R.H. COLLINS, T.D. BOWERS, EDITORS.

THE TRANSCRIPT extends its grateful thanks to the many patrons and friends for their generous support during the year now drawing to a close, and we wish all of them a very happy and prosperous new year. Let the TRANSCRIPT help you to make 1915 the very best year in your career.

THE executive committee of the Maryland Panama-Pacific Exposition Commission has fixed upon March 25, as Maryland day at the exposition. This early date is selected because of the importance of the political campaign in Maryland next year. If a later day, it was agreed, were selected the attendance would be small.

SENATOR GORMAN and Lewin W. Wickes, Esq., majority members of the State Tax Commission, have addressed a letter to Comptroller E. C. Harrington in reply to Judge Lesh's letter, objecting to the appointment of Messrs. Beck and Hammond as counsel to the commission. In their letter Messrs. Gorman and Wickes seek to establish a legal right to appoint counsel from among those who are not only assisted in passing the law of which they are the pecuniary beneficiaries, but who themselves were holding, and still hold, a State position at the time they were appointed counsel to the State Tax Commission. But the majority members of the commission have the legal right to appoint, where is the property of spending $3,000 a year of the tax-payers' money, when the most eminent authority in the State on taxation, Judge Lesh, says that this counsel is not at all necessary? Even if the right to appoint could not be criticized, it seems to us that three eminent lawyers like Senator Gorman, Judge Lesh, and Mr. Wickes, would feel humiliated to call in two other lawyers, no better qualified than themselves, to settle questions which their knowledge of the law should enable them to determine. The people of the State are burdened beyond endurance with taxes already, but when you come to making good fat offices simply because of a legal right to appoint, it is high time for the people to be made wise to each procedure.

WE PUBLISH elsewhere in this issue an interesting statement from Commander Thos. B. Howard, of the oyster navy, in reference to stopping the taking of oysters in the upper Chesapeake bay, where, for the first time in 16 years, there is said to be a splendid supply of the finest kind of oysters. The reason assigned for the stoppage is that the market is glutted, and yet Commander Howard says in his article that these oysters are greatly preferred by the packers because of their superior quality. If this is the case, why does not the commander shut off the supply from some other direction? It will be remembered that several years ago Capt. Howard allowed a number of dredgers to go to the upper bay grounds and transfer 4,500 bushels of small oysters to down-the-bay grounds. These 4,500 bushels, Capt. Howard says in his statement, have increased to 8,000 bushels of the finest oysters now being caught. Now, if these dredgers had not allowed to disturb these 4,500 bushels of small oysters on Hodges' and other up-the-bay grounds, they would have been among the present supply which is now greatly preferred by the packers. We criticized the action of Capt. Howard at the time for taking these seed oysters from up-the-bay grounds because we believed the day would soon come when they would be marketable. It can be readily seen that had these oysters been allowed to stay up the bay that it would have meant an additional revenue of some $4,000 to Kent oystermen as well as to Baltimore, Harford and Cecil oystermen.

SENATORIAL COURTESY. If the war has caused a discarding of petty thoughts and petty ambitions on the part of millions of people the world over, it cannot be said to have affected in this favorable manner many of the eminent statesmen of this country. Two or three days ago the Senate of the United States rejected President Wilson's nomination of a District Attorney for New York and his nomination of a Collector of Internal Revenue for New Jersey. No suggestion was made that the men nominated were inefficient or dishonest or incapable in any way. No one questioned their integrity or ability. They were rejected solely because Senator O'Gorman, in the first instance, and Senator Martine, in the second, have other men for the jobs. "Senatorial courtesy" is a fine phrase, but the fact that it is seldom or never invoked except in connection with spoils politics has brought discredit upon it. It is natural, perhaps, for Senators to agree to enhance the importance of the office they hold by refusing to act upon nominations for office without the consent of the Senator from the State involved, but if there is too much of this sort of thing a large number of people will give their support in Senatorial elections to candidates who promise to be discourteous, if elected. And if Senatorial courtesy ever does become an issue in a popular election for Senator, woe to the individual who defends it! We doubt if a single instance can be produced in which this interference with the executive prerogative has worked for the public good.—Baltimore Sun.

Grange Notes. There will be no meeting of the Wor-ton Grange next Monday night, Dec. 28, but on Monday night, Jan. 4, the meetings will be resumed at 7:30 o'clock, as usual. A large crowd is especially desired as re-election of officers and other business of importance will come before this meeting.

Income Tax Shows Wealth

The first complete compilation of returns under the Income Tax law was made public in Washington, D. C., in the annual report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. It showed returns for the collection year of 1913 by 357,593 individuals paying taxes aggregating $28,258,585, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Net Income, No. Returns. Rows include $1,000,000 and over, 500,000 to $1,000,000, 400,000 to 500,000, 300,000 to 400,000, 250,000 to 300,000, 200,000 to 250,000, 150,000 to 200,000, 100,000 to 150,000, 75,000 to 100,000, 50,000 to 75,000, 40,000 to 50,000, 30,000 to 40,000, 25,000 to 30,000, 20,000 to 25,000, 15,000 to 20,000, 10,000 to 15,000, 5,000 to 10,000, 3,333 to 5,000, 2,500 to 3,333.

80,763 UNMARRIED. Returns were made by 278,585 married persons, 65,212 single men and 28,551 single women. The normal tax of 1 per cent. on all taxable incomes produced $12,728,038. Incomes over $20,000 a year subject to surtax produced $15,525,498.

Of this latter amount $2,934,754 came from incomes of between $20,000 and $50,000, $1,645,639 from those between $50,000 and $75,000, $1,323,023 from those between $75,000 and $100,000, $3,835,948 from those between $100,000 and $250,000, $2,334,583 from those between $250,000 and $500,000 and $3,437,850 from those over $500,000.

Tables giving statistics for each collection district indicated plainly that most of the individuals with large net incomes live in the districts near the cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Detroit. Of the incomes over $500,000, New York collectors discovered 82, while Connecticut, where hundreds of New Yorkers live, produced five more. The first Illinois district showed returns from 13 individuals of this class; the first Michigan, six; the first Pennsylvania, eight; the Maryland, Massachusetts and first Missouri districts, each three.

More single women, as well as more single men paying the tax, were found in New York than anywhere else.

RECEIPTS GREATEST IN HISTORY. Total receipts of the bureau for the year, the Commissioner reported, were the greatest in its history, amounting to $880,000,994, of which $308,627,619 came from ordinary sources. He estimated the collections for the fiscal year ending next June at $439,000,000, of which $54,000,000 is to come from the war revenue tax and $80,000,000 from the income tax.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915, the estimates are $434,000,000. The Commissioner pointed out that "bootlegging" had increased to a marked degree in States with prohibition laws.

What Christmas Means.

Christmas means hope and its realization. The child grows eagerly expectant as the time approaches for the visit of Santa Claus. While this imagination remains unquestioned, the imagination opens new and wider worlds, and ideals become so much a part of the mind that the prosaic and commonplace can never crush them. Until the youth reaches manhood and independence, Christmas is the happiest day of the year. Its gifts and hearty good cheer impress family affection, parental thoughtfulness and brotherly love. The dullest and most irresponsible of fathers and mothers are uplifted to a vision of higher life by the interchanges of souvenirs and the merry meeting with children and grandchildren at the table and fireside. Few can escape and all enjoy the meaning of the festival, the lessons it conveys and the inspiration it gives, and we enter upon a brighter future and a fuller appreciation of the beneficence of the practice of faith, hope and charity. The loved ones who have crossed to the other side, the loved near and far who are still with us, the old homestead church whose sacred associations tie with their childhood, maturity and age, love, marriage and death; the school house where the beginnings of education were so painful, and the ever-increasing pleasures of the pursuit of learning through the high school, academy and college are recalled and recited, and there is exquisite delight in these oft told tales, and new experiences enliven this blessed anniversary.—Leslie's Weekly.

WHY THE YOUTH'S COMPANION SHOULD BE IN EVERY FAMILY.

"If I could take only one paper," said the late Mr. Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court, "it would be The Youth's Companion—a little of everything in a nutshell, and unbiased." The Companion is a family paper in the complete sense. It provides reading that, without failing to interest the young, still interests the mature. It unites young and old through their common enjoyment of delightful fiction, agreeable miscellany, and the clear exposition of public questions. So carefully is it edited, so varied are its contents, that it would easily supply a family with entertaining fiction, up-to-date information and wholesome fun, if no other periodical entered the house. If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is to-day, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1915.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for the fifty-two issues of 1915 will receive free all the remaining issues of 1914, besides a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1915. THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, 144 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass., New Subscriptions Received at this Office.

Miss Hicks attended a reception on Thanksgiving near Kennedyville, at which 40 guests were present. Eight of the 40 are now ill with typhoid, having contracted the disease from something they ate. This is stated as no reflection whatever upon the host and hostess of the occasion, as the disease is believed to have been contracted from eating some canned or other food which was purchased. Mrs. Earle Nicholas has been in a Baltimore hospital during the past week for special treatment. We are very glad to state that she is very much improved. Two weddings are booked for today, Saturday—one in Chestertown and one in Quaker Neck. Another will take place in Chestertown January 2, and still another January 5. Keep guessing. Hanukkah, the Feast of Illumination, also known as the Feast of Dedication or the Feast of the Maccabees has been celebrated by Jews in all parts of the world for the past eight days, commencing at sunset Saturday night. The feast commemorates the victories of the Maccabees of Biblical fame and the lasting of one day's supply of holy oil in the Old Temple at Jerusalem for eight days, at a time when a new supply could not be gotten. It is also celebrated as a memorial to the dedication of the altar, or purification of the sanctuary and is one of the most joyous festivals in Hebrew history.

Had Eight Sets of Twins. Squire Robert I. Mitchell, who visited his old home near Ridgeville recently, brought back a bit of rare news. The wife of West Graves, a negro of that section, has just presented her husband with the eighth consecutive set of twins. The young couple have been married about 13 years, and not having been tied by Squire Mitchell when he was a justice of the peace, a remarkable circumstance thereof is the fact that each set of twins was a boy and a girl. There are eight children living, one of each set having died.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

The Low Spread Spreader Will Appeal To You EVERY detail in the construction of the Low Spread manure spreader, you will be certain when you have examined the spreader, was designed because it increased the efficiency, the strength, or the simplicity of the machine. Thus, it is built low—only waist high—to save you a vast amount of energy. It is built of best steel, except for box sides, apron slats, etc., to make it stand all strain and all loads for years. The end gate to keep the beater from clogging, the heavy steel rear axle, the shields to cover working mechanism, the extra strong beater and apron drive mechanism, all tend to give you many years of perfect service. But you cannot really appreciate the features that have built up Low Spread reputation until you go over the spreader yourself. Come in and examine it as thoroughly as you like.
