

Eisenberg's "Underselling" Store of Baltimore.

In appearance the Eisenberg Store is the least pretentious of Baltimore's great department stores, in point of service it is undoubtedly the most helpful to the public. For one thing, it saves its customers money by its underselling system---by putting on every kind of goods a lower price than the same quality cost elsewhere. It also provides exceptionally big assortments of everything, thus offering broader scopes of selection than others. Furthermore, the Eisenberg Store is the first to introduce the newest style-features and the latest innovations in home needfuls and conveniences. Write or visit the Eisenberg Store for anything you need---you'll save money and be sure of satisfaction.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The much heralded Western Maryland team with the invincible Twigg in the box met defeat last Saturday at the hands of Washington College by a score of 10 to 8. The local boys practically won the game in the first inning, knocking Twigg out of the box and scoring 7 runs. Up to the eighth inning everything was in favor of the Eastern Shore college, but in that inning the Western Maryland boys got together and threw a scare into the visitors' camp, and before they realized where they were at had crossed the plate five times. Metcalfe, who had been pitching a strong steady game up to this time, pulled himself together, and in the last half of the ninth retired the first three men up. The batting of the local boys was a strong feature, two three-base hits with two pretty home runs putting the Western Shore boys completely at sea. The local boys were after this game, and started off with plenty of ginger, as they realized with an inexperienced catcher if they were to win they would have to do it with the willow. The boys played the strong Frederick team the day before, as Coach Thompson thought it would be a good practice game to put the boys in shape before the game that all the boys at home were anxious to win. It proved to be the right thing, but unfortunately Knotts was disabled and Jump, who has had little or no experience behind the bat, had to catch the game. Right here it may be said that the little fielder showed the right spirit and nerve, and caught a remarkable game. The boys were all elated over the victory. The team left Thursday morning for its northern trip, playing Swarthmore, Villa Nova and Stevens.
