QUEEN ANNES COUNTY has an Emergency Hospital, and it now has twenty patients. The TRANSCRIPT has advocated a similar hospital for Kent county. Why do not our physicians take the matter up?

THE TRANSCRIPT predicted rain for last Saturday and it rained. Wait until next spring and see if its other prediction about a great Anti-Organization victory in the primaries does not come true also.

STRANGE what a great deal of "noise" a little thing like a board strip can make. The strip is making the Antis votes every day. FOUR HUNDRED tax-payers have signed petitions asking for the removal of the strip but the Organization thinks it is a big nut for them to crack. Keep up the "noise" boys, you are making pie for the Antis.

ONE of our prominent farmers came in town early on Tuesday morning in his farm wagon. Somebody said "he's come in to get a load of chips from the board strip on Chester bridge, which the Organization forces have been knocking the splinters from." But it was the same old story—the Organization fooled him again. They didn't put the strip back until Thursday.

THE reassessment of real and personal property is costing the tax-payers of Kent county $19 per day. The reassessment has been in progress for nearly three months and the Seventh and a part of the Fifth Districts only have been finished. At the rate at which the work is being done it will require almost a year to complete the work, and the tax-payers will be out of pocket close to $7,000. This is purely and simply an Organization movement, and this cost of $7,000 will of necessity have to be included in next year's levy, helping to swell the tax rate for next year, and besides, the assessment is not going to benefit the tax-payers in the least. When the tax-payers of the county remember such laws as were passed at the last Legislature, and how the Organization spent the people's money on the roads in the First and Third Districts, they should have no trouble whatever to decide who is responsible for the enormous tax-rate of $1.85, and Kent county's reassessment of property will not help to lower next year's tax rate any, rest assured of that.

WE ARE told by many of our best farmers that they have great difficulty in retaining their hands on their farms because they prefer to go out and work on the county roads where they can get $1.50 per day. The Slay road law has added to the difficulty of keeping labor on the farms because of the wages it offers for a day's labor. It was stated in print last Saturday by those who are making the lamest sort of a defense of the road engineer system and the Slay Road law that the engineer is having difficulty in securing labor. How about this Mr. Farmer, you who are experiencing difficulty in keeping your hands on your farms, and you who had to pay $2 a day to get your corn cut off, because if you didn't pay it these hands could go to work on the roads and get $1.50 per day? There was no lack of laborers to work the roads under the old system at $1 and it is folly to suppose that the Engineer should have difficulty to secure labor at $1.50 per day. The lack of labor is no excuse for the condition of our county roads. It is lack of proper and capable supervision.

THE Queen Anne's Board of County Commissioners seem to be so much interested in preserving the boards on Chester bridge, that we suggest it would be a good idea for them to investigate the advisability of allowing the heavily loaded wagons of the company building the state road in Queen Anne's to haul stone over the bridge. These wagons are loaded with two tons of heavy stone, and some of them carry a great deal more, and they are allowed to haul constantly during the day, and we know from observation that their weight has a tendency to weaken the bridge. Be consistant.

WHEN the wage earner and the salaried man of family stop to consider that he now has to pay

22c a lb. for pork,
24c a lb. for steak,
$7.00 a bbl. for flour,
6c a lb. for sugar,
25c a lb. for liver,
30c a doz. for eggs,
20c a lb. for bacon,

and remembers that during President Cleveland's Democratic administration he could buy all these necessities for nearly half what they cost him now, how can he vote the Republican ticket? The Republican protective tariff protects the interests which control the sale of these commodities, and the wage earner and the salaried man pay the tax. The country was just as well off, and we believe morally better, under President Cleveland's administration than it is to-day, the only difference being that not quite so many palatial battleships were built and there were not so many high salaried political offices. The Repulican party has created a condition of affairs in this country which makes it exceedingly difficult for the wage earner and salaried man to make both ends meet, and yet it is so strange that some people can be deceived into believing that a protective system is as beneficial to the poor man as it to the trust. How can it be where it takes $2 of your money to do now what $1 would do under Democratic rule? The Republican policy of government has been one of extravagance from its inception, and the only hope of the poor man is in a Democratic form of government.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

807 St. Paul Street, Baltimore, Md.
Oct. 11th, 1910.

W. J. PRICE, JR., Centreville, Md.

SIR:—Your editorial statement in the "Observer" of Oct. 8th that I misled you in reference to the board in the centre of Chester River bridge is false, and you knew it was false when you wrote it. The facts that I stated in your office on Sept. 2nd, which caused the editorial to be written in the Observer on Sept. 3rd, which you now cravenly withdraw as "not correct in any way," are embodied in the following Petition:

"TO THE COMMISSIONERS OF KENT AND QUEEN ANNES COUNTIES:

"GENTLEMEN—We, the undersigned citizens and tax-payers of Kent and Queen Annes counties, respectfully ask that you will resist any effort made to replace the timber down the centre of the Chester River Bridge at Chestertown. It is a nuisance, an obstruction and hindrance to travel, and renders the bridge unfit for use of foot passengers because of the narrow passage on either side of teams using it.

"We earnestly request that you will use every effort to prevent the replacing of this obstruction to free travel on said bridge should an attempt be made to lay same down.

Very respectfully yours."

This Petition has been signed by some 400 citizens of Kent and Queen Annes counties. The facts contained therein explain themselves, and in the honest judgment of these people, are the truth and no "disparagement" of the truth. Naturally they would "mislead" you as anything smelling of truth is bound to mislead such a nature as your own. Copies of these Petitions, signed as stated, were on file in the Commissioners office in Centreville when you wrote this editorial, and I believe you knew it at the time.

You have endeavored by trying to defame my character to set yourself right with the Queen Annes Commissioners, when you felt the political pap of their patronage slipping from your grasp, and saw with fear the profits you receive for doing their printing disappearing over the horizon of their disapproval because your first editorial was not pleasing to those gentlemen.

However unfavorable may be the light in which your editorial places me, you may rest assured that I will never conduct myself in a manner to deserve the honor of the soubriquet of "Lying Bill Price," and that I will never have my honesty so thoroughly under control as to be found balanced four-fifths over the Republican side of the fence and so near being a renegade Democrat that the members of my own party have to use a magnifying glass to tell whether I am black or white.

You have lied, and this will be published to let those who may read your newspaper know it if they have not already found it out from personal acquaintance with your character.

I realize that you will not publish this letter. You don't possess the moral courage to tell the truth in this or any other matter where the truth conflicts with your business interests. I simply ask that it be put in your paper as advertising matter and I will gladly pay the bill on receipt of same. Perhaps, it will boom your circulation! Whether you publish this or not, I intend to brand you throughout Kent and Queen Annes counties for what you are, and I am willing to back up every word I have written.

I cannot hope that this will make any impression on you. The material of which you are composed don't take impressions except from the sensation of money tickling your palms.

After reading this you may conclude a second time that "ignorance was not bliss," when you undertook to slander me.
