"Our County" Make

The TRANSCRIPT's magazine "Our County," the first issue of which appeared last Saturday, made a great hit with the people, and elicited many favorable comments. Two of our merchants grasped its fine points on Friday night and asked one of the editors they could get in on the proposition. One of the news dealers said that gentleman come in and bought a paper, and on his way home noticed the magazine. He returned and asked the news dealer if he had not made a mistake in giving him that paper. The dealer replied that it all goes free with the paper. We have two strong reasons for using this magazine in our circulation and these reasons should prove of value to all concerned.

In the first place because it is a magazine carrying the sort of clean and helpful reading that people ought to have and may serve to counteract the sort of trashy literature that is put out by the mail-order advertising firms. In the second place we present the magazine because it carries no mail-order houses as advertisers, permitting no advertisers to come into its columns except our local dealers and the trademark houses whose goods are handled by local dealers. This is the paramount consideration with us in offering the magazine. We believe that there is no greater menace to our local tradespeople, than the mail-order houses, which are extending their business enormously in our own and every other community. They take thousands of dollars from this county annually—and return nothing for it, in the form of taxes, wage payments, etc. We are great believers in patronizing the people amongst whom we live. It is not only fair and right, but it is sound business sense to do so. Hence our interest in the publication and presentation of our magazine, "Our County."

The lost articles advertised in the TRANSCRIPT by Dr. J. Herbert Bates, of Millington, were found and returned to the doctor. See!
