A Square Deal

Is assured when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate woman and child. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and anti-ferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in the stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the diseases of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those chronic coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. This discovery is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate chronic coughs, when neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

Whistling on Sabbath in Scotland.

Counting the Scottish reputation of whistling on the Sabbath Dean Ramsay has a characteristic story. A famous Glasgow artist met an old highland acquaintance unexpectedly. "Donald, what brought you here?" "Oo, weel, sir. It was a haad place you; they were baad folk, but they're a God fearin' set o' folk here." "Well, Donald, I'm glad to hear it." "Oo, aye, sir, 'deed are they, an' I'll gie ye an instance o't. Last Sabbath just as the kirk was skailin' there was a drover chield frae Dumfries comin' along the road whistlin' an' lookin' as happy as if it was a middle o' the week. Weel, sir, oor lads is a God fearin' set o' lads, an' they were just comin' oot o' the kirk—o'd they yekit upon him an' a'most killed him!"

That English Complexion.

The complexion of the English have often been exploited for our benefit. The damp climate and the exercise out of doors produce the red, they say. But on examination it proves to be not the red of the rose, but the red of raw beef, and often streaky and fibrous at that. The features are large and the face high colored, but it is not a delicate pink. It is a coarse red. At a distance the effect is charming, bright, refreshing, but close to often rather unpleasant. Here the features of the women, even the features of the beautiful women, are modeled, while the features of our beautiful American women are chiseled.—Scribner's.

A Funny Family.

"What makes your hair snap so?" asked the child who was watching his mother comb her hair. "Electricity," his mother replied. "We are a funny family," remarked the child after a few moments of thought. "The other day you said papa had wheels in his head, and now you've got electricity in your hair. If you put your heads together you might make an electric motor, mightn't you?"—New York Times.

The Size She Wanted.

The woman went in the bookstore and asked for a globe. "What size do you want?" asked the clerk, turning one on its pivot for her to look at the various and sundry countries in pink and blue. "I think," said the woman, "that you may give me one life size."—New York Times.

Poor Stuff.

The servant—You got cheated when you bought that chiny vase, mum. The mistress—How cheated? The servant—Why, it's weak. It busted all to smash the first time I dropped it.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It isn't enough to pay as you go. You ought to save enough to pay your way back.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Corroborated.
"Though many people think so who hear it play," said the lone haired amateur, with studied carelessness. "I have no intention of becoming a professional musician. I play merely to kill time."

"I knew that as soon as I heard you," enigmatically replied one of his listeners.—Kansas City Independent.

Said What She Meant.
"Oh, I am so awfully ashamed of myself!" said Edith Jones to her dearest girl chum. "When Henry proposed to me last night I intended to say, 'So sudden!' but I quite lost my head and exclaimed, 'At last!'"

An Exception.
"Animals," said the teacher, "frequently become attached to people, but plants never do."
"How about burs, teacher?" queried the small boy at the foot of the class.—Chicago News.

Hard to Tell.
Miss Oldgirl—Do you think Mr. Snifkins is sincere when he writes that he loves me more than tongue can tell? Miss Peachbloss— I dare say. He's tongue tied, you know.

Her Mouth Was Closed.
Jack—Miss Peachy started to say something about the impropriety of kissing the other evening, but she didn't finish. Tom—Why not? Jack—Because I took the words right out of her mouth.—Chicago News.

WARM AND DRY TO STAY WELL.
Advice of Noted Authority, Also Gives a Simple Prescription.

Now is the time when the doctor gets busy, and the patent medicine manufacturers reap the harvest, unless great care is taken to dress warmly and keep the feet dry. This is the advice for all old eminent authority, who says that Rheumatism weather is here, and also tells what to do in case of an attack.

Get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sassaaparilla. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

Just try this simple home-made mixture at the first sign of Rheumatism, or if your back aches or you feel that the kidneys are not acting just right. This is said to be a splendid kidney regulator, and it certainly remedies for all forms of Rheumatism, which is caused by uric acid in the blood, which the kidneys fail to filter out. Any one can easily prepare this at home and at small cost.

Druggists in this town and vicinity, when shown the prescription, stated that they can either supply these ingredients, or if our readers prefer, they will compound the mixture for them.

PROGRESSIVE TOWNS.

Still Pond and Kennedyville are Two of the Prettiest and Most Up-to-date Towns on the Shore.

It was our pleasure on Monday to spend sometime in the beautiful towns of Still Pond and Kennedyville. It was practically our first visit to Still Pond since its incorporation. We were there primarily as the guests of the Still Pond Grange, a progressive and up-to-date organization with Mr. Cornelius as manager, Mr. Walter Harris, lecturer, and Mr. Harry Willis as overseer; but we did not fail to notice as we drove through the town, the splendid condition of the residences, the cleanliness of its streets, and the good condition of its highways, even at this season of the year. We found the President of the Board of Town Commissioners, Mr. John B. Parrott, superintending the repairing of a wash in the road, and there were also evidences of preparation for the usual spring cleaning. It was our pleasure to take a hasty glance through the large and handsome new store-room of Messrs. Boulden & Schofield Bros. and from what we observed we were impressed that the people of Still Pond should appreciate the great opportunity which this large store and the great store of Wm. Medders & Co., Hague & Hackett, and Wm. Parr, as well as the other stores of similar size on the Eastern Shore so well equipped with fine stores as is Still Pond. We saw many evidences of the advantages of the incorporation of the town. Streets being put in proper shape, street lights at convenient distances and in right places, and everywhere and in every respect there seemed to be signs of progress and push. We were always impressed with the beauty of Still Pond; but the town seemed to have lost none of its beauty even in the dead of winter, for the splendid homes so nicely and neatly kept, add a degree of beauty and attractiveness which most towns of a similar size lack. In fact each resident vies with the other in doing something to beautify their homes and thus add to the town's general appearance. No town in the county is better equipped with school facilities than is Still Pond. It has an attractive school building, with Miss Bessie Wheatley and Miss Henrietta Merritt as teachers and the school is a model of good discipline and progressive teaching. Rev. E. H. Collins, the popular pastor of Still Pond M. E. Church, is doing a successful ministry. He has done much during his pastorate to build up the spiritual life of the church, and the religious opportunities of the people of Still Pond are, as they have always been, great. We were delightedly entertained by the Still Pond Grange during our stay in the town, and we learned just a little more of the hospitality of as fine a people as lives in this world.

Still Pond is the home of Dr. W. S. Maxwell, one of the oldest and most prominent physicians in the county. This progressive little town is also the home of Hon. Geo. W. Covington, the Kent county Prohibition leader and an honored citizen.

Mr. Wm. H. Krusen, a leading citizen, had a prominent church-work located there, and is the owner of one of the finest properties in the town, in which is located his fine undertaking outfit.

AT KENNEDYVILLE.
From Still Pond we drove through a rich and fertile section of country to Kennedyville, passing the fine estates of the Raymonds, County Commissioner Harry Davis, Julian Jones, and others until we reached the town of Kennedyville, where our party, consisting of the writer, Messrs. Harry P. Skipper, Clifton L. Jarrell and H. H. Klinefelter, were the guests for dinner at the hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. G. Irvin Barwick. We were royally entertained at dinner and were the guests at a splendid meeting of the Kennedyville Grange, one of the best organizations in the county. Kennedyville is not an incorporated town, yet its citizens are among the best and most progressive in the county, are awake to the beauty and attractiveness of their abiding place and everywhere is seen the well-kept home, the good sidewalks and driveways. The spacious stores of Messrs. Wm. A. Pote and Kelley, and the machine shops of Shafer, Redmie & Co. and John Medders all attest the wide awake and energetic business methods of the people, and their places of business supply a trade not only confined to Kennedyville but for miles around. Its churches and schools are modern in their architecture and their pastors and teachers are consecrated men and women who are doing much for the spiritual, moral and educational life of the community. Altogether Kennedyville is an ideal country village, inhabited by a grand and noble set of people whose hospitality and sincerity are as genuine as pure gold. Our companions on the trip, all of whom are Queen Annes farmers, were much impressed with the country through which we passed, and we all enjoyed the hospitality of our hosts and hostesses immensely. Dr. Barwick is one of the leading physicians of our county, and enjoys a large practice.
