A CORRECT copy of the new Primary Election Law is published on pages 2 and 7 of this issue, in order that all candidates for office and others concerned may know just exactly what the law is and how the next primary election is to be governed. It will be remembered that the Corrupt Practices Act also applies to the next primary contest.

FORMER Governor Edwin Warfield has been appointed a member of the National Civic Federation, an association to better the business and social life of the country. Mr. Warfield intends pushing the organization in Maryland, and will send out invitations to representative men of all classes throughout the State to meet and form the Maryland branch of the federation. A better selection than Gov. Warfield could not have been made.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

A careful examination of the Primary Election Law which will govern the approaching primaries discloses the fact that it is by no means compulsory to run all the candidates for office through the county. The matter is in the hands of the State Central Committee or governing body of the county to whom is given the privilege of using the direct-vote plan or the district plan in nominating candidates. Two county commissioners will be nominated this year. From time immemorial it has been the rule to give all the districts in the county representation on the board, and to select the members of the board from these districts and by the vote of the people of these districts whose candidate's term of office expires at the election following a nomination. To run candidates for county commissioner through the entire county would not only be contrary to all precedent in this county, but would make possible the election of two commissioners from the same district, which would be taxation without representation in the levy court, which is clearly in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, and subversive of all justice to the people in the several districts. A refusal of the State central Committee or the governing body to run the candidates for commissioner in the districts which are justly entitled to the representation on the board of commissioners would be an evidence of unfairness and would tend to weaken the entire ticket nominated. Don't tamper with an office which is so near to the people's pockets and to which they are justly entitled to representation. The people of the several districts should say whom they want to represent them, and the voters of the rest of the county have nothing to do with it.

Candidates For Office.

Mr. T. Benjamin Crew, of the Third District, has announced his candidacy for County Commissioner. Mr. Crew is one of the most popular young men in the Third District, and is qualified in every respect to fill the office which he seeks with honor to his county. He is thoroughly conversant with the financial needs of the county, is conservative, and if elected will make a most excellent county official.

Mr. Walter H. Hadaway, of the Fifth District has announced his candidacy for the Clerk of the Circuit Court. Mr. Hadaway is well-known to the people of the county as Treasurer. Mr. Hadaway made one of the most efficient Treasurers the county has ever had. He is qualified in every respect to fill the office of Clerk. Affable in manner, of a high degree of intelligence and conversant with the affairs of Court, he will serve his county well and faithfully. He will make a very strong candidate in the election should he secure the nomination.

The woods seems to be getting full of candidates. Others mentioned as candidates for clerk are: James T. Dixon, the present incumbrent, Frank P. Cochran, First District; Wm. F. Russell, Fourth District; Joseph R. Usilton, Third District; C. S. Hurlock, First District.

Mr. Wm. J. Tarbutton, of the Sixth District, has announced his candidacy for County Treasurer. Mr. Tarbutton is one of the staunchest Democrats in the county. He has never held office, but has always given his time and means for the advancement of the party's interests. He is known throughout the county for his upright character and sterling honesty, and he would make an ideal candidate for the office which he seeks. He will have as an opponent Mr. John Bell, of Chestertown, another good man, and president of the board of almshouse trustees. Mr. Bell is well-known throughout the county, and is an aggressive worker.

FOR SHERIFF.

Andrew Medders, Fourth District; Christopher J. Connor, First District; William Carter, Third District.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

Harry C. Willis, announced.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

John E. Morris, the present incumbent; Romie Skirven, Third District.

Others are being announced by their friends from time to time.
