FORMER Senator James H. Baker and Mr. John C. Davis attended the Republican State Central Committee meeting in Baltimore this week.

GOVERNOR CROTHERS has appointed E. Stanley Toadvin, Esq., of Wicomico, associate judge of the First Judicial Circuit to succeed Judge Holland, who has reached the age limit.

It costs 7 cents per day to feed the prisoners in the Maryland House of Correction, and according to the statement of one of our ex-sheriffs it costs 9 cents a day during his term as sheriff. Why should it cost 50 cents per day under Sheriff Medders? The commissioners should look well into this matter before granting an increase in the present rate of 35 cents per day for corn bread and molasses.

The Evening Sun, which made its appearance on April 18th, as a Baltimore afternoon paper, is growing in popularity with the reading public. Its appearance is not unlike the morning edition, and it has the same excellent classification of its news items which has made the morning edition so popular. It fills a niche in Baltimore city's daily life which means progress and push, and the paper has received a very cordial welcome into the field of journalism.

MAY 1st is the time for the organization of the Board of Town Commissioners. Mr. Merrick Clements will qualify as a member of the board at its meeting to be held presumably Monday evening. It is reported that Mr. Thomas S. Bordley will be retained as clerk to the board, and Mr. Wm. S. Carroll will be the Republican member of the board, and has been the president for some years. Mr. W.T. Dwyer is the other member of the board. It is not known whether there will be any change in the town officers.

The session of court which closed this week will be one of the most memorable sessions on record. It has been a session almost entirely of petty appeal cases from the magistrates court, and the county has been put to considerable expense by the trial of these cases which should have been finally decided elsewhere. There is certainly grave need in this county for a law to prevent the appeal of such cases to the court in order to save the great cost to the county involved in a trial. It cost the county $75 or $100 to try an appeal case in which only about $6 was involved.

The Republican State Central Committee met in Baltimore on Wednesday and selected dates for holding the Congressional conventions. July 20th at Ocean City, was selected as the place for the First District, and Dr. Joseph I. France, of Cecil county, is slated as the Republican candidate against Hon. J. Harry Covington. France is beat before he starts, as are also all the Republican candidates, because the State Central Committee endorsed the Payne-Aldrich tariff law which is responsible for the high price of food. Maryland should elect a solid delegation to Congress this fall.

THERE are hundreds of tax-payers in Kent county who believe a reassessment of property at this time to be a useless expense upon the county. It means more money in the State Treasury to be spent on State roads, and so far as we are able to see will do the counties of the State very little if any good. The Organization forces in Kent county are absolutely responsible for the taking of the assessment here, because their senator could have exempted his county had he desired to do so, regardless of his influence with the "powers that be." If he could not, then he is the first senator in Maryland who received no benefit from the privilege of senatorial courtesy.

REPLY TO EX-SENATOR SLAY.

It has been learned through very reliable authority recently that ex-Senator Slay has no more influence with the "powers that be" in the appointment of a road engineer for Kent county than Noah had in preventing the flood. The man to be appointed road engineer will be appointed against the protest of the ex-Senator, and this being the case, it eliminates the ex-Senator from any further political consideration. Good-bye, ex-Senator. They have saluted you down, and any further consideration by the Transcript is unnecessary. It is the second time they have soaked you, and if you should perchance, make a third trial, you may learn such a lesson as one of your intelligence and age should have learned long since.

A WISE MOVE.

The action of the Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday in adopting a resolution providing for the employment of an expert accountant to investigate the financial affairs of the Commissioners' office from their last levy to December 1, 1909, and from the latter date to June 1, 1910, is an exceedingly wise move. There is no doubt of the fact that the taxpayers of the county have a right to know in what condition their finances are, after so much money has been wasted, and the only proper way to satisfy the people is through a thorough and careful examination by a competent expert. This course the Transcript urged months ago, after the exposition by Mr. Barrall of the great waste of the people's money on the roads, and in view of the fact that many bills have been withheld which should have been included in past levies, it is absolutely necessary for the finances to be investigated in order to ascertain and provide for the liquidation of the county's indebtedness. This is business, and of all the offices in the county, the Commissioners' office should be conducted in the best business manner possible. A condition of affairs has been brought about for which the present Board of Commissioners is in no wise responsible, and they should place themselves in a position to let the people know what the county's indebtedness now is, and provide for its prompt liquidation in the next levy regardless of the size of the tax rate. Kent county finances have been conducted in a haphazard manner long enough. It is time for the matter to be placed on a thorough business basis, and we believe the present Board of Commissioners means to conduct the affairs of the office on a strictly business basis hereafter, and hence their desire to ascertain the truth about the county's financial condition. The investigation will not cost the county over $200, and it will be money well invested.

BROKE ALL PRECEDENT, EH?

The Anti-Organization faction was charged on Saturday with breaking all precedent in naming a few assessors for the county and a few other officers, and just because they did not give the Organization tailless pig all at one gulp, they broke all precedents. Let us see how the Organization crowd does the thing. 1. Both general assessors are rank Organization men, and according to the Organization they are the most capable men this side of Heaven for the performance of these jobs. They did not give the Anti-Organization a smell. Mr. Charles W. Kibler was an applicant for general assessor, and had the indorsement of some of the Organization people. He would have made just as capable an officer as Mr. Wilmer. But he was turned down. They would never have given Mr. Kibler the slightest consideration for a member of the Alms-house Board if they had thought he wanted it, or it were possible to make him.

The same may be said of Mr. Harry L. Boyd for assessor. Both Mr. Kibler and Mr. Boyd have been ardent adherents of the Organization for many years. They have used their influence for the welfare of that faction, and are both very capable and upright men. Yet never once have they been put up for any office, until last week, and then only because those who put them up knew they did not want the offices for which they were suggested.

2. They did not even give the Anti-Organization forces a single Justice of the Peace. Their Senator, acting under the pressure from the Organization leaders, turned town Mr. Samuel Burgess, the only Justice the Antis had in the county, a life-long friend of Senator Slay, and one of the best Justices the county ever had, and forced by the Organization leaders, Senator Slay put up Mr. William Wagner, an Organization man, and one who refuses to accept the place, and turned down his life-long friend, in order to refrain from breaking an Organization precedent, to gobble up everything and give the other fellow not even the wrappings of their fingers, regardless of the effect upon the party.

3. They were so eager to prevent breaking their honored precedent, of getting everything, that they squandered more than $30,000 of the taxpayers money on the roads of Kent county in six months, gave $5,500 to Chestertown to which we were never entitled, and then to further prevent the breaking of these precedents, they passed a road law through the Legislature that continues the control of the roads in their hands and deals a blow at the principle of local self-government from which this county will never recover. And why? Simply to defend their precedent of "get everything you can, regardless of its effects upon the taxpayers or upon their party." Now then, simply because the Antis made a few appointments last week and didn't give the Organization all, they broke all precedents. As a matter of fact, several of the appointments made by the Antis were Organization men, and there never has been a time in the history of national politics in the county that the Anti-Organization element did not recognize the Organization element in the giving out of the appointments when the Antis were in control. The Organization is so weak in a defender, that unless "Alpha," or W. J. F., of basket factory fame, comes to their rescue, they are simply at the mercy of men who view things as they are.

THE BOND ISSUE.

The people who voted in the town election on Monday decided by their vote that they are in favor of a bond issue of $10,000 of their money to be spent in strict accordance with the provisions of the report of a committee of citizens of Chestertown for improvements to the water system. These provisions were embodied in the law by which the Water Board must be governed in the expenditure of the money, and it can be spent for no other purpose than as this committee has demanded that it shall be spent. This relieves the Water Board of all responsibility for their failure or success in securing more water and better fire protection for the town, and places the responsibility for the expenditure of this money upon this committee which has bound the Water Board to do only one thing—that this committee has suggested. Whether or not these recommendations will give the citizens of the town what they need and what they have a right to expect, remains for the future to develop. One thing is very certain, that is the Water Board has no choice in the matter. They could not adopt a cheaper and more practical system of improvements if they wanted to, and notwithstanding the fact that three members of the citizens committee thought the stand-pipe or elevated tank system the most necessary and advantageous for fire purposes, the Water Board must do with the money as the committee has directed, and this is what the provisions of the report are.

1. To examine, test and repair old pool near the Barrall farm, if the water is found fit for drinking purposes. To examine, test and repair this pool and connect it with the pump house by pipes will cost $3,500.

2. To dig another storage reservoir at the pump house in which to store water for fire purposes. This will cost $1,800.

3. To lay six and four-inch mains in the town, where three-inch mains are now. This will cost $1.10 per foot for six-inch and 80 cents per foot for four-inch, and make $6000 cost.

4. To install thirty additional fire plugs. Each fire plug costs installed $40. This item will cost $1200.

5. The employment of a man at the pump house at night, which will cost at the very lowest $350 per year.

The entire cost of the committee's improvements conservatively estimated is:

To test and repair pool.....$3,500 To dig reservoir.....1,800 To lay mains.....6,000 To install fire plugs.....1,200 For adv. bonds and incidentals..... 300 Total cost.....$12,300

And what have we got? We have precisely the same system for fighting fire that we have always had—uncertain pump service, and in all probability a supply of water that will not be fit for drinking purposes. Besides this there will have been added to the town's expense an additional $1,350, which means an increase in the town tax rate of more than 10 cents, where the law at present only allows a limit of 50 cents. If the hands of the Water Board had not been tied by the law, this system may have been provided:

1. To discard the reservoir at the college which at present is causing the town a loss of from 50,000 to 60,000 gallons of water per day due to leakage. This saving of water would have been nearly equal to the domestic consumption of the town, and if we can do away with the reservoir we would now have all the water we need for all purposes, without making the dangerous experiment of testing the old pool.

2. An elevated tank of 60,000 gallons capacity at the reservoir, with a shut-off valve at the pump house, which would cost $2,650.

This improvement, with the laying of six-inch mains and the additional fire plugs, could have been done inside of $10,000, and would have given the town all the water they want, would have given the necessary fire protection wherever it is most needed, and would have saved every dollar of additional expense to the tax-payers except an additional amount of fuel.

But what has been done? The Water Board has been forced to spend this bond issue for a system of improvements which has to depend absolutely upon uncertain pump pressure for fire protection, and a long-discarded and most dangerously located pool for additional water supply. Not a dollar of this money can be spent to purchase additional hose and equipment for the fire company, and whatever they get of that will have to be given by the town still. So far as the Transcript is concerned we were perfectly satisfied to the bond issue, but we object seriously to the manner in which the money is to be spent, and before the people of the town are many years older we believe they will regret it also. They will then realize the folly of forcing such a condition upon the people, and the fire company will have the same kick, that there is no pressure when it is most needed.
