GRANGE NOTES

Kennedyville Grange will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday evening, May 7, instead of Monday evening, as usual.

The meeting will be in charge of the young people, and a pie and box social will be held.

A full attendance is anticipated. The proceeds will be used in payment of the two Liberty Loan bonds subscribed for by the Kennedyville Grange.

The first and second degrees were recently given to a class of students by the degree teams of the Grange, and the third and fourth degrees will be given in the near future.

MISS EMMA C. SHAFER, Press Cor. Kennedyville Grange.

ROCK HALL

Mrs. James Rodney recently visited a Baltimore physician with her baby, which has been sick for a long time.

Mrs. Walter Davis is quite indisposed from an attack of neuritis.

On Sunday morning Rev. T. C. Smoot based his sermon on the character of Barnabas, a good man and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith.

The Wilmington Conference Year Book is on sale and is of much interest and attractive in appearance.

Mrs. John E. Hadaway is the possessor of a handsome Ford Sedan.

Mr. Elbert Nickerson has sold his farm near Swan Creek. Mrs. Nickerson's health is still seriously impaired.

Miss Cora Moffett is suffering from a cold and is not able to be at her school-room.

Mrs. Nina Whaland Davis is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Lawrence Whaland, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Satterfield are the guests of Mrs. Henry Urie and Mrs. Ella Satterfield.

Mr. Raymond Hersh, employed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, spent the week-end with his family.

KENNEDYVILLE ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. John McCabe, Misses Selby and Eva Jewell and Mr. Primrose spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jewell.

Mrs. Cleaver is spending some time with Mrs. Charles Smith.

Mrs. Ida Dunlap and Master James Sadler, of Delaware City, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Othson.

Grange will not meet Monday evening, but will meet Tuesday evening, and also have a pie and a box social to help pay for a Liberty Bond. We hope to see a large crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spry spent Sunday at Church Hill.

Mr. Bonwell Dukes and mother spent the week-end with friends at Denton. Privates Ray Silcox and George Wiltbank spent Sunday home.

Mrs. Anna Wiltbank, of Wilmington, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wiltbank.

The stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley and left a little son. Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey spent Sunday with friends in Galena.

CLIFFS

A very enthusiastic Thrift Stamp Meeting was held at Mowbray Church last Sunday evening. Addresses were made by Messrs. A. A. Harris, County Chairman of Liberty Loan organization, and Howard Turner, Chairman of Thrift Stamp and War Savings Campaign for Kent County.

Excellent music was rendered by a select choir under the direction of Mr. Kemp Bordley. The duet by Messrs. Perkins and Monzani was excellent, as was also the violin solo by Mr. Bordley.

A Thrift Stamp organization was made and the following officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. Jerome; V. P., Mrs. Edgar Walbert; Secretary, Mr. O'Meara; Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Legg. Ten captains, five ladies and five young men, volunteered as captains of the local campaign. This means that we will hustle to do our best to put Kent County on the Honor Roll.

Handicraft of the Blind

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind stands for the betterment of the condition of those deprived of sight, along all lines. It aims to make this unfortunate class self-reliant, self-respecting and as far as possible, self-supporting; to help them to help themselves through work, and above all, not to pauperize them.

At the corner of Fayette and Paca streets, Baltimore, Maryland, may be found this excellent institution. Here, daily, like self-respecting citizens of the world, come one hundred and fifty blind men and women, who toil cheerfully and efficiently. Many of them are from the counties. To all are given equal opportunities, and the same handicap during instruction.

Here too, may be found competent and willing instructors, for the most part blind, who having mastered the difficulties which beset the blind, by example and precept, help others to overcome. Chair-caning, broom-making, weaving, basketry, and switch-board operating are some of the crafts taught.

We have one hundred men on our waiting list. To these will be added those, blinded in battle, who will come to us from "over there." The Government has decided to make Baltimore, the first station, and to send soldiers, after convalescence, to well-established, existing institutions.

Much may be said of the aptitude, infinite patience, and efficiency, of the blind.

Many of these men are heroes, who play their quiet part well, in these epoch making days. For them, no blare of trumpets, nor the lure of the battlefield, but, as surely, will they receive their "cross of war," their medal of praise, "good and faithful soldier, well done."

Visitors are assured of a cordial welcome. One visit to the well-lighted plant serves to convince the surprised patron of the excellence of the craftsmanship of the trained blind. Chairs are perfectly caned; no better brooms are manufactured anywhere; the same may be claimed for other finished products of their deft fingers.

"All work guaranteed" is true in fact as well as in theory. The customer who first comes from motives of sympathy, soon patronizes the institution for its marked efficiency.

Blind Broom Makers

A visit to the Broom Department of the Maryland Workshop for the Blind is its own reward. Too much cannot be said in commendation. One cannot fail to find inspiration in this place, located on the fourth floor of the building, a sunny, well ventilated place. Truly, those who enter here, blind, dependent and despondent, in a comparatively short time, emerge self-supporting, cheerful and with a new interest in life. Of course, it is WORK, patient, continuous, earnest effort, that brings about this magic change.

As early as seven in the morning, the men are in their places; they work until five P. M., with one hour for lunch and rest. Thirty-five are on the pay roll, including those in charge. Twenty-six of these are piece workers. One passes down aisles of busy men, no slacker here, sizing, sorting, wrapping, sewing, each man intent on his own work, brooms "to the right of us," brooms "to the left of us."

Most visitors pause to chat with cheerful Orrin Benson, deaf, dumb and blind, who sews with sure and rapid hand. He is interested at once, at the approach of friends and courteously produces a slate, on which are raised letters, or he forms the letters of the alphabet with one hand. A newspaper correspondent, who talked with him, reported him as having "giggled gleeefully" during the interview. His mind works quickly. He once asked a friend to tell him the difference "between a spinster and an old maid." The talk over, one is soon made to understand that he needs room to ply his long thread. Most people linger awhile, watching the busy, intent man, and lost in admiration of one, who has made so good a use of his own talent. This man is a patriot, has bought Liberty bonds, and contributes his bit to worthy charities.

Work, work, work! Behold the result of all this activity, the patient work of willing hands, three hundred dozen brooms per week, perfect brooms, no seconds among them. Would that we had a Thomas Hood to sing the song of the broom.

You leave with regret these busy, cheerful, efficient men, who have won a difficult race, with a heavy handicap; and you ask yourself the question, "could I have done as well as any of these?"

Navy Recruits Wanted

The growth of the United States Navy in the past year has been the subject of the most favorable comment by our Allies.

Never before in the history of the world has a naval force of any country been augmented so rapidly as has Uncle Sam's, without the slightest sacrifice of efficiency in organization.

Maryland has played a prominent part in the increase of our fighting forces on the seas, wherever our sailors go, the state that produced the author and birth-place of the national anthem is well represented.

Not the call for Navy recruits ceased. The Navy is not yet filled to its maximum authorized strength. There is still a need for more men to operate the ships we are sending across in defiance of the enemy submarines.

The principal need is for apprentice seamen. There is plenty of opportunity for advancement in this Branch, and the pay is increased accordingly.

Full particulars of Navy enlistments can be obtained from the nearest postmaster; directly from the Navy Recruiting Station, Calvert and Lexington Sts., Baltimore, or from the Navy Recruiting Substations at Cumberland and Hagerstown.
