PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S effort to prevent another coal strike will be endorsed by the people generally. His letter to the leaders of the proposed strike was to the point, and any further measures he may take to prevent such a crime against the people, be they ever so drastic, will be sustained by all.

THE Baltimore Sun favors a pension for Ex-Fire Marshall McAfee. If any retired public official is thus deserving Mr. McAfee certainly is. His health was lost in the public service and now he is helpless and poor. If these are not the elements to be recognized by our legislative body then we don't know what are.

IT is not often that a condemned murderer escapes from prison, but a Maryland jail is now under the odium of such an event. Isaac Winder, the murderer of Tollgate keeper Rinehart, escaped from Towson jail last Monday night and is yet at large. All the jail guards have been discharged and the whole country is being scoured for the fugitive.

SEVERAL Election bills are now before the Legislature, and the good thinking members are trying the impossible task of getting a law to please everybody! There are good features in all the bills presented, and some bad features also. For instance most of them give the election judges the right to interpret the intent of the voter when he has not complied with the strict letter of the law. What could be more readily abused than that? We think the present law should be amended to simplify voting and prevent trick ballots—stop the nonsensical misfolding business, and all that, but don't give the power to any partizan official, be he Democrat or Republican, to decide how you intend to vote when you don't know yourself or will not take the trouble to be informed.

THE plant of the Cecil Whig, which includes the building, its contents and and the good will of the paper, was sold Tuesday at a trustees' sale to Rev. Frank E. Williams, a former pastor of the Boundary Avenue Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, for $10,100. The Torbert residence, on East Main street, was purchased by Albert Constable for $4,250. The Cecil Whig is one of the leading Republican journals in Maryland, and for many years has been edited by Henry R. Torbert & Son. Our "Rev." brother has our congratulations—and sympathies too—and best wishes.

The Westminster Advocate, which recently lost by death one of its brilliant editors, Mr. Charles H. Vanderford, has been purchased by a stock company with Mr. Wm. H. Vanderford general manager, under whom it is bound to continue its successful and honorable career.

THE semi-centennial of the founding of the Maryland Agricultural College was observed Tuesday at the college, College Park, Maryland. Many prominent people from all over the State were in attendance, including Dr. J. W. Cain, of Chestertown.

"Buy Maryland farms and find the place you seek on them. It's good land in the best location in the United States for money-making."

Mr. James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, gave this advice to those present at the fiftieth anniversary. He was one of the four speakers in an especially brilliant series of addresses, and, like the others, took occasion to pay the highest compliments to the men who planned the institution—the first in the country to make for the higher education of farmers and country people generally in the science of growing plants and breeding animals.

Governor Warfield presided, and Dr. Ira Remsen, president of the Johns Hopkins University, the Governor, and President Silvester made addresses.

The Oyster Question Settled.

Practically the oyster question—or rather the leasing feature—of the oyster business is settled by the compromise measure now before the Legislature as agreed upon by the leading parties to the discussion. Everybody seems fairly well pleased with the outcome. The bitterest opponent of the leasing business must feel relieved that the Hamanites did not get the worst features of his bill, while all classes had about reached the conclusion that some system of planting or leasing was a foregone conclusion, and it only remained for the tidewater sections to make the best terms possible.

To Gen. Seth, the able leader of the shore and President of the Senate, much of the credit is due for the measure of success secured by the oyster tongers, though Senators Kirwin, Brewington, and others did noble work for their constituents.

Resignation Accepted.—Mr. Robert Coursey has resigned as town bailiff at Centreville and at a meeting of the Town Commissioners held last Monday night Mr. Clement Porter was appointed Mr. Coursey's successor.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

The Session Nearing Its Close—Judges's Pensions Will be Continued—Kent County Representatives Vote to Repeal The Bill.

The bill to repeal the Judges' Pension law was indefinitely postponed in the Senate Tuesday morning by the following vote:

Yeas—President Seth, Senators Andrews, Beasman, Biddison, Brown, Devilbiss, France, Gadd, Jones, Lancaster, Linthicum, Moore, Perkins, Shannon and Young—15.

Nays—Senators Baker, Betts, Brewington, Clagett, Dashiell, Foxwell, Goldsborough, Forman, Greenwell, Kirwan, Lee—11.

This action of the Senate kills the Senate bill for the session. But the same bill is on its reading in the House. If it passes the House it will come to the Senate, and it is possible that another effort will be made to pass in the Senate. But as a majority of the Senators are now on record against the repeal of this law, it is not apparent how the House bill can pass.

Mr. Crane has introduced a bill to regulate the killing of wild fowl in Kent. Also to amend the charter of Chestertown so that the commissioners can buy property not to exceed $1,000.

Mr. Gibbs has introduced a bill to incorporate the town of Betterton.

Senator Gorman introduced a bill regulating the pay of the county commissioners. The pay is fixed at $3 a day for the days they actually engage in the transaction of business, with mileage of 10 cents for each mile over five miles. The bill fixes the pay of the Baltimore County Commissioners at $1,000 a year, without mileage, and provides they shall meet at Towson on Tuesday and Wednesday of each week, and daily from the first Tuesday in March until the annual levy is made.

Senator Brewington introduced a bill to impose a tax of $1 a year on present leaseholders of oyster beds and to close the bay and tributaries to dredgers for one year.

Delegate Fenton, of Montgomery county, has presented a bill in the House which will tax, if passed, at their full value schools and educational institutions which are conducted primarily for financial gain.

There is an effort being made to strike out ducks from the list of game mentions in the game bill requiring non-residents to procure a license before gunning in Kent County! We predict that the effort will fail.

The committee of railroads and canals held a protracted meeting Tuesday morning in order that a number of railroad representatives could have a hearing upon Delegate C. E. Crane's bill providing for a flat rate of 2 cents a mile by all railroads in the State of Maryland.

The hearing attracted considerable attention and the room was filled with attentive listerers. The Pennsylvania Railroad was represented by Mr. James R. Wood, general passenger traffic manager; Mr. Charles H. Carter, Gen. Willard Thomson, general manager of the C. P. and A. Railroad; Mr. Geo. R. Gaither represented the Western Maryland Railroad, Mr. Shellman B. Brown the Baltimore and Annapolis Short Line, General Manager Norris the Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad and General Manager Waters the Chesapeake Beach Railroad.

The railroad people made a good case before the committee from their point of view and offered to answer any questions that the members of the committee might ask. They all claimed that their roads are losing money at the present rate and if the rates are cut they will have to make a reduction in service to equalize the difference. They also argued that the commuter and the regular traveler, who now enjoy a much less rate than 2 cents a mile, would be affected by reason of having to pay more than they do at present.

A bill of considerable importance to farmers and gardners throughout Maryland was introduced in the House by Delegate Brown, of Somerset county, in reference to trespassing of turkeys, chickens, ducks, geese or other domestic fowls.

The bill provides that when any such domestic fowl shall trespass upon any inclosure and the owner of such fowl, within 24 hours after due notice has been given, then, if the fowl shall trespass again, the owner of the inclosure shall be allowed to kill such chicken, duck, goose, turkey or other fowl without becoming responsible for damages.

A victory for the friends of the Shoemaker Road law was scored in the House Tuesday afternoon when the bill introduced by Mr. Luckey, of Frederick county, was killed.

An unfavorable report on the bill by the Roads and Highways Committee was adopted, but a motion was made to substitute the bill. Dr. Hill, of Prince George's county, promptly moved to lay this motion on the table and this was adopted by a vote of 55 to 30, carrying the bill with it.

LOUISIANA'S OYSTER INDUSTRY.

That State Values Its Waters At Five Million Dollars.

Three hundred square miles of the richest oyster territory in the world are to be taken away from Mississippi and become the exclusive property of the State of Louisiana by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States which was handed down Tuesday.

In this territory are a half dozen or more big oyster-packing factories, and these will have to go out of the business or pay a big tax to the State of Louisiana. The factories have offered to pay a license of $250,000 a year to the state for the lease of the grounds awarded to Louisiana, but will have to pay much more. The cash value of the waters which have been in dispute is more than $5,000,000.

This is the most serious blow which the oyster industry of Mississippi has every received, and it is probable that a number of the factories will at once move over into Louisiana territory. The waters in question have been in litigation for five years, but the decision yesterday finally settled the case,

Howard and Lexington Streets

We prepay Freight Charges to All Points Within 125 Miles of Baltimore on all Purchases Amounting to $5.00 or More.

THE NEW MILLINERY SALON

Nothing in the city to favorably compare with it—and Baltimore has some "smart" millinery establishments

Mahogany, mirrors and lights—and beautiful hats. Rich—tastefully so; elegant—without ostenation.

Private fitting rooms, so arranged that the effect of a hat from every possible viewpoint may be seen.

Visit the new Salon—be sure to. The store has been marking epochs all through its history—this is rather its crowning glory.

And the hats—beautiful hats, we said a minute ago.—It's likely your verdict will be more enthusiastic.

But not high-priced hats, in the sense that you will pay too much. H. K. & Co. millinery prices have always been sensible, and always will be. There are hats at $5 00 that can't be matched anywhere at the price—there are hats at $40.00 and $50 00, and many prices between—the standard of value is the same.

No Millinery Salon in the city to equal this—no hats in the city to match these at their prices, if, indeed, without regard to price.

THE SALONS OF DRESS ARE AGLOW WITH

Women's New Suits for Spring

The business of ready-made suits has assumed the dignity fo dictatorship. Designers of rare skill have not been beyond the reach of ambitious manufacturers. And the work bears the stamp of high-class individuality. So instead of being imitators of dressmaker art the ready-made suits and frocks are fixing the fashions. The showing of new Suits and frocks which each day increases in the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Salons is of widespread interest to women who value effect in dress—to specialists, dressmakers and the like who must study modes. Numbers of models have arrived. Few of them repeated in style or even in color beyond one or two or, at the most, three of a kind. Exclusiveness and not the usual accompaniment of high price.

It's pleasant to study the vogue of color from the showing. And Baltimore women will rejoice in the first place being given to gray. Then Alice blue as a logical second, because it is a blue toned with gray, Then heliotrope, reseda and coral color divide honors. Plain cream color over-run with hairlines of black are very stylish.

The Widest Exhibit in the Whole City Is At This Store

And quite logically—it is safe to say that we sell more Outerwear for women than any other store, and it is therefore incumbent upon us to have largest stocks and utmost variety.

By way of hinting—there are dozens and dozens of other styles—
