LOCAL MATTERS

An Interesting Picture.—Messrs. C. W. Kibler & Son on Monday received pictures of Lieut. J. Thomas Kibler in his gas mask. Lieut. Kibler, who is in France, looks like a real soldier and said they were preparing to deal the Huns some telling blows.
Kent Boy Injured in France.—Another Kent county boy has suffered from the Huns. In the list of casualties reported last week was the name of Corporal E. R. Stouffer, reported as being slightly wounded. Mr. Stouffer was among the first to volunteer.
Special Call For Five Men.—The following five Kent men have been ordered to Camp Meade by the Government officials: Joseph O. Elburn, Rock Hall; W. Webster Hague, Chestertown; T. Melvin Kendall, Rock Hall; Ernest H. Strong, Chestertown; Edw. Farrell Bowen, Chestertown.

Prof. Ten Hor Leaves Today.—Prof. Martin Ten Hor, of Washington College, will leave Chestertown for Fort Oglethorpe today, Saturday, to take up his duties in the Officers Medical Training Corps for a course in military psychology. Prof. Ten Hor has been here four years. He has a brother with the allies in France.
An Erroneous Report.—Someone started a report of a great Allied victory on Monday night in Chestertown that reached such proportions that many predicted the war was good as over. The next day, however, when conditions at the front were found to be unchanged, a deep gloom settled over the jubilant ones.
Explosives Licensors.—Messrs. A. P. Rasin, Chestertown; James M. Sutton, Betterton; H. B. Massey, Massey; W. I. Jarvis, Millington; and S. E. Burgess, Edesville; have been appointed Explosives Licensors for Kent county. No person is allowed to handle explosives without first obtaining a license; the penalty for violation is very severe, and the law will be rigidly enforced.

Saw Great Battle of Airplanes.—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hicks received a letter from their son, Mr. Leon Hicks, who is in France, to the effect that he is well. Mr. Hicks says he recently saw a great sight when several airplanes engaged in a terrific battle near where he is stationed. The German planes being demolished.
Lieut. Kibler Injured.—Messrs. C. W. Kibler & Son received a telegram from the government officials on last Thursday that the former's son, Lieut. J. Thomas Kibler, had been slightly injured while in action on a France battlefield on March 18. We regret to announce this and trust that the injury may prove to be a minor one.
An Interesting Letter.—One of the most interesting letters that has appeared in a country paper in this state from the war zone appears on page 3 of this issue. It was written by Mr. Roland Crew, a Kent County man, who is with Uncle Sam's fighters "somewhere in France." The letter contains much information that is well worth reading.

Chestertown Colored Man Dies at Camp Meade.—Another of Kent's soldier boys, this time a young colored man, has passed into the great beyond. Dennis Bailey, son of John Bailey, a highly respected Chestertown colored man, died at Camp Meade of pneumonia Sunday after being ill for several days. His funeral took place at his father's home in Chestertown on Tuesday afternoon and he was interred in the Chestertown Colored Cemetery, near town. He had a government insurance policy for $100.
Brands Reports As Lies.—Rumors that the government intended eventually to commandeer canned goods, preserves and other home grown and home conserved foods have persisted with such dogged tenacity that the government has finally decided to combat this sneaking enemy propaganda by a series of emphatic denials. Within a short time placards will be placed in postoffices and other public places with the heading: "Do not be fooled by the lies of the enemy." In some sections of the south many ignorant citizens buried quantities of jams, jellies and smoked meats for fear the government would take them.

Miss Lourine Smith has been appointed to a fine clerical position in Washington at a salary of $1100 per year. Miss Smith took the recent Civil Service examination held here and made a good average.
"West Morrell," one of the best known of Kent county horses, died on Thursday. He was owned by Mr. G. W. Rash and was 22 years old. In his day he was one of the fastest step-ers in the county.
Those intending to attend the cantonment at the Armory in Baltimore next week had better secure their tickets from one of the local banks, as arrangements have been made for a special entrance at the Armory for country people, which will insure their admission.
Kent poultry raisers can now ship baby chicks by parcels post. They must be properly packed in regular chick-shipping boxes, and must be sent to points that will require not longer than 72 hours to reach.
Mr. Claude E. Truslow has one of the most beautiful 15-acre fields of rye in this section. Last winter he gave it a good dressing of straw and refuse from his chicken houses with the result that it now shows thick and beautiful.
Harry Gardner, colored, was arrested on Saturday night and placed in jail on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. Gardner was caught firing a pistol in Chestertown on Saturday night which created considerable excitement.
The government has allowed Mr. Marion Malcomb—who recently moved here from Harford, where the government took his big farm over to use as a part of the proving ground—to move his big barn, chicken house and sheds to his farm in Morgenc. This will be a big savings to Mr. Malcomb.
James Jones, one of Chestertown's barbers, had a live ground hog in his possession this week. This ground-hog was caught on the farm of Charles Leager. A large number of ground hogs have been caught in Kent this year. Dogs have since killed the ground-hog above mentioned.
Postoffice Inspector Mordecai S. Plummer, for the past twenty years connected with the postoffice department, has tendered his resignation from the federal government to take effect March 31. He will join the sales forces of the Fabricals Company. For a number of years he was inspector for this district.

Thrift and War Stamp Items
There has been 105 Thrift Clubs organized in Kent up to date, which includes 1450 members.
The Chestertown Postoffice has sold up to date $1500 worth of Thrift and War Stamps and it is safe to assume that with what has been sold by the other postoffices in the county the amount will reach $2,500.
W. C. NOTES
The students of the college were addressed last Sunday evening at the Y. M. C. A. meeting by Prof. Ten Hor. The student body was deeply touched by his farewell address.
Cadet Merritt Twiley is now acting as private secretary to Dr. James W. Cain.
The Cadets are now enjoying their Easter recess. They will renew their work next Wednesday, April 3.
A Splendid Tribute To The Ford Car
One of the strongest tributes which has ever been paid to the strength, flexibility and endurance of the Ford car comes from the pen of the Commander of the First Anglo-Serbian Field Hospital during the awful fight of the defeated Serbian Army. When she led her entire unit safely thru icy torrents and over snow-capped mountains—a terrible track of 800 miles to the outskirts of Belgrade.
"There was only one thing to be done," she says, "if the whole hospital was not to be taken by the enemy. The staff, who usually rode in the motors, must walk; the worst wounded must go in the motors, those who could crawl must crawl, and as for the others—"
"The road was abominable, with mud and holes and narrow and broken bridges. We were continually, all through the night, obliged to lift the wounded out of the ambulances and carry them over the dangers, while the motors—those wonderful Ford cars—performed acrobatic feats inconceivable to orthodox chauffeurs at home."

A Splendid Entertainment.—Under the direction of Misses Fannie Stuart, Rose Dwyer, Laura Thomas, Susie Dunbracco and Inez Russell, the children of Chestertown School held a pageant, "Maryland's Part in Our National Struggle" and were a credit to their instructors. The funds raised will enable this school to make each child a member of the Junior American Red Cross and also furnish some materials for their work.

LOCAL ITEMS OF INTEREST
