LOCAL MATTERS

Elected Vice-Principal.—Mr. Galen Vansant, of the class of 1911 of Washington College, has been elected vice-principal of the Hurlock High School, Dorchester county, and will assume charge of his duties next week. Mr. Vansant is a young man of fine character and splendid ability, and will prove a valuable man for the Hurlock school.

Race Track and Fair.—A number of our horsemen are trying to secure a location at Chestertown to establish a race track and fair under an association to be known as the Kent and Queen Anne's Race Track and Fair Association. Mr. Walter Wright has been waited on by representatives of the association and asked for options for a location on his farm. Mr. Wright is to give these gentlemen an answer to-day. The TRANSCRIPT will keep its readers posted on future developments.

The Gun did the Work.—Mr. Wm. J. Ivens, one of Worton's prominent merchants, had been troubled of late by petty larcenies in his store. He conceived the idea of setting a trap gun for the intruder, and he got his man. On the night of the primaries a negro by the name of Wye broke into the store, and he received the load of the gun in the fleshy part of the leg. Mr. Ivens noticed next morning that the gun had been discharged during the night and upon investigation he found that Wye was the man who "got hit." He was arrested, lodged in jail, given a hearing before Justice Wallis, and Wye is now awaiting the action of the grand jury. Two other men, Seney and Hicks, both colored, are also held on the same charge.

Their Services Appreciated.—Frank A. Robbins shows will be in Chestertown Thursday Sept. 21. Robbins gives one of the best and cleanest shows on the road. It will be remembered that Robbins circus was in Chestertown the night of the big fire and their men did heroic and valuable work during the conflagration in helping to extinguish the flames and remove property. They closed the performance and came in a body with men and horses to the assistance of the town and in appreciation of their services the town commissioners have charged them no license this year and its water board have donated them free water. Let our citizens turn out in force and show their appreciation for what the show people did for them about a year ago.

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

The fall session of Washington College will open Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Mr. Polk Rollison lost a valuable horse last Friday from an unknown cause.

The unusually heavy rains of last week rotted a great many tomatoes, which means considerable loss to our farmers.

Mr. R. F. Parks has sold the Shaw property on Cannon street to Mrs. Emma Needles for $800.

Fishing with hook and line in Chester river has been good during the present week. A number of good catches of rock and perch are reported.

Mr. Wm. S. Collins has purchased of Mr. J. D. Lucas a dwelling and lot in Lynchburg. The sale was made by Beck & Ivens real estate brokers.

The ladies of St. Paul's Church will hold one of their celebrated suppers on the church lawn Tuesday next, Sept. 12. The usual delicacies will be served in their usual splendid style.

Mr. Long has sold his pretty property on Chester river opposite Chestertown to a Mr. Elliott from down the shore. The price is said to have been $5,000. Mr. Long is looking for another property. There are about 30 acres in the property, and the sale was made through J. Waters Russell, real estate broker.

The People's Bank and Newnam's Music Store have been removed to their new quarters in the Maul building on High street. Both rooms are very attractive and Mr. Maul and his sister, Miss Phebe, deserve great credit for erecting these substantial buildings.

The big personal property sale of Senator Garrett Foxwell on Thursday, advertised exclusively in the TRANSCRIPT, was attended by a big crowd and auctioneers Jack Jester and Andrew Vansant got splendid prices for everything. Senator Foxwell states that he was perfectly satisfied with results.

The ringing of the bells Monday morning will announce the opening of the public schools of the county and the going of the children to and fro to their respective schools from Sassafras to Eastern Neck Island will be seen and heard, after a vacation of about three months.

Mr. Andrew Wilson, of Georgetown, has purchased from P. E. Corkran, agent, of Easton, a 1912 model four passenger Reo auto. These fine machines are advertised exclusively in Kent county in the TRANSCRIPT, and Mr. Cochran is perfectly satisfied with the results he is getting from his investment.

R. T. C., the famous racer formerly owned by Mr. Wm. B. Biggs, of Middletown, Del., and for which he is reported to have paid originally $360 and famed on the Grand Circuit as the "Plow Horse", has won $45,000 for his owner during the racing season. He has won three $10,000 prizes easily, his last win being a $5,000 purse at Readville.

Mr. John W. Barnes, clerk of the Modern Woodmen's local order, last week paid to Miss Mary E. Gilpin, of Elkton, sister of the late Dr. Charles P. Gilpin, a check for $2000 in payment of an insurance policy for that amount which the deceased carried in the order. The Modern Woodmen is one of the best beneficial orders in the country, and meets its death claims with promptness. He has paid $6,000 in death claims within the past ten months.

Mr. N. Crossly shot and killed a dog on Tuesday at the corner of Maple avenue and Front street supposed to be suffering with the rabbies. The dog entered the business office of the Marvil Package Company and began snapping at Mr. Frank Wheatley, leaving saliva from its mouth on Mr. Wheatley's pants legs. He succeeded in getting the dog out of the office which was followed and killed.

FRIDAY RACES AT TOLCHESTER FAIR.

Rain Prevented Racing Except on Friday.

Two unexpected events happened on Friday last in connection with the races. The first was the remarkably good condition of the race-track. The three days and nights of rains were hard enough to put any course out of commission but dust was raised by the racing horses when the first field scored in the first race, about 2.30 P. M.

The second unexpected feature was the excellence of the racing. Housed in their stalls for three days, it was anticipated that the racers would be stiffened up. Such was not the case. They came on the track fit to race and raced hard.

ONE FOR GRACE J.

Interest was most intense in the 2.22 class trot, though only 6 of the original 16 entrants started.

The race was won by the veteran driver William Nicholson, who piloted Grace J. to victory.

In the second heat John White, driven by W. T. Gale, put his front foot into the back of Grace J.'s sulky and both drivers were spilled. Neither drivers nor horses were injured. The judges decided the accident unavoidable. As Nicholson won the next heat in 3½ seconds faster time than the second one was won, it loooked as though he would have won the race in straight heats.

ROWDY BOY NOT SO BAD.

The 2.18 pace was won by Rowdy Boy after he had lost the first heat to Stitson in the slow time of 2.25¾. In the next heat Brownie J. drove Rowdy Boy out in 2.22. First one and then another challenged Rowdy Boy and though they kept him busy no one had speed enough to beat him.

The 2.28 class pacing event was a special, made up from horses entered in 2.30 and the 2.28 pace. Many hores in these classes had been shipped Thursday, as the owners felt sure the track would not be fit to race on Friday.

THE GRIM REAPER.

J. FRANK TEMPLE.

Mr. J. Frank Temple, a prominent and useful citizen of Church Hill, Queen Anne's county, died at the residence of his son, Mr. W. Hurbert Temple, near Church Hill, Md., Tuesday morning, September 5, at 11.30 o'clock, of arterial sclerosis. Mr. Temple was the oldest son and child of the late W. E. and Rachel Emily Temple and was born at the old Temple homestead near Templeville, Md., Nov. 10, 1858. He married in 1879 Mary Elizabeth Sparks, who died Jan. 31, 1908. Mr. Temple early in life engaged in farming, and became one of the most successful agriculturalists in the county. The farms that he acquired, developed and improved remain as testimonials of his industry, taste and business sagacity. Always interested in politics, he was elected in 1901 to the office of county commissioner on the Democratic ticket for the four-year term. He fulfilled the duties of the office with great credit to himself and fidelity to the interest of the people. He has since been closely identified with the political management of the county but has held no other public office. He was one of the promoters of the Church Hill Bank of Maryland, and a director since its organization. He has been for many years an active member of the Church Hill cemetery board of directors. He was and Odd Fellow and belonged to the P. O. S. of A. He has long been an adherent of the M. E. Church South, and much interested in Stevens' Chapel at Roberts. In all these various activities he was interested, and will be greatly missed in the councils of these institutions. He leaves a mother, Mrs. R. E. Temple, of Chestertown, a brother, Mr. W. E. Temple, of Ridgely, Md., and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Carmine, of Chestertown, and an only son, Mr. W. H. Temple, of near Church Hill, to mourn his demise. The funeral was held from his late residence in Church Hill Friday morning, Sept. 8th, at 11 o'clock, Rev. Chas. L. DeLong officiating, assisted by Rev. E. H. Derrickson; interment immediately afterward at Church Hill cemetery. The following acted as pallbearers: Messrs. E. T. Coppage, M. Walls, R. J. Smith, J. Thomas Stevens, Dr. M. S. Dudley and W. D.
