THE SAVIOR'S TEACHINGS — BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

HE HEALETH THEIR DISEASES.

Mark i, 29-45—March 10.

"Himself took our infirmities, and bore our sicknesses."—Matthew viii, 17.

TODAY'S STUDY follows closely the one of a week ago. When Jesus left the Capernaum synagogue He went to St. Peter's home. There St. Peter's mother-in-law lay sick of a fever. It was the work of but a moment for the Savior to take her by the hand and to raise her up to health. Meantime the fame of Jesus had spread and by evening there were crowds importuning His healing words and touch: "And He healed many that were sick of divers diseases, and cast out many demons, and suffered not the demons to speak, because they knew Him."

Nothing is more attractive to the human mind than the miraculous power of healing disease. No one enjoys disease, pain and suffering. People would be glad to be healed of disease, even if they were assured that the cures were performed by the power of Satan himself. It should not surprise us today that many false doctrines, wholly out of harmony with God's Word, commend themselves to the poor, groaning creation by promises of relief from physical ailments.

The true healer restoring St. Peter's mother.

But since these healers hold various and antagonistic doctrines, it is manifest that all are not of God, if any of them are. To our understanding, the Bible teaches that no miraculous healing at the present time is authorized by God's Word. St. Paul declared by inspiration that the gifts granted to the early Church, and exercised by Jesus and the Apostles and those to whom they personally communicated them, would pass away. The miracles were merely with a view to the establishment of the early Church.

Neither the Lord Nor the Apostles Healed Believers.

It is quite true that under the Law Covenant which God made with Israel He agreed that sickness would be a penalty for violation of the Law, and health a reward for the obedient. The statement of the Prophet, "Who healeth all thy diseases," was applicable physically to the Israelites under the Law Covenant. It has also a spiritual application to the Church, the New Creation.

But the healing of the New Creature and the healing of his flesh are different things. The New Creature's soul sickness and heart troubles are all cured by the Good Physician—even though his flesh may suffer pain and go down into death. We are to remember that the condition upon which we were begotten of the Holy Spirit to be new creatures was a full surrender of the flesh and its interests, as living sacrifices.—Romans xii, 1.

Nor is this any change from the Lord's dealings with the Church from the very beginning. So far as the records show, all, or nearly all, who were healed by Jesus and the Apostles, were "sinners." Surely there is no record of a single instance in which any of the Apostles were healed of any disease. Although St. Paul healed many sick, yet when Epaphroditus was sick and "nigh unto death" we have no mention of any attempt to miraculously recover him.

The counterfeit healer.

Similarly, in the case of Timothy, we find that St. Paul neither sent him napkins nor handkerchiefs for his healing, nor advised him to pray for his own healing. On the contrary, he advised certain medicines, "for thy stomach's sake." Indeed, we believe that for God's consecrated people to ask for physical healing would be to attempt to take back again what they have specifically consecrated to the Lord.

A Cleansed Leper Thankful.

Today's lesson mentions another case of healing. Leprosy was regarded by the Jews as an incurable disease, and as a type of sin. The leper of this study had faith in the power of Jesus, and came and kneeled before Him and entreated healing, cleansing. His prayer was answered.

Jesus admonished the leper not to make known so great a miracle; but in his thankfulness he could not restrain himself; he told it everywhere. The result was that Jesus could not thereafter visit the large cities because He would be overwhelmed with the number brought to Him for healing.

But alas! they were more appreciative of the restitution blessings than the great privilege which our Lord specially offered them of becoming His followers and joint-heirs in His Kingdom, which, by and by, will dispense restitution blessings and healing far and near to every member of Adam's race, condemned through the fall of Adam, and redeemed by the precious blood of Calvary.

Poultry Items.

The following strong endorsement of the Barred Rocks, one of the most serviceable and best known breeds of poultry, bred and raised for 15 years by Mr. Samuel J. Comly, of Locust Grove, was given by Matt W. Baldwin, a fancier of Sioux City, Iowa, in the February Poultry Item:

"The Barred Rock is the most popular fowl in America, it has held that position for upward of thirty years, and although other breeds and varieties are occasionally 'boomed' into popularity, such booms always 'peter' out but the Barred Rock needs no boom, for it has won its position solely by merit. It has no superior as a market fowl, nor as a layer. It's modest coat, simply barred black and white is the fancier's delight, and specimens showing special merit from the fancy standpoint command fancy prices; of course these extremely fancy birds are scarce, and every fancier who is striving to produce them gets lots of birds that do not qualify as fancy, and these have to be sold at what they will bring."

Mr. Comly's advertisement of Barred Rock eggs for hatching appears on page 1.

Here is also a strong endorsement of the beautiful Golden Buff Rocks, bred and raised by Mr. Charles Skirven, Chestertown R. R. 2, and by Mr. Thos. D. Bowers, of Chestertown, given by one of the best poultrymen in the country, and from our knowledge of the Buff Rocks, we can vouch for every word of it. This clipping is also taken from the Poultry Item:

"It is with a certain amount of pleasure that I contribute this little article in behalf of what I consider the breed of all breeds, namely, Buff Rocks. When I first started in the poultry business, which was about five years ago, it was with a small pen of seven pullets and one cockerel. These birds were not show birds by any means, but they were strong, healthy and vigorous. My first lot of youngsters did not produce any show birds, but I had some very fine pullets which I mated with a cockerel I bought from a prominent breeder. That winter I kept a record of the eggs laid by these pullets and I received a little better than 50 per cent. yield during the winter months. My friends often asked me how it was or what kind of feed I used to make hens lay during the coldest weather. My answer was: 'I breed Buff Rocks, the winter layers.'"

Both Mr. Skirven and Mr. Bowers have advertised a limited number of settings from pens of their finest birds. But at the same time do not forget the great Rhode Island Reds bred and raised by Messrs. R. Snowden Thomas and John H. Moffett. Mr. Thomas has a pen of Reds that cost him $65, and they are as fine as can be grown.

Horse Notes.

Capt. Wm. C. A. Thompson came near losing his fine stallion, John B., in rather a singular manner on Monday. Capt. Thompson drove the fine animal up the Morgnec road to the river shore in search of wild geese, and hitched him to a tree on what he had every reason to believe was firm ground. The Capt. went on in search of geese, giving no thought to his pet other than to believe that he was alright. A colored man happened along sometime afterward and found John B. up to his belly in quick sand, and almost choked to death by the halter with which he was tied to a tree. Capt. Thompson and the colored man got him out without injury and his owner is delighted that his pet has suffered no serious injury from his unusual experience.

Mr. Thomas Tolson this week purchased for a Baltimore gentleman, Mr. Earle Nicholson' fine pacer, Dandy, by Schley Russell. This is one of the finest road horses in the county and is said to have sold for $300.

Mr. Ivens, of Harford county, was in the county last week buying horses. He purchased two fine Belgian three year old colts from Mr. Earle Nicholson, Mr. Wm. T. Nicholson's family driving mare, Fly, and offered Mr. Robert G. Nicholson $600, we are told, for three of his horses, which he refused. Another buyer purchased three valuable horses from Mr. Walter R. Strong, one from Mr. J. Romie Byron and several others.

The missionary services at Mowbray M. E. Sunday school were held last Sunday. A very interesting program was arranged. Among those who took part were: Mr. Ray Startt, Mr. E. Y. O'Meara, Mr. J. B. Vanzant, Mrs. Ida Kirby, Mrs. Robt. Goodman, Miss Mabel Townsend and Miss Flora Kirby.

To-morrow will be the last service of the conference year at Bond and Mowbray Churches. This has been a very good year and all departments are in good shape. Preaching by the pastor at Bond 11 A. M. In the evening at 6 30 there will be a big Epworth League Rally. Mr. E. Y. O'Meara will be the leader. Preaching by the pastor at 7 P. M. Everybody welcome.

Mr. J. H. Wink entertained a party of friends at dinner last week.

Mr. Thos. Starr is away for a few days on a business trip.

Miss Katie Trew is confined to her home with the grippe.

Mr. Thos. Trew, one of the best known residents of Quaker Neck, has been sick for several weeks.

Mr. Wm. Townsend was a Baltimore visitor last week.

Subscription to the Transcript $1.00 per annum.

CONFERENCE PREPARATION.

Bishop Wilson Goes Over the Preliminary Ground With Superintendents.

THE PLANS DISCUSSED.

Much Speculation Concerning Appointments and General Conference Delegates.

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of Philadelphia, who will preside over the Wilmington M. E. Conference session in St. Paul's Church, beginning March 13th, conferred in Wilmington last week with the four district superintendents at the residence of Dr. E. L. Hoffecker.

The district superintendents furnished the bishop with information relative to the conference appointments and gave reports covering the different phases of work in their districts.

Plans for the conference are rapidly maturing. Homes have been secured for all of the ministers and 96 of the laymen. Ninety laymen are yet to be provided for.

The missionary sermon, on the opening night of conference, Tuesday, March 12th, will be preached by Rev. L. E. Barrett, of Chestertown, Md. On Wednesday morning, March 13th, at 9 o'clock, holy communion will be administered by Bishop Wilson, assisted by the four district superintendents. After this the business of conference will begin. On Sunday of conference lovefeast will be conducted in the morning at 9 o'clock, followed by a sermon at 10.30 o'clock by Bishop Wilson. At 3 o'clock the bishop will ordain the elders and deacons, and at 7.30 o'clock, which will mark the missionary anniversary, the missionary address will be delivered by Dr. A. B. Leonard, of New York.

As usual speculation is rife concerning appointments. The anticipation is that there will be no changes in the district superintendents. Three of the superintendents are just concluding their second year and Dr. Jones is finishing his third year on the Salisbury district.

Few changes are expected among the pastors of the local churches, Rev. Ralph T. Coursey, of Brandywine, will not take up evangelistic work, as he had planned, but will receive an appointment. Rev. F. F. Carpenter, of Port Deposit, Md., has accepted a call to fill Mr. Coursey's place at Brandywine.

Pastors whose station will probably be changed include Rev. George R. Ellis, of Kingswood, Rev. C. W. Prettyman, of Snow Hill, Md., Rev. T. A. H. O'Brien, of Crisfield, Rev. F. X. Moore, of New Castle, Rev. E. C. Sunfield, of Perryville, and Rev. J. W. Easley as corresponding secretary of the Wilmington City Missionary Society.

Four ministers and four laymen will be chosen by the conference as delegates to the General Conference, which holds its session in May at Minneapolis, Minn. The ministerial delegation is chosen without reference to district lines, while one layman is chosen from each district.

Four years ago the conference sent its four district superintendents, Drs. A. S. Mowbray, Adam Stengle, W. G. Koons and S. M. Morgan. Dr. C. A. Hill and Dr. Alfred Smith are prominently mentioned for this year's selection. Mrs. William M. Field, Melville Gambrill, of the Wilmington district; W. C. Hoffecker and Charles H. Jefferson, of the Easton district and William Saulsbury, Judge Henry C. Conrad and T. N. Rawlins, of the Dover district, are considered among the lay delegate possibilities.

There is a proposition to adopt the pay plan of conference entertainment. This plan involves the raising of a small sum by each church for conference entertainment. Out of this fund the ministers' expenses are paid. This plan will not interfere with any ministers accepting free entertainment.

It is not unlikely that the conference will take some action regarding some of the Sunday-school lesson leaves, on the ground that they contain too much higher criticism. Several Methodist ministers' meetings of late have discussed these publications and the conference will likely call the attention of the General Conference to them by petition.

Celebrates 21st Birthday.

Mr. Jas Caldwell, Jr., was given a very pleasant surprise party on Wednesday evening February twenty eighth at his home near Galena in honor of his twenty first birthday. The evening was spent in playing games, and after which refreshments were served in abundance. There were about sixty guests present. He received some valuable presents including a gold watch and chain and other useful gifts. Among those present were: Miss Bolton, of Middletown; Misses Mabel Norris, Katie Capps, Lucile Parr and Jennie Bowers, of Still Pond; Miss Lena King and brother, from Warwick; Mr. Herbert Ford, of Blacks; Mr. Franklin McCoy, of Chesapeake City; Miss Skinner, of Chesterville; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Price, Millington; Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Caldwell, Misses Emily, Mary and Marian Caldwell, Evelyn Ford, Carrie Dempsey, Pearle Ford, Messrs. Robert Fogwell, William Dempsey, Carl Norris, Nicholas Walters, Ben Jarvis, from Galena, and Mr. Frank Hillegus, of Wilmington.

Edward Wooden, colored, 89 years old, who for 55 years served as porter in the offices of the Ericsson Steamboat Line, Light and Pratt streets, Baltimore, and familiarly known as "Uncle Ned" died at his home, 636 George street, Baltimore, Saturday morning.

Washington College Notes.

Captain Meekins has sent in his call for candidates for the Washington College base ball team for the coming season, and during the afternoons of the past few days the front campus has been alive with the many boys who responded to the call. A survey of the excellent material that is at work brings delight to all the Washington rooters, for of the fast infield that was the Waterloo last season of Western Maryland, of M. A. C., of Mt. St. Joseph's and of Delaware, only one man, Jarman, the pitcher, is lacking. There need be no uneasiness in this quarter though, for Coach Turner has had a large staff of pitchers at work all during the winter, and from Porter, Wallace, Biddle, Dashiel and Custer, a puzzle should surely be found that will be hard for our opponents to solve. Garrett who pulled in some wonderful ones in center field last season is back, and for the other two vacant positions, right and left field, there are several promising candidates. From the crack nine that Capt. Meekins will lead and the long schedule of fast teams that Manager Burris has booked, the Washington fans may expect some fine sport. The schedule is not yet complete, but the games contracted for up-to-date are:

March 27—University of Md. at Chestertown.
April 1—Dean Academy at Chestertown.
April 4—Lebanon Valley College at Chestertown.
April 5—University of Vermont at Chestertown.
April 8—Rutgers College at Chestertown.
April 27—Baltimore Poly. Inst. at Chestertown.
May 2—Rock Hill College at Ellicott City.
May 4—Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmittsburg.
May 11—Gallaudet College at Chestertown.
May 18—Villa Nova at Chestertown.
May 22—Rock Hill at Chestertown.
May 25—St. John's at Chestertown.
May 31—St. John's at Annapolis.
June 1—M. A. C. at College Park.
June 8—Mt. St. Joseph's at Irvington.
June 15—Mt. St. Joseph's at Chestertown.
June 19—Alumni at Chestertown.

When the games that are now pending are announced, Manager Burris says that he hopes to give the public a pleasant surprise.

Messrs. Pardew, Landing, Baldwin and Pfitsch were representatives of the Young Men's Christian Association of Washington College to the convention of the Christian Associations of the State colleges held at Western Maryland College last week. The principal feature of the convention, which lasted from Friday night until Sunday night, was an address by Mr. J. L. Murray, of New York, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions. On Saturday night the delegates were entertained at a reception given by the Christian Association of Western Maryland College. The young men came back with some excellent ideas that they got from the convention and which they will practice in the work of the association at the college. They spoke in the highest terms of the hospitality of the sister college on the Western Shore.

The Baltimore Club of the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity, of which a number of Washington men are members, held its annual banquet at the Rennert on the evening of Saturday March 2. Former Secretary Cortelyou, President Willard of the B. and O., Congressman Higgins of Connecticut and other prominent men, some of whom were present are connected with this fraternity. Mr. W. Houston Toulson, of the University of Maryland, responded very credibly to the toast "Eta Chapter" and was roundly applauded. Washington and St. John's were represented by W. Raymond Moody and Dr. C. Vernon Cecil. The universities and large colleges of the East also sent delegates to represent them at the dinner.

Kent Island Wharf Is No More.

The Old Kent Island wharf, built more than a century ago and for a number of years owned by the Chester River Steamboat Company, was completely destroyed in the breaking up of the ice in the Chester River last week. Section workmen of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company, the owner, demolished the rest of it.

At the time of its erection this wharf, which lies on the Chester river, between Stevensville and Love Point, was the only steamboat landing on Kent Island. A few years ago it was purchased by the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia company, but was abandoned when the pier at Love Point was erected. It was one of the oldest wharves in Queen Anne's county.

Betterton P. C.—"The Betterton Progressive" Club was given a supper and smoker at the home of Mr. John F. Green, secretary of club, Feb. 29, the occasion being Mr. Green's 72nd birthday. Supper was served from 8 until—Chicken salad, potato salad, deviled eggs, cold chicken, ham, slaw, celery, stuffed olives, pickles, harlaquin cream, cakes, coffee and cigars. The club presented Mr. Green with a diamond pin, fountain pen and leather wallet. Some important subjects were discussed. Reports next day—several bad cases of indigestion.
