THE LADIES' STORE,
CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND.

To All Mills in Maryland.—The following has been sent us by Edwin G. Baetjer, Federal Fuel Administrator of Maryland, for publication: The new requirements which limit the amount of wheat supplied to any customer, including farmers who bring their wheat to the mill to be ground into flour, provide that in no case shall an amount be given in exchange for wheat which exceeds a thirty days' supply. This thirty days' supply is based upon the new ration of one pound of wheat flour per person per week and in every case includes all wheat flour already in the possession of the person purchasing or exchanging wheat for flour.

DIVIDING THE GARBAGE TWIXT HOGS AND HUMS

Twenty-nine large American cities are in the Food Administration's bad books because they are throwing away garbage instead of getting out of it shells to whip the Huns and greases to work our guns.

These cities, with a combined population of over 5,000,000, are charged with wasting the following:—4,400,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, 40,000,000 twelve ounce cakes of soap, 60,000,000 tons of tankage, with sufficient fertilizer element to produce 3,000,000 bushels of wheat. Value of material wasted is put at $5,000,000.

Even the solitary little home which utilizes enough odd bits of fat to take the place of a bar of soap and releases that much grease from the market for military use may proudly boast that it is operating a miniature munition plant. Fats and grease are in such tremendous demand that every ounce counts.

Another saving is urged in the matter of feeding garbage to hogs. Figures from 300 cities of more than 10,000 population show that in transforming garbage into pork show that 50,000,000 pounds of pork is being produced. The Food Administration claims that it should be 100,000,000 pounds and that the loss of 50,000,000 is due to poor separation of the garbage and the mixing of inedible materials. More than 350 American cities are not feeding garbage to hogs and the loss so entailed is 60,000,000 pounds of pork.

THE SUGAR EQUATION.
Hoover says, THREE POUNDS OF SUGAR A MONTH.
Three pounds—150 teaspoonfuls—22½ lumps.

As substitutes for white sugar there are these seven varieties of sweeteners—brown sugar, maple sugar, maple syrup, honey, molasses, corn syrup, and such dried sugar fruits as figs, prunes and dates. The first three are a little less sweet than white cane sugar, but have more flavor and may be substituted cup for cup in recipes.

"FANK U MERIKA"
School Tot Writes Hoover
London.—When Herbert Hoover, the U. S. Food Administrator, reached this country he was overwhelmed with tokens of British appreciation of what the girls of the United States have been doing to support the Allied cause through an unflinching food supply. But by none was he more touched than the little notes of thanks written by twelve hundred pupils of the London County School, at Harlesden. The school children of Maryland may well be proud of what their patriotic sacrifice has done to keep hunger away from their far-off school mates. Here are some of the notes:

"Fank U Merika." (Authoress aged four.)

"Please thank everyone in America for helping us to win the war by eating less food." (Authoress aged eight.)

"We British children think you American men, women and children are just splendid." (Author aged nine.)

"We should have gone hungry to school if it hadn't been for Mr. Hoover." (Author aged twelve.)

"President Wilson has chosen the most capable man in the world to be its Food Controller." (Authoress aged thirteen.)

Sir William Goode, Mr. Hoover's representative in London, says: "These little letters from British school children will make an excellent impression upon the children of America and their parents. They will further help to draw closer the ties that unite the two great democracies."

CONCERNING CHEESE.

Cheese contains about one-third water, one-third body-building material, and one-third fat, as well as valuable mineral salts.

Its advantages as a war food are: Cooking is unnecessary. Appetizing flavor. Absence of waste. Good keeping qualities. Small storage space required.

LENTIL SAUSAGES.

(Official recipe.)
Lentils, one-half pound; potatoes, boiled and peeled—three pounds, onions chopped and fried, milk or white of egg, fat for frying.

Wash, strain, and place lentils in boiling water, boil them about 30 minutes just covered with water; when soft mash them, add the potatoes and chopped onion, and mix well. Form into sausages, dip into white of egg and fry.

These ingredients also make a good oottage pie.

WAR GARDENS MADE GOOD.

Potatoes were a luxury in England little more than a year ago. Then came the wholesale planting of potatoes in back yards and small garden plots and fields all over the country. Farmers and professional market gardeners laughed at the agricultural efforts of people who had never wielded a hoe before. The wisecracks predicted stupendous failures of the crops these laywers, showmakers, newspaper reporters, and cartoonists were trying to raise. But the know-it-alls were wrong and the amateur gardeners harvested so heavy a crop that there were two hundred thousand tons of potatoes over and above the country's requirements.

Potato bugs are unknown in England which, in pre-war days, often shipped the surplus of bumper potato crops to the United States.
