LOCAL MATTERS

Board of Control and Review.—The Board of Control and Review will resume its sittings next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Question Asked.—Is it not obligatory for commissioners of incorporated towns to render an annual audited report to show total receipts and expenditures? [It depends upon the provisions of your town charter in reference to the statement of an annual report.—Eds.]

Court Next Week.—The circuit court for Kent county will convene for the October term next Monday. The following juriors have been drawn in place of those excused from serving: William T. Hicks in place of W. Finley Collins, Benjamin I. Taylor in place of Augustus H. Malsberger, and Harry R. Graham in place of George W. Rash.

Crothers at Galena.—Governor Crothers has promised the committee in charge of the arrangements for the Grand Tournament to be given in Galena on Wednesday, October 25th, that he will be present and deliver one of the addresses. The Governor will speak at two o'clock. Other speakers of note will also be present, and it will be a great day for the pretty North Kent town. Go and take the whole family.

Horse Ran Away.—While Mr. Leslie Bowers, son of Mr. Raymond Bowers was driving along the public road on Monday evening between Fairlee and Mr. Wm. H. Waddell's farm property, his horse became frightened, upset the carriage, threw Mr. Bowers out, ran off, and neither the horse nor carriage has been seen since. Mr. Bowers was going after some seed wheat when his horse took fright. He was not severely hurt. It is not known whether the team has been stolen or not, but it had not been recovered up to yesterday.

McIntire & Son Move.—Messrs. McIntire & Son moved into their handsome new store room on High street on Thursday. The store-room will be used as a grocery and provision store by the firm, while the second story will be occupied as a dwelling by the Junior member of the firm. The second story is conveniently arranged into three large and airy bedrooms, a front parlor, bath and two large clothes presses, with a hall running nearly the entire length of the building. The kitchen and dining room are on the first floor in the rear of the store-room. The dwelling is not quite ready for occupancy. It is a very attractive and cosy property and was built by contractor William R. Pippin.

Church Recital.—Mr. John C. Thomas and Mr. Walter Charmbury, of Baltimore, who will be the guests of Mr. T. Kemp Bordley on Tuesday, October 24th, have consented while here to give a recital in the Methodist Episcopal Church on the evening of that date. Both of these gentlemen are from the Peabody Conservatory of Music and are among the foremost of the younger artists of the city. Mr. Thomas, who posesses a beautiful baritone voice, is a pupil of Adelin Fermin and has just completed a course of study at Mr. Fermin's home in Holland. Mr. Charmbury is a talented graduate pianist of the same school of music. The church extends a most cordial invitation to all lovers of music to come out and hear this recital. The proceeds will be given to the Missionary Fund of the church, and a generous silver offering is expected at the door.

NEWSY GLEANINGS.

The chestnut crop is enormous in this section this year, and chestnutting parties are quite fashionable.

Columbus Day was observed in Chestertown on Thursday by the closing of the banks and public offices.

Mr. Richard Hagerty, of Kennedyville, has the concrete foundation laid for a comfortable new dwelling in Kennedyville.

It is reported that Mr. Tilghman Hudson, has rented Mr. William J. Hudson's farm near St. Paul's Church for next year.

Mr. Roland Nepham has bought through J. Waters Russell, real estate broker, 100 acres of land belonging to Mr. L. D. Knight, and situated near Deep Landing. Price private.

Mr. William A. Bell, one of our successful apple growers, has two York Imperial apple trees from which he estimates that he will gather 10 barrels of apples to the tree. These apples when nicely matured find ready sale at $5 per barrel.

Mr. Ollie Estes has rented the residence on High street now occupied by Mr. David B. Kendall and family for 1912. As stated in a previous issue, Mr. Kendall and family will remove to the residence now occupied by Mr. Fred S. Russell.

Ladies get your chrysanthemums in shape for the big show to be held in Fireman's Hall early in November by the Laidies Aid and Christian Endeavor Societies of Christ M. P. Church. It will be a great show, and your flowers should be there.

It is reported that Mr. L. B. Russell has purchased the Davis & Satterfield lot on Cross street, and that he will erect a modern two-story building—the first floor divided into stores and the upper floor used as a modern and well-equipped opera house.

Quite a number of our agriculturalists will attend the Maryland State fair at Laurel, Md., next week. Kent county is represented by ten delegates, among whom are Wm. T. Nicholson, John Walter Skirven, Harry C. Willis, Joseph R. Usilton, Edgar J. Watson, Romie Skirven and others.

The Chas. H. Crew farm offered at mortgage's sale on Tuesday by Lewin W. Wickes attorney, was sold to Mr. J. Frank Crew, of Wilmington, Del., for $5100. This farm was advertised for sale in the TRANSCRIPT, and consists of 137 acres of fine land situated near Kennedyville.

Mr. A. R. Prettyman, solicitor for the Prudential Insurance Company, is advertising in this issue for the recovery of a lost pocketbook containing $51 in money and $20.40 in a check. Mr. Prettyman's loss is heavy, and he offers a liberal reward for the return of the pocketbook.

An Eastern Shore automobile line, touching parts of Talbot, Caroline and Queen Anne's with terminus at Queenstown, where there is to be boat connection to Baltimore, is to be established. Auto trucks to carry freight will also be in service, it is said. It is believed the proposed enterprise will be started next spring.

Mrs. Wilamina Price, whose death is noted elsewhere in this issue, was the mother of Mrs. Thomas C. Roe, of near Massey, John H. R. Price, of Warwick, and Curtis C. Price, of near Sassafras.

Messrs. Stavely & Bowers, the hustling and reliable Lynch's contractors and builders are building a new barn and stable for rural route carrier Atwell in Kennedyville. Messrs. Stavely & Bowers have been as busy as bees all the year, and still have a large number of contracts to complete before cold weather.

The work of grading the road bed from Kirby's corner to Stam's Hall crossing was begun this week, and it is hoped to get a good piece of the new road completed before the cold weather sets in. The commissioners will begin constructing the road at the corner of High and Front streets, and continue to the Voshell House this year if their money "holds out."

If you want your advertisement to bring you substantial results, advertise in the paper whose circulation is among the substantial people. This is the kind of circulation the TRANSCRIPT has, and for this reason, aside from the extent of our circulation, the TRANSCRIPT is the best advertising medium in Kent county. Advertise in the paper that circulates among the people who are able to pay for what they get, and who buy when they have the money to pay for it. That's the TRANSCRIPT circulation, and it covers the entire county as well as large pieces of Queen Annes and Cecil, and other parts of the country.

Case of Andrew W. Woodall vs. James E. Woodall and James F. M. Woodall Decided by the Circuit Court.

On Friday of last week the circuit court handed down its decision in the case of Woodall vs. Woodall which has attracted so much attention throughout the county during the last five years.

It will be remembered, from the account published heretofore in the TRANSCRIPT, that the late Andrew W. Woodall filed a bill of equity asking that the deed given by Capt. Andrew Woodall to his son, James E. Woodall, for Colchester farm should be set aside for the reason that his father, "Andrew Woodall, had been for a long time in weak and impaired mental and physical condition, and under the domination and control of his son, James E. Woodall, and James F. M. Woodall, his son-in-law, and that while under this domination and control, James F. M. Woodall, without the knowledge and direction of Andrew Woodall, took this deed from the possession of Andrew Woodall and delivered it to James E. Woodall; and that James E. Woodall and James F. M. Woodall, while Andrew Woodall was in such impaired mental and physical condition and so under their domination and control, fraudulently and by means of undue influence, caused him to execute the deed, &c."

Some 80 witnesses, from all parts of Cecil and Kent counties, were examined in this case. The testimony was taken by Mr. Lafayette P. Temple, the expert stenographer of the Baltimore courts, and filled nearly 3000 pages.

The court in its opinion, sustaining the validity of the deed, in which all three of the judges concurred, stated that:

"It will be sufficient to say that there is not in this record a particle of evidence of any fact tending to show that Andrew Woodall was at any time in his life under the domination or control of either James E. Woodall or James F. M. Woodall, or that either of them possessed, or sought to exercise, any influence over him, either in the conduct of his business or the disposition of any of his property, or that either of them had any knowledge whatever of the deed of June 30th, 1898 to James E. Woodall until March 2nd, 1906, when it was delivered to him."

"After discussing the evidence of the doctors and expert witnesses, the court said;—"We come now to the testimony of the non-expert witnesses, and here we are upon more stable ground and have clearer and more intelligible sources of information from which to draw our conclusions. There were a large number of these witnesses, some of whom enjoyed no exceptional opportunity to judge of Capt. Woodall's mental ability, though others did; and it is worthy of remark that the only witnesses of this class who testified that he was incompetent were those seven members of the family, who testified under the inevitable, even if unconscious, bias of pecuniary interest in having him so declared; while four other members of the family having the same pecuniary interest, testified to his competency and not a single disinterested person out of the hundreds who did business with him up to March 2nd 1906, for years (apart from the two attending physicians) were produced to support the theory of the plaintiff. The testimony of those called by the defendants covers many years coming up to and after March 2nd 1906; relates many business transactions and conversations in detail; describes his physical and mental habits and idiocyncracies, and declares they saw no change in him except loss of activity on his feet and impaired sight and hearing. Not one of these expressed the doubt as to his competency up to the time he was confined to the house and all declared no amount of expert opinion could affect their judgment derived from their intercourse with him."

"Colchester" the farm in controversy, lies between Georgetown and Galena, beautifully situated on the Sassafras river; it contains some 600 acres and is estimated to be worth $45000 to $50000.

The court dismissed the bill, confirmed the deed and awarded the costs to James E. Woodall, which it is estimated will be upwards of $2500.00. It will cost nearly that much to print the record in the Court of Appeals.

William W. Beck and Edgar A. Sauerwein, Esqs., represented the late Andrew W. Woodall, and Hope H. Barroll, Esq., was counsel for James E. Woodall and James F. M. Wooodall.
