

LIKE BACON

YOU know how cooking brings out all the rich pungent flavor of bacon—there's nothing that tastes better. But you wouldn't like it raw.

IT'S TOASTED

So we toast the Burley tobacco used in LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes for exactly the same reason—to bring out the rich, solid flavor.

TELEPHONE TROUBLES

It sometimes happens that a telephone instrument or line gets out of order, just like any other machine or instrument, no matter how carefully regulated. When this occurs, please report the trouble immediately, using another telephone if necessary. We also ask you to use a reasonable amount of patience while the trouble is being cleared.

Bell telephone employees are constantly seeking to prevent trouble of any kind in the working of the equipment and to repair such troubles as soon as possible after they occur. But if you do not see a man actually working on your telephone, that does not mean that you are not receiving proper attention. The difficulty may be at the switchboard or in the cable.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, Md. April 11, 1918.

Messrs. Editors: The adjournment of the General Assembly transferred the center of political interest in Maryland to the Hotel Rennert where, during every week the men who, to a great extent control, or at least understand the political affairs of the commonwealth, gather from time to time, not only from the city, but also the leading public men from the several counties. Indeed scarcely a day passes but what one or more of the leading men of Maryland may be found here, and of the number includes dozens of citizens, officials and others whose views have great weight in the concentration of political sentiment and the selection of candidates for public office from that of governor down to members of the House of Delegates. Until the next meeting of the General Assembly, Rennert's will be the political headquarters—the place where plans are formulated, deals made, and candidates put up and knocked down, in the style of political games in all parts of the country.

And the talk here since the closing of the Legislature of 1918, now more than a week ago (and this among members of both parties, for Rennert's is the gathering place of both) has been largely confined to the effect of the recent session on the fortunes of the Democratic and Republican parties—which party gained, and which lost as a result of the 90 days work at Annapolis. And the strangest fact of all is the fact that neither Democrats nor Republicans seem disposed to claim any credit whatever for what was done; and there is almost unanimity of opinion that very little was done which was especially creditable to any one, or blamable on anyone. In other words, no one seems inclined to claim credit for the work of the session, or to admit that there was anything especially blamable for which responsibility should be placed on either party. There is no shouting from the house-tops by anyone, claiming credit or honor for any act passed at the recent session—no matter how important that act may be considered by the public at large. It was a nondescript session, composed largely of second rate, nondescript men, and as it was divided in its political control, most of the work done was of a nondescript character, for which neither party is willing to admit much credit. The chances are, therefore, that its acts of omission and commission will play very little part in the future party affairs of the State. No one deserves any special credit, no one deserves any special blame, and all should, therefore, rest content at the outcome and be thankful that it is all past and gone.

Indications are becoming more abundant every day that the gaps between the factions in the Democratic party are fast closing up and that before the next State election the party will be united once more, and ready to elect all State offices and a general assembly in January thereof in 1919. The settlement of the city extension problem has taken out of politics the most troublesome question and Democrats, both city and county, are beginning to talk of harmony and party unity as they have not talked for years. There is no reason for Democrats to engage in a struggle with their opponents the only chance they may have to win. With at least forty thousand majority of the registered voters of the State, there is no possible excuse for party defeat, and only the grossest mismanagement on the part of the leaders can bring about defeat. There are men able and wise to serve the party and there is no reason under the sun for the election of Republican legislatures, and Republican State officials, except through stupidity or treachery on the part of those at the head of the Democratic voters—who always prefer to vote for their own candidates, unless the leaders act in such a way as to prevent their doing so by the forced nomination of men utterly unfit for the places to which they aspire. If the present leaders cannot manage the party affairs so as to satisfy the rank and file they should be displaced by others who have the tact, skill and honesty to keep the party forces together, and present a solid front to the opposition. The Congressional election this year will be a good time to get together, preparatory to the State election next year, and, with a thoroughly united party, Maryland should send six Democrats to Congress the coming fall.

PAUL WINCHESTER.

Still Need Men

Maryland has taken a leading part in the events that have made the past year one of the most important in the history of the world. The State has not only given its men and money freely to help win the greatest struggle in the annals of civilization, but it has set a standard in the type of men sent to the front. On numerous occasions, officials of the United States Navy have taken the opportunity to speak words of praise for the kind of men Maryland is giving the Naval Branch of the Service. Nor will Maryland cease to send her loyal sons to the defense of the colors, until peace has been declared. There is yet need for young men in the Navy for the Seaman Branch and the Aviation Section, especially for men who are carpenters by trade. The Navy recruiting authorities at Baltimore are obtaining from the nearest postmaster; directly from the Navy Recruiting Station, Calvert and Lexington Sts., Baltimore, or from the Navy Recruiting Substations at Cumberland and Hagerstown.

—According to Adjutant General Warfield's letter to the local board, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Ford and two children, D. B. Jr. and Kathryn, of Chestertown, were guests last Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ahern.

A CHESTERTOWN MAN GIVES EVIDENCE

His Testimony Will Interest Every Chestertown Reader

The value of local evidence is indisputable. It is the kind of evidence we accept as true because we know we can prove it for ourselves. There has been plenty of such evidence in the Chestertown papers lately, and this straightforward testimony has established a confidence in the minds of Chestertown people that will not be easily shaken. S. F. Robinson, stationary engineer, Front street, Chestertown, says: "I was troubled with my kidneys and I suffered from backaches. The most annoying trouble was irregularity of my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them the best medicine I had ever taken. They gave me entire relief." (Statement given May 27, 1911.) On August 15, 1916, Mr. Robinson added: "I have had no kidney trouble since I was cured and haven't had to use Doan's Kidney Pills for a long time." Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Robinson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
