LOCAL MATTERS

Citizens' Meeting at Lyceum—Look for the Date Next Week.—A citizens' meeting will be held at the Lyceum Theatre at eight o'clock, either on the twenty-third or twenty-fourth of April. The date has not been permanently fixed. Look for the date and full particulars next week. Free to all male citizens.

Took Carbolic Acid Through Mistake.—Mr. George W. McWhorter, one of our popular liverymen, took a dose of carbolic acid through mistake last Sunday afternoon in his stable office. Mr. McWhorter took the wrong bottle from the shelf, but as soon as the liquid touched his mouth, he realized his mistake and spit the acid from his mouth without swallowing any. He hurried to his physician, Dr. Simmons, who gave him an emetic, and Mr. McWhorter suffered no ill effects except that the fluid burnt his throat quite badly.

Excursion Trains for the Fair.—Mr. Norris S. Longaker, District Passenger Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has notified Mr. James G. Beck, president of the Kent and Queen Anne's Driving Association, that special trains will be run to Chestertown on Wednesday and Thursday of the Fair to be held July 28, 29, 30 and 31. These specials will connect with trains going and coming North and South on the Delaware road. The interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the fair is greatly appreciated by the management.

To Build Manse.—The firm of Stavely & Bowers, of Lynch, on Friday evening was awarded the contract for the erection of the new manse for the Presbyterian minister, Rev. Wm. Clews and wife at Kennedyville. Mrs. Richard Lockwood has donated to the church a half acre of her farm land on the same side of the State road as the M. P. Church over the railroad, and the work of the erection of the manse on this lot will begin May 1st. The pastor and his congregation are working energetically for the funds to pay for the building, and they will be ready "when the bell rings".

Swallowed Fish Bone.—Last Sunday afternoon Mr. Robt. G. Nicholson and his guest, Rev. S.B. Tredway, went for an automobile ride in Queen Annes. Upon their return to town Mr. Nicholson took his guest to the Hotel Imperial for supper. During the meal Mr. Tredway swallowed a large fish bone. It lodged in his throat, causing the popular minister intense suffering and choking. Dr. Simpers was hurriedly summoned and after working manfully for sometime he succeeded in extracting the bone. Mr. Tredway's condition was serious for a time, but he was able to leave on the morning train on Monday for conference.

Messers. Graham & Thomas have installed in their large hardware store on High street near Queen, an immense Multiplex Display Fixture. This fixture is known as the "silent salesman." It consists of a large iron frame, supporting forty-five burlap "leaves," and resembles an immense book. On the "leaves" are displayed various articles with price attached. This is quite a convenience to the firm's many patrons.

It was cold enough for ice to form in buckets and along the ditches on Wednesday night. The temperature during the day was in the sixties.

The Court of Appeals has decided the case of Griffith, Boyd & Co. vs. R. F. Parks & Son in favor of Messrs. Parks. The case is brought back to the lower court for a retrail.

A farmer living in Morgnec has 48 hens which did not lay a single egg the entire winter. He got his first egg April 1. These hens are dungle stock, and shows the folly of feeding such at a dead expense.

Mr. Blaustein's change of advertisement reached us too late for this issue, but watch his big space on page 6 next week. He will have something of especial interest to purchasers for his Rock Hall and county trade.

The large store room in Red Men's Hall, Massey, will be occupied by the well-known firm of Price & Bolton, of Galena, about the middle of the month. The Massey store will be conducted as a branch of the Galena store.

The entertainment given by the Sunday school classes of Misses Bessie Wheatley and Fannie Baker in Firemen's Hall on Wednesday night was attended by a good audience and the Operetta—"Fifteen Miles to Happytown" as well as the pretty sketch—"Obstinacy" were splendidly rendered. Farmer Beans' self-made automobile, which was expected to make the trip to Happytown, failed to get started because the squirtgun couldn't find out what was the trouble with the carborator, and the occupants were compelled to wait until to-morrow.

The State Roads Commission advertises for bids for the building of 5.40 miles of State road from Chestertown to Fairlee in this issue. The survey of the road was begun last week. It will be extended to Rock Hall as rapidly as possible, and will go via McLane's Corner.

The probability of having appropriate signboards on the State road in Kent county is imminent. The State of Maryland, it is believed, may be required to erect suitable signboards at or near the boundary line of all important thoroughfares leading out of cities, towns and villages and at places of intersection of important highways.

Mr. George D. Lofland received this week through Charles W. Kibler, Jr., a handsome "36" Paige touring car, exactly like the one Mr. Thomas G. Wroth has. The Paige car is a splendid machine, and it has back of it a company that is financially able to put into the car the best material and workmanship. It is one of the finest cars on the market for the price.

Not to be outdone as to the size of hens' eggs we received from Mr. Samuel J. Comly on Thursday an egg from one of his Progressive Plymouth Rock hens which measures 8½ inches in circumference long way, 6 inches other way and weighs 4 ounces. This beats Mr. Owen C. Smith and Mr. Wm. B. Willis. Mr. Comly has one of the finest laying strains of Barred Plymouth Rocks in the country, and he says he is receiving numerous orders for eggs for setting. Friend Sam advertises in the TRANSCRIPT, you know, along with the county's big breeders, and he's bound to sell his eggs, just as all the rest are doing.

The Relief Bazaar to be held in Firemen's Hall next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings promises to be the biggest affair ever held in the town. The committees have been working splendidly, and the entire town and county is greatly interested in the success of the bazaar. The entertainment under the direction of Miss Mayme Thompson, will be fine; the Children's Vaudeville being given on Tuesday evening, and Wednesday afternoon Matinee and the Minstrel Show, with Russell Wheatley and Clarence Newcomb as end men, on Thursday evening. At the Lyceum.

Robert L. Downey, who will be at the Lyceum on April 13th, assisted by his wife, was for 25 years one of the leaders of the American stage. Playing "Gladiator" and "Virginius," he made himself famous. His entertainment here will be in two parts. Part one will consist of an interpretation of Shakespeare and other classic poets. Part two will be a one-act comedy, "Not Wanted," written and presented by Mrs. Downey & Co. The entertainment will conclude with a condensed version of the beautiful pastoral comedy-drama, "The Country Parson." In 1908 when at the zenith of his ability and popularity, he gave up the stage to devote himself to the evangelistic and the lyceum work. Here he has won the same great success that crowned his efforts in his earlier field. He has been wonderfully successful. His firm convictions, his knowledge of human nature, his oratorical ability, have made him a "power." Through his ministrations hundreds of men and women have been influenced to a better life.
