R. H. COLLINS, T. D. BOWERS
EDITORS.

Gov. CROTHERS has been confined to his home in Elkton by sickness during the past week. We hope he may soon be restored to health.

REPRESENTATIVE Republicans of the Eastern Shore held a conference in Baltimore Monday and decided to support A. L. Dryden, of Somerset county, for Congress in the First District against J. Harry Covington. Like leading a lamb to slaughter.

THE shooting of mayor Gaynor, of New York, on Wednesday, by James J. Gallagher, a discharged city employe, was a dastardly crime that calls for the most extreme punishment that the law can inflict upon the desperado. Gallagher was discharged, it is stated, because of incompetency.

THE Republicans of the First Congressional District can't find any one who will be able to defeat J. Harry Covington for Congress, and it is of no use to nominate any one. Mr. Covington's splendid record in the last Congress is the best justification for his re-election, and "Uncle Bill" will not be able to sing either before or after the hymn is given out.

VIOLATIONS OF FISH LAWS.

We respectfully call the attention of the Governor of the State and the State Game Warden to the many reported violations of the fishing laws by purse-netters. These violations are occuring every day in the Chesapeake Bay, and the purse-netters are playing such havoc with the fish that unless a stop be put to it by the State authorities, the fishing industry in the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries will soon be a thing of the past. Fishermen are working against their own interests when they persist in violating the law or refuse to assist in the arrest and conviction of violators. Nearly every day, according to these reports which come to our office, these violators of the law governing purse net fishing may be seen at their unlawful business from Tolchester to Poole's Island, and no effort apparently is made by the State Game Warden or his deputies to arrest the men who persist in violating the law. Something should be done and done at once. The pound-net fishermen and seine haulers tell us that the business is almost dead, and those fond of hook and line fishing tell us that the sport is practically broken up in the bay and rivers. The State maintains an oyster navy which is idle during the closed season. It might be used with great profit to the fishing interests to break up violations of the law and to protect the industry from destruction. Fishermen around Betterton tell us that these violations of the law are just as bad as they were last year, and it is up to the State Game Warden or the Governor to investigate the truth of these reports, and to arrest all violators. Then too, the Governor of the State should appoint a commissioner to investigate the fishing industry and to devise some means to protect the industry. Since the repeal of the law prohibiting seine hauling in Chester river and its tributaries during the month of July, the fishing industry has become of no profit, and yet the fisherman can't see it that way. They have been allowed to catch and ship anything and everything just so it has fins, and go where you will every place that used to abound in fish is now destitute, because it is dragged to death by seine haulers. The fishermen know this and they know the danger of it to their means of living, and yet if an attempt were made to frame a law that provides a closed season for fishing with any kind of net, just as there is a closed season for catching oysters, and by force of circumstances for crabs, they would think somebody is trying to deprive them of their rights, when all the while the everlasting hounding of the fish purse-netters, seine-haulers, and pound netters, driving the fish from their feeding grounds, and distrubing the spawning season, is doing more to break up the fishing industry in the State than anything else. One can scarcely go anywhere in our river and bay now and catch a decent mess of fish. We would advocate the passage of a law providing for a closed season for fish at the spawning season for all kinds of nets and devices, and meanwhile we urge the Governor and the State Game Warden to investigate these daily violations of the purse-net law in the vicinity of Poole's Island. This is intended as much for the interest of the fishermen as it is for the protection of the fish.

New Kind of Wheat.

The following letter received on Saturday from Rev. S. S. Hepburn, of near Still Pond, will no doubt prove of interest to farmers looking for a new and profitable seed wheat. Read what Mr. Hepburn says about it:

Kennedyville, Aug. 6, 1910.

THE TRANSCRIPT:

The Rudy wheat to which you referred in one of your late issues, gave me 29 and two-fifths bushels from the machine, which will easily overrun to 30.

I have many inquires concerning this wheat. I am pleased with it, but am not prepared to boast of it, with this limited experience. I would like to see it tried in several places, to prove its quality. I will have a small quantity to dispose of. It is a good grower from the start, has a strong, stiff straw and a good head. It is a bearded wheat, with long red berry, very hard and good for mill purposes, it weighs heavily. Those to whom I have shown same pronounce it fine to look at. Old farmers of experience, such as Mr. W. D. Smith, of Ingleside, Queen Anne's, tell me it ought to do better next year; I shall try it more largely this fall.

S. S. HEPBURN.
