Published Every Saturday Morning at Chestertown, Md.

Saturday, July 13, 1918

Entered at the Postoffice at Chestertown, Md., as Second Class Matter.

IT is currently reported that the government is considering the purchase of a large tract of land running from Betterton to below Tolchester and extending inland 8 miles from the bay shore for an army camp or proving grounds. No definite information could be obtained as to the authenticity of the rumor, however. In our opinion, there is nothing in the rumor.

Resolutions of Respect by Pomona Grange on Deaths of Sister Kelly and Sister Hepburn

Whereas God in His infinite wisdom has taken from among us our worthy lecturer and sister granger, Lillie D. Kelly, one to whom no effort or task was too great if it be for the good of the order, we feel that we should show our appreciation of our worthy sister.

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange has lost an untiring and useful officer and an honored member, one whose great intelligence was reflected in her programs, which were always very interesting and instructive.

Resolved, That this Pomona Grange extends to the bereaved husband and relatives our sincere sympathies in their sorrow and bereavement.

CLARA L. WILLIAMS,
HALLIE USILTON,
ANNIE REDMILE,
Committee.

Whereas God in His all-wise providence has plucked from our midst our dearly beloved sister, Selma Hepburn, one whose whole life was given to the uplift of humanity, one whose lovely character and gentle influence permeated the workings of our order.

Resolved, That with sad hearts we extend to her family and relatives our sincere sympathies and express our hope that in their sorrow they forget not that every cloud has a silver lining.

CLARA L. WILLIAMS,
HALLIE USILTON,
ANNIE REDMILE,

WEDDINGS

Miss Marcelle Olive Walters, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Walters, became the bride of Mr. Laurence Price Strong, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Highland, Md., last Saturday afternoon at 4.30. The bride, handsomely attired in a travelling suit and carrying bride's roses, attended by her cousin, Miss Louise Childs, as maid of honor, who carried pink roses, and two flower girls, Sallie Dorsey Pae and Mary Virginia Cecil, each carrying a bunch of sweet peas, were met at the altar by the groom, who was attended by his cousin, Mr. Albert Watkins, as best man, where she was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. R. Eugene Walters, the Rev. Frank Willis performing the ceremony. The ushers were Messrs. Louis Walter Dorsey and Willard Rankin Smallwood.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. T. Barclay Kilbourn, of Fairlee, also Mrs. Arthur Hurlock, of Cambridge, Md. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Strong, of near Lankford. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, at Fulton, Md., after which the happy couple left for Atlantic City for a short honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside at "Stephaney", the beautiful home of the groom's parents and which he tenants.

The Food Administration announces that the scarcity in supplies of salt-water fish on the Atlantic seaboard has largely been remedied and that hereafter on every day of the week until December some of the many varieties of salt-water fish will be available in the wholesale markets along the Atlantic Coast at prices ranging from four to six cents per pound.

Are The Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five largest meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was $121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit—a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales—or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packer's profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore—and this is very important—only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the businesses. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve—and solve quickly—during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance—with your banker, say—and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of others packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by-products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.
