorrowfully at the table with tears in his eyes, but he did not complain.

One day, thinking sadly of the past, the earthenware basin, which he could scarcely hold in his trembling hands, fell to the floor and was broken. The young wife scolded him well for being so careless, but he did not reply, only sighed deeply. Then she bought him a wooden bowel for a penny and gave him his meals in it.

Some days afterward his son and daughter saw their little boy, who was about four years old, sitting on the ground trying to fasten together some pieces of wood.

"What are you making my boy?" asked his father.

"I am making a little bowel for papa and mama to eat their food in when I grow up," he replied

The husband and wife looked at each other without speaking for some minutes. At last they began to shed tears, and went and brought their old father back to the table, and from that day he always took his meals with them and was never again treated unkindly.

Moral:—Give father-in-law and mother-in-law a chance.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

Delegate Harris C. Willis has introduced bills in the legislature to amend the game laws of Kent county and also the law relating to the shooting of wild fowl.

A delegatoin composed of Lewin W. Wickes, Wm. W. Beck, P. B. Hollis, P. G. Wilmer, J. Thomas Pennington, E. Thomas Massey, Wm. B. Usilton, Jr., and Tilghman Shafer, went to Annapolis on Monday in the interest of Dr. W. Frank Hines, who is an applicant for State Immigration Commissioner. On Tuesday Senator Slay and Delegates Harris and Willis accompanied Dr. Hines and gave the Governor strong indorsements of Dr. Hines. There is quite a fight on for this office. Mr. J. K. Brown is also strongly backed by Queen Annes, and Col. Oswald Tilghman, former Secretary of State, is prominently mentioned for the place. It is reported that the entire organization strength in this county is behind Dr. Hines for the place, and that Messrs. George E. Noland, for Fish Commissioner; Wm. R. Pippin, for State Inspector of Public Buildings, and ex-Senator Hepbron for Land Commissioner are receiving no organization support. The sole fight of the organization is for Dr. Hines.

We are informed that Hope H. Barroll, Esq., who, as reported in last week's TRANSCRIPT, was named by Gov. Crothers as a member of the Board of Managers of the House of Refuge, will decline to accept the appointment, because he does not care to accept any office on account of the pressure of his large legal practice.

The State Central Committee for Kent county has forwarded the list of recommendations for appointment to office in Kent county. Judging from the list handed in, the People's Wing of the party will get "nit."

A bill is being prepared for introduction into the Legislature at the suggestion of Gov. Crothers providing for the bonding of the state for the sum of $5,000,000 with which to improve the roads of the state. If this bill is enacted into a law, the state tax will be increased from 16 cts. at present to 24 cts. on the $100 next year. The provisions of the bill are not known as yet, but it is presumed that a commission will have charge of the distribution of the fund among the several counties of the state for improvement to their main roads. If the bill contains a provision to keep the expenditure of this big sum out of politics, and will require considerable less outlay by the County Commissioners of the people's money for road work, it may prove to be a beneficial law. Anything to cause Kent county to spend a great deal less than it does at present on the roads, will be a blessing to the tax payers. But it hardly looks wise at this time to force another big debt of $5,000,000 upon the state, when the preceding administraction had practically gotten the state out of debt.

Senator Lee has introduced a bill in the Senate providing for the publication of the names of all the employes of the Legislature.

The legislative session is nearly half over and none of the important bills, such as the disfranchising amendment, the Corrupt Practices Act, or the Primary Election Law, have been enacted. These are the bills which are designed to carry out the pledges made in the platform of the party, and they should be passed speedily in the form in which they are at present drawn.

A bill to prohibit the receiving or giving of orders for intoxicating liquors in Queen Annes county, introduced by Senator Harper, has passed the Senate.

Col. Oswald Tilghman, former Secretary of State, will likely be appointed State Librarian to succeed Mrs. Jeffres, the present librarian.

BETTERTON BRIEFS.

The Bay is frozen over as far as eye can see and transportation with the outside world is cut off. The Ericsson Line has withdrawn their boats until further notice and Betterton now seems lonely indeed.

Persons owning ice houses have been busy the first of the week filling them, but the snow on Wednesday afternoon interfered, causing a delay of a few days.

Mr. Howard Turner is spending a few days in New York City.

Miss Annie Bramble, of near Still Pond, visited Miss Rena Moore last week.

Revival services were held on Sunday Tuesday and Thursday evenings of this week, the same interest being manifested. The meetings will close this week and commence at Still Pond on Sunday evening. We hope success will follow it.

*†*Mr. James T. Anthony, over the river, killed a pen of fine hogs on Thursday morning.

"Why I Am a Christian."

THIRD SERIES.—No. IV.

MY DEAR FRIEND:—I will continue from the point at which I left off in my last letter—

2. Our hearts yearn not only for a father, but for brethren. Our family training leads us to this desire, as it did to the other. We are formed to love. We can not be happy without loving; we cannot be happy without being loved. Multitudes applauded the famous words when they heard them in the Roman theatre, "I am a man. I reckon nothing which is human foreign to me." Those words are the voice of human nature itself. To be cast upon a desert island; or to be abondoned in a great city; or to live suspected and unloved in the world is almost unbearable to creatures made to live and to love.

But the world is now divided up into nations and languages, and the bond of humankind is weakened, if not broken; and even in people of the same nation there are rich and poor, class struggling against class, and man against man; and amidst this confusion we need a brotherhood; our hearts yearn for brotherhood.

Now our religion gives us this brotherhood, and gives it as nothing else has ever done.

1. First, the christian religion teaches us that one God made us all, and that thus far we are brethen.

You may say, indeed, if you will, that this is quite plain without the christian religion. Well, but, you must confess before I go on, that it is not plain without some religion, and that, a religion like mine to a great extent. For suppose we were not created by God at all, but formed into what we are by some force working through countless ages, then what is one man to another? If there is no father, where are the sons? There is no band of brotherhood and of mankind without a Creator, a God.

More than this. Suppose there had been two Gods, and one God had made one nation, and another God another nation; those nations would have had nothing to bind them together; there would not be the slightest reason why the one should not kill off the other as wolves kill off a flock of sheep. So you must allow a God, Creator, one only, before you can have a brotherhood amongst men. This our religion teaches but all religions do not.

2. But to proceed. The sins of men had weakened this natural tie of humankind, long before the new brotherhood was formed. Just think how men stood towards each other, nation divided against nation, until a great power subdued the world and held it together by force, as men hold wild beasts enchained; but underneath the outward and upper unity of dominion, Romans, Jews, Greeks-Egyptians, despised and hated each other. The brotherhood of humankind had lost its power.

But below that outward show of unity, and in the midst of the turmoil of the under-hatred and ill-will, silently and surely was a new brotherhood formed; which made all those who joined it truly one, nobles, and merchants, and farmers, and slaves: Roman, Greek, Jew, Scythian, Persian; it mattered not; they were all knit together by a family bond, and loved one another. A new family life had been given in order to form the new family. Men were told "ye are brethen now more than you ever were," more even than when you were created," "ye are all children of God by faith in Christ Jesus," "ye are all one in Christ Jesus, you have one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God, and Father of all, who is above all." This new family did not interfere with the old. It left family ties as they were; indeed, it blessed them and strengthened them. It left governors to rule; it sanctioned their power, and required obedience to them. It was a brotherhood like that of humankind, only far more intimate, stronger, closer, sweeter, dearer, more abiding.

Jesus Christ came down from Heaven to be the head of this family, to be the Elder Brother; He came to bring truth, and knowledge, and light. He showed the way to ignorant mankind, He took away man's sin by suffering Himself the penalty of man's sin; He gave, and gives help and strength to man to enable him to leave the way of darkness and walk in the path of light. He charged man to journey on through this world of darkness to the blessed, eternal Word of Light. His charge may be put in these words. "Journey towards the sun rising, not towards its setting, go east, not west." "I am the Sun of Righteousness, I have risen with healing in my wings." And so, all through life's journey, christians look to Jesus turning their hearts and faces toward Him. Let me here say, that it has always been the belief of the church, that Jesus will appear at the last day from the east. For this reason we turn eastward at certain parts of divine service, at the creed, glories and ascriptions of praise; and lay our dead to rest with feet towards the morning, the east, that at the Resurrection Day they may rise and face their coming Lord. In all we do, then, in our work, and worship we should journey towards the light, towards our Lord and Brother Jesus. My christian faith teaches me to do this. It shows me that there are people in the world, like those strange creatnres, the cave dwellers, who, from always living without light are blind. It shows me that some are dwelling in the foul, black cave of habitual sin. All is dark with the poisoned atmosphere of vice; there is no light there and no eyes to see it, for the dwellers in that cave are blind, eyes they have, but they see not It is not the fault of the sun that the place is dark. A soul may be dark, but it is not because Jesus the Sun of Righteousness, the light of the world does not shine forth. "He that followeth Christ shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of light."

But those who love sin and the ways of sin, shut out the light, as a guilty man in hiding blocks up the window. Such as these love darkness better then light, because their deeds are evil. Some are dwellers in the dark dreary cave of sorrow. Sorrow must needs enter into our lives, but it need not make our home dark. The christian has light in his dwelling even in the midst of trouble. If sorrow comes upon you don't bury yourself in it; don't wrap it all about you like a mourning robe; turn your face to the light, go on towards the sun-rising. Some people's lives are like an artic winter, with no sun at all: but for those who are ever turning their faces towards the loving Lord Jesus, the east is ever light with glorious sunshine; sunshine is on their path, and in their hearts, and on their faces. There are plenty of false lights displayed on all sides of us, but they who show them are blind leaders of the blind. The unbeliever says, "Who is the Lord that I should obey Him?" The man with new views, with a new patent medicine to heal sin, and a new patent gospel of hopelessness, will offer to guide us with their feeble light. One of these men was preaching in the streets of the city to a number of poor, wretched, degraded people, and was telling them the advantages of virtue, and the disadvantages of vice, but uttering no word of a loving, sympathizing, helping Elder Brother—no word of the Blessed Saviour who was so ready and willing and able to help them. Then a woman, one of the most wretched and degraded of them present, interrupted the preacher and called out, "It's no use, Mister, your rope is not long enough for such as we."

No, the unbeliever, the agnostic, or the mere preacher of morality, or political economy, has no rope long enough to reach those who are deep down in the blackness of sin, no light strong enough to show them the way out. They need the true Light of Light, the great Elder Brother, the Crucified Jesus, the Risen Jesus, and His blessed gospel, to be a lamp unto their feet, and a light unto their path. And this same Jesus has come to be the Head of the human family, the tender, loving Brother of us all—and knowing this, and believing it, I cannot help being a christian.

Now, I know that the unbeliever will say, "Look at the wars of christians; look at the law suits and the murders, and the struggle of class against class, and such like, going on amongst you, who call yourselves brethren, followers of Him you call your loving, gentle, sympathetic Jesus." This is true and I am ashamed that it is so. I confess that the keenest weapons which are used against the christian religion are sharpened upon the sins of us christians. I am ashamed, but you must be candid also, and acknowledge that the christian religion has softened the usages of war, led men to bind up the wounds which they have made, has taught love and pleaded for love. Yes, for brotherly love from the first, and still does so, and where this is not found, it is the willfullness of man, not the nature of their religion which is at fault. Where can you find any mention of hospitals, infirmaries, asylumns, homes, refuges, Red Cross societies and the like before christianity came into the world? Nowhere. I never said that our religion has made, or could make all its followers good, and so turn the world into heaven. That mighty prince of evil the devil, God's enemy and ours still goes about seeking whom he may devour, still tries to ruin God's work as he did in Eden—but his time is limited, and when our Lord comes again to this world, as He surely will come, Satan's power and evil work will be ended.

But I say, and still say that Christ has formed a brotherhood more close than any known before, which satifies the instincts of our nature, does unspeakable good, and would do more if men would allow it. Light does not cheer those who will not open their eyes, nor air the man who will not breathe; but they are things meant for the organs that will use them, and the christian religion meets our want of a brotherhood, and is therefore Heaven,-sent like the pure light and air. If any have not this want, he is less than a man. If any have it, but through prejudice or ignorance refuse the remedial gift; if any nominally receiving it, yet in order to gratify his passion, bursts the gentle bonds of family love, and acts against his own creed; may the merciful Father pardon them, and bring them all to love as brethern; children of Him, their one Heavenly Father, by one Saviour redemmed; and by one spirit sanctified. Meanwhile I maintain that the christain religion meets the wants of our hearts, both as children and brethern, which is a sign of its truth.

But I have another consideration, but it must wait until my next letter.

Faithfully yours,
HENRY B. MARTIN.

ROCK HALL ITEMS.

Churches slimly attended on Sunday, owing to the windy weather. Dust from the pavements was very disagreeable to pedestrians, and but few ventured out. Yet there were some of the young men of Chestertown who braved the wind, dust and snow-banks in order to spend an evening with some of our ladies. The general comment was, those fellows mean business.

Skating is excellent on the Haven and hundreds of young people are taking advantage of it, and Cupid is getting in some solar plexi in his line. Max Alexander and Prof. Greenhawk have supplied themselves with sails and skim over the ice in a way that attracts the ladies, much to the discomfit of the other boys.

The storm of Saturday and Sunday played havoc with the boats, the tide rose very high lifting the ice and the heavy wind blew the ice up on the bowsprits breaking them off. In some instances the bows were driven in causing great expense to repair. Several of the run-boats are loaded with oysters, but owing to the ice cannot get to market. Fishing is suspended for the present. The steamer could not get in on Tuesday and was compelled to return to Baltimore. The mail comes on the boat and many were disappointed in not getting the Baltimore mail.

Business is at a standstill. Merchants, oystermen and duggists are enjoying home comforts by occupying a position near the stove. Only school teachers and school children are at work.

Entertainments are as frequent as festivals during a political campaign. K. of P. will hold one on the 12th, Piney Neck Church one on the 7th, the young folks of Rock Hall M. E. Church are preparing for one, Odd Fellows are doing the same, the P. O. S. of A. are preparing for their anniversary, and the Red Men are doing the same.

On Feb. 16, the president of the Western Md. Conference will preach at Wesley Chapel. Under the charge of Rev. C. Morgan Compher, this church has put on new life and the congregation has increased very much.

Mr. Will Clayton, our popular R. F. D., had quite an experience on Saturday while on his route at night. The tide was so high at Ferry Bridge that his horse was compelled to swim. When the middle of the stream was reached his horse fell and Billie thought he was a goner. However he is still with us.

Mr. Joe Sewell who had been given a position on the merchants lines, has been compelled to resign it, owing to bad health.

Miss Lois Leary, student at Washington college, has been home suffering with the grippe. Mr. Frank Davis is also wrestling with the monster. Miss Biddle was escorted from school on Tuesday by this disagreeable fellow. Mr. Ned Apsley is just emerging from his toils.

A member of one of the Relief Committees, made an urgent appeal for assistance, saying that some of the committee would visit the house where a brother lay sick and instead of going up to see him, would leave early without seeing him and he unable to make a report.

Mrs. Frank Davis has a full grown tomato just coloring nicely and will be ready for the table in a few days. This is not fiction. Who can beat it?

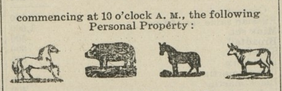

Clarence Greenwood is visiting his parents. He thinks Aberdeen is just the place, for young men, especially.
