Why It Succeeds.

Because it's for One Thing Only, and Chestertown People Appreciate this.

Nothing can be good for everything.
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.
They cure sick kidneys.
They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Chestertown evidence to prove it.

Walter D. Needles, High St., Chestertown, Md., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them very satisfactory. Two years ago my kidneys became disordered and I suffered terribly from backache, especially during the winter. Finally I happened to read of Doan's Kidney Pills and how they were curing other's similarly afflicted and I was induced to get a box at Toulson's drug store. After using them a short time I was completely cured and have had no return of the complaint. I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those who are in need of a kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 Cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE SECOND EMPIRE.

Two Picturesque Episodes In a Period of Unrest.

Walking about the streets, riding on buses, junketing up and down the river in steamboats, I was profoundly struck by the unrest among the people, their intense hatred of emperor and empress. One day I caught a glimpse of Rochefort, carried aloft on the shoulders of a mob of students thronging the Boulevard Saint Michel. I never saw a man looking so helplessly frightened as did the founder of the Lanterne, then in its prime. Whether he feared the police or a fall I do not know, but his terror was abject.

In the summer time the emperor paid a visit to Beauvais. On the chance of getting material for an article acceptable in London I journeyed thither with North Peat, who went down as representative of the Morning Star. The prince imperial accompanied the emperor, who drove through living lanes of people stretching from the roadway to the open windows of the topmost chamber. They came to see, but they would not remain to cheer. The occasion was the presentation of prizes gained at the local Lycee. The head prize was never delivered, the winner, a lad of fourteen, declining to accept it from the hand of the hated emperor.—H. W. Lucy in Cornhill Magazine.

ADJUSTED HIS CANE.

Then the Man From Berlin Explained Why He Did It.

A man stood before a shop window with his cane sticking out from under his arm. A stout, blond gentleman in passing struck the cane smartly with his own, restoring it from its obstructive horizontal position to the proper vertical one.

"Say, what's the matter with you? You're the freshest guy I ever saw. Are you looking for trouble?"

Thus said the man whose cane had been tapped. But he who had tapped it, speaking with a German accent, answered gently:

"Why, sir, I did nothing but restore your cane to its right inclination. Absently you were holding it under your arm. It was jabbing people in the breast, the back, even the eye, and yet you meant no harm.

"Well, I stopped that nuisance which you were unconsciously committing. In Berlin it is the custom always to stop it so. And no one takes offense. On the contrary, in Berlin the correction is received with a smile and a word of thanks. Isn't it so here?"

"No, it isn't," said the other, "but it should be. I thank you, sir, myself, and I apologize."—New York Press.

John Wesley's Prescription.

"Here is a rare little book," said a Methodist local preacher. "It is John Wesley's 'Primitive Physick.' Wesley dabbled in medicine, setting a fashion that has not yet died out. Did you ever know a Methodist minister who didn't dabble in medicine?"

The full title of the volume was "Primitive Physick; or, An Easy and Natural Method of Curing Most Diseases." The local preacher said that he had paid $40 for the book, but that as a medical work it was not really worth 40 cents. To show the weakness of John Wesley's doctoring he quoted the following consumption cure:

"Every morning cut up a little turf of fresh earth and, lying down, breathe into the hole for a quarter of an hour. I have known a deep consumptive cured thus."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Letters He Dictated.

"Well, goodby, dear," said Mr. Trueboy to his beloved spouse. "I must go and dictate those letters—twenty-six of them—so you mustn't expect me home very early."

"All right," was the response. "But I wish you wouldn't work so hard."

Half an hour later Mr. Trueboy entered his club and sat down, with three others, at a card table.

"Just a moment, you fellows, before the first hand is dealt. I've got to keep my word with my wife. One of you just take down what I dictate: 'A b c d e f g h i j k l m n o p q r s t u v w x y z.' There, those letters are off my mind!"

MISERY IN STOMACH.

And Indigestion Vanishes in Five Minutes and You Feel Fine.

Why not start new—to-day, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and besides, one triangule will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to begin taking Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to be thoroughly cured of Indigestion.

A DRAMATIC CLIMAX.

Effect of One Woman's Pathetic Eyes Upon a Jury.

James T. Brady, who was one of New York's greatest lawyers, was once counsel for a young woman in a case involving an attempt to break a will.

His client sat by his side. She was a very beautiful young woman, whose eyes seemed always to rivet the attention of those upon whom her glance fell. There was a pathetic expression which affected every one. She sat watching the jury during the course of the trial, and at last there was some complaint that she was attempting by means of her glances to excite the sympathy of the jury.

Then Mr. Brady arose and in one of the most touching and beautiful of all the addresses he ever made in court spoke of the blessings which every one who had an appreciation of beautiful things and could see them enjoyed and dwelt for some moments upon the happy lot of the jury who could see the budding of the flowers—it was then springtime—and the charms of nature. Then, suddenly turning to his client, he said, "That blessing is denied my client, for, though she has eyes which seem to look upon you, gentlemen, there is no vision in them, for her sight has been taken from her."

She had been, in fact, the victim of total paralysis of the optic nerve, which had not impaired the beauty of her eyes, but had given to them that singular pathetic expression which she was thus falsely charged with employing that she might secure the sympathies of the jury.

HIS CORRECTION.

The American Knew a Little About Shakespeare and English.

An English literary man who visited this country some years ago to lecture frankly declared that he came not expecting to find accurate scholarship among Americans, especially on purely literary subjects, adding affably:

"You have been too busy and useful a nation in practical matters to give much time to the arts and graces of learning."

During the dinner at which he made this remark he criticised Shakespeare, sharply declaring that his metaphors often were absurd. "as, for example," he said, "'Sleep that knits up the raveled sleave of care.' How ridiculous to to figure sleep as knitting up a torn sleeve of a coat!"

A young American sitting near him said modestly: "I think the word is not sleeve, but sleave, the thin fluff of a damaged web. It is a technical expression among weavers."

"In the United States probably!" retorted the critic irritably. "Shakespeare never could have heard it. He meant sleeve."

"I believe," persisted the American gently, "the word is printed sleave in all the old editions. It is not an American word, but has been used for centuries by weavers in Scotland and the north of England."

The visitor frowned and then with English frankness said, laughing: "Thank you. I was mistaken. Perhaps I am mistaken about other things and will be corrected before I leave your shores."

Profitable dairying, that is, increases the quantity as well as the quality of milk, is now postively assured by giving with the feed Fairfield's Milk Producer. Successful dairyman are fast dropping all experimenting, no matter how promising, and are confining themselves to this remarkable cattle tonic. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

Daily reports from various agricultural stations show that the Fairfield method of banishing "cure-alls" and adapting a formula to meet conditions peculiar to each animal, is the surest way to get results. Fairfield's Milk Producer is making money for every cow owner. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

That a horse sometimes becomes "run down," much after the fashion of a human being, is now recognized as a fact by the best Veterinaries. It is also agreed that the surest remedy is one that makes blood, thereby vitalizing the nervous system. Such treatment is best secured in Fairfield's Blood Tonic for horses. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Botton.

Two make two dozen eggs grow where one dozen was produced before seems to be no difficult thing for Fairfield's Poultry tonic. An iron-clad guarantee protects every purchaser. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

Poultry lay and grow fat in proportion as they are cared for properly. Tone them up, give them just a little help with Fairfield's Poultry Tonics. In this way many a losing poultry venture has been made to pay. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown, Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

The working compacity of any horse can be practically doubled by giving regularly with its feed Fairfield's Blood Tonic for Horses. Nothing is better for the general health of the horse. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

In its success in preventing cholera and disease, Fairfield's Hog Tonic has accomplished more than any other single agent in saving the farmer from this former great source of loss. Hogs fatten more quickly under this treatment and with this possibility of loss removed, hog raising is now very profitable. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

It has been commonly considered that a fowl which has suffered from Roup never fully recovers. This theory is now up-set by the guarantee that goes with Fairfield's Roup Remedy. Poultry owners agree that results are permanent under this treatment, and that afflicted birds recover completely. There is no record of a refund having been asked for under the guarantee. Davis & Satterfield, Chestertown. Abe Cohen, Sandy Bottom.

CANDLEFISH.

The Oil Is Used as a Medicine by the Natives of Alaska.

The candlefish is about the size of a smelt and so fat that when dried and lighted it throws off a blaze of sufficient power to be used for illuminating purposes, says Forest and Stream. Before the advent of the white man and his candles these fish were used by the Alaskan natives for that purpose.

The Indians claim that candlefish possess valuable medicinal qualities, and candlefish oil is used by them as a universal cure for consumption. Hundreds of pounds of these fish are buried and left in the ground until they begin to decompose; then they are removed and dumped into a wooden receptacle, a hollowed out log, or, more often, a dugout canoe that has passed its usefulness as a craft. Water is then added and the putrid mass is brought to a boiling point and kept simmering by plunging into it bowlders that have been heated. The oil is thus gradually tried out, and after it has gathered on the surface, thick and clear, it is drawn off and placed in large wooden receptacles. A consumptive patient is liberally dosed with this oil. He drinks it by the pint and is bathed in it several times a day. To meet one of these dirty, sickly, greasy Indians is one of the most repulsive sights imaginable. Nevertheless persons in a position to know say that after several weeks of this treatment a native who once seemed to be in the last stages of the disease becomes as robust and looks as healthy as a perfectly strong man.

THE TARDY GUEST.

He Didn't Tell His Hostess the Truth About the Delay.

Dinner had been ready and waiting twenty minutes. The wife of the tardy guest was very much embarrassed. Just to think that her husband was so rude as to be late at a dinner engagement and keep all the guests waiting! After awhile the belated one arrived, red faced and perspiring.

"So sorry to keep you waiting," he said. "But I was detained at the office with an out of town customer. Just couldn't get away."

The excuse sounded all right and was accepted by the hostess, but it was a myth.

The truth was: Preoccupied, he had gone home from the office at the usual time and found the house locked, much to his surprise. Where in the mischief were his wife and children? he wondered. Why didn't they tell him they were going away? He went all around the house and tried the doors, but they were locked. Then he found a piece of iron in the back yard and broke open a window and crowded in. He crowded out through the window for the evening paper and crowded back. He read the paper, and still the wife and children didn't return.

At 6:03 o'clock he remembered the dinner engagement. While he dressed and rode twenty blocks the guests waited. But others have made the same blunder.—Kansas City Star.

Pie With Knives.

George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe, the first five presidents, each ate pie with his knife. It was not until John Quincy Adams entered the White House that the substitution of the fork for the knife seems to have occurred to any citizen of America. "He contracted the habit while in France," said Mrs. Adams in an apologetic tone to some of her guests, "and he finds it difficult to break himself of it since we returned home." So the first great general of the American army, the sturdy patriot of Massachusetts, the author of the Declaration of Independence, the chief advocate of the federal constitution and the originator of the Monroe doctrine, all ate pie with the knife.—Utica Observer.

A Doctor's Disadvantage.

"In one way," said a collector, "it is easier to get money from a doctor than anybody else who is slow pay. It is more difficult for him to swear that he hasn't been able to make any collections himself since the first of the year. A doctor's reception room is open to all possible patients. A collector with a grain of ingenuity can find a way to worm out of the men on the waiting list some information as to the terms of payment. After an interview with three or four persons who have paid spot cash for treatment and who have told the collector they paid it takes a mighty nerve on the part of the doctor to insist that he hasn't a dollar to his name."—New York Times.

Lots of Places.

"What's the matter?" asked the policeman of the tramp. "Haven't you any place to go?"

"Any place ter go!" was the contemptuous reply. "I've got the whole United States before me. I've got so many places ter go dat it's worryin' me dizzy makin' up me mind which way ter start."

Misdirected Charity.

She—Papa has given $50,000 to establish a home for old men. Wasn't that awfully good of him? He—Yes. But it would have been a whole lot better if he'd given half that sum to establish a home for you and a certain young man I could name.—Exchange.

A Permanent Arrangement.

Conductor—What! A half ticket for each of those girls? Passenger—Yes, sir. Conductor—One of them looks to be fifteen and the other at least thirteen. Passenger—That's right; but, you see, they're half sisters.—Chicago News.
