MIDDLE LIFE

A Time When Women Are Susceptible to Many Dread Diseases—Intelligent Women Prepare for it. Two Relate their Experiences.

Mrs. A.E.G. Hyland

The "change of life" is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and the anxiety felt by women as it draws near is not without reason.

Every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy, or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active—and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness, inquietude, and dizziness, are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period in life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the female organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had been suffering with displacement of the organs for years and was passing through the change of life. My abdomen was badly swollen; my stomach was sore; I had dizzy spells, sick headaches, and was very nervous.

"I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me and I have passed safely through the change of life, a well woman. I am recommending your medicine to all my friends."—Mrs. Annie E. G. Hyland, Chestertown, Md.

Another Woman's Case

"During change of life words cannot express what I suffered. My physician said I had a cancerous condition of the female organs. One day I read some of the testimonials of women who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I decided to try it and to write you for advice. Your medicine made me a well woman, and all my bad symptoms soon disappeared.

"I advise every woman at this period of life to take your medicine and write you for advice."—Mrs. Lizzie Hinkle, Salem, Ind.

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Hyland and Mrs. Hinkle it will do for other women at this time of life.

It has conquered pain, restored health, and prolonged life in cases that utterly baffled physicians.

JUDGE BROWN'S STROKE IS FATAL

SUCCUMBED TO PARALYSIS AT GREENSBORO.

Eastern Shore Jurist Never Rallied After an Attack on the Road on Saturday While Returning to His Home, at Centreville, from Greensboro—His Distinguished Career at the Bar and in Political Life.

Edwin Henry Brown, Sr., former state treasurer and associate judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, died at Greensboro, Caroline county, about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Death was due to paralysis, with which he was stricken on Saturday afternoon, while driving from Greensboro to Centreville in company with Charles F. Rich. The stricken jurist never regained consciousness and died while his sons were rushing to his bedside from various sections of the country. With him at the time were his wife and brother-in-law, Dr. James Bordley.

The circumstances surrounding Judge Brown's death were particularly sad, and its suddenness cast a gloom over the community, where he was related to many and popular with all. He appeared to be in excellent health when he left Centreville Saturday with Mr. Rich on a business trip. They drove over to Greensboro and were on their way home when the fatal blow fell. At the time they had driven about two miles and were conversing, when Mr. Rich's attention was attracted to Judge Brown by a strange gurgling noise. Turning quickly, he saw that the Judge's head had fallen forward on his chest, while his countenance had assumed a deathly pallor. In response to his companion's excited query Judge Brown uttered his last words, "I am so sick."

Alarmed for his welfare, Mr. Rich turned the horses around and drove rapidly back to Greensboro, where medical assistance was hurriedly summoned. The fatally stricken Judge was removed to the home of Mrs. Nellie Downes, where Dr. F. R. Malone worked hard to rally him from his unconscious state. Shortly after his arrival the patient was seized with hemorrhages and gradually sank until death ensued.

Judge Brown's Career.

Judge Brown was in his fifty-ninth year, a son of the late Madison Brown, and was elected to the judgeship in 1902. He was the brother of the late Hon. John B. Brown and of the Rev. Joel T. Brown, of Mount Washington, Md. Judge Brown came of a family long distinguished in political circles on the Eastern Shore. He began life as a lawyer, was elected as state's attorney, and finally rose to the dignity of the bench. Several times he entertained congressional aspirations, but was defeated at nominating conventions. He was president of the Queen Anne's National Bank of Centreville, and was a colonel on the staff of former Gov. E. E. Jackson.

When the defalcation of State Treasurer Stevenson Archer became known in 1890, and a vacancy was created in the office, Governor Jackson promptly appointed Mr. Brown treasurer. He served until 1892, when the legislature elected Col. Spencer C. Jones to succeed him.

Judge Brown is survived by his widow formerly Miss Margaret K. Turpin, of Queen Anne's county; one brother (Rev. Joel T. Brown), one sister (Mrs. James Bordley, three sons (Messrs. Walter T. Brown, of New York; W. Purnell Brown, of Connecticut, and Edwin H. Brown, Jr., of Centreville), and one daughter (Miss Elizabeth Neale Brown).

BETTERTON NEWS.

Miss Elizabeth Brice, of Baltimore, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brice.

Miss Blanche Bishop, of Galena, has returned home after a pleasant visit with Miss Lena Vansant.

Mrs. Tull and daughters, Grace and Myrtle, of this village, visited friends in Earlville, last week.

Mrs. John Leigh and daughter, Bessie, have gone on an extended visit with relatives in Caroline County.

Rev. D. G. Ford left here Monday morning to attend conference at Pocomoke City.

Messrs. Wm. Owens, James Sutton, Howard Turner and others, visited Annapolis this week.

THE packing of corn last year was overdone to such an extent that many firms will let the present season go by, while others will handle a limited amount at a lower price. It is said that there is almost enough of the 1905 pack in the market to supply the demand for 1906; therefore, should the packers all operate this year, and should the crop be as favorable as last, it is very easy to see that the business could only be conducted at a great loss. The price of corn this year to the farmer will likely be $9.00 or less per ton. Very little corn was packed in Kent last year and at this early date it is not likely that much will be put up this year.

THE New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company has announced that next October there is to go into effect on all its lines a maximum passenger rate of two cents a mile. This is a practical beginning of the new era of things and the concession just announced means that other railroad companies will have to fall in line, with or without law on the subject. And Ohio railroads have started in to charge two cents a mile under a law just passed.
