LOCAL MATTERS

Circus Coming.—Cook Brothers Circus, a wild west show, will be here on Tuesday, October 7. See advertisement for particulars. A wild west circus is always interesting.

Wins Rat-Killing Contest.—William Loller, Jr., has been declared the winner of the Rat-Killing Contest, which was conducted last winter. He received $25. Mr. W. W. Hubbard gave the prize. Young Loller killed 281 rats.

Should Observe Auto Laws.—State Road Officer Olin B. Stafford tells us that many automobilists are not observing the state law regarding headlights on automobiles. He says that the law is plain regarding them and demands that he see that it is observed by automobile owners.

Tractor Wheel Breaks His Arm.—Mr. Hynson Loud, one of our progressive young farmers, had the misfortune to have his arm broken on Friday while driving a tractor along the road. The machine struck an obstruction and the vibration of the steering wheel caused the accident.

Mr. Beck Chairman.—Gov. Harrington one day last week announced the promotion of W. W. Beck, Esq., to be chairman of the State Tax Commission to succeed the late A. P. Gorman. J. Enos Ray, Jr., was appointed a member of the commission to succeed Mr. Beck. The appointments became effective at once.

Tuesday Was Registration Day.—Registration of voters in Kent county began on Tuesday last. Next Tuesday there will be another sitting for the purpose of registering new names and issuing transfers. On Tuesday, Oct. 14, there will be a further meeting of the registration officials for revision of their books but no new names will be added on that date.

A Serious Accident.—A very serious accident happened at Galena on Sunday evening. Ada, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mulford, was on the sidewalk coming in town with some other girls, when they met a bicyclist, the little girl being struck by it with force, breaking the bone in one limb in two places, below the knee and shattering the same. She was taken to Elkton Hospital.

St. John's Football Team Here Next Saturday.—The football season at the college will open next Saturday, Oct. 11, with St. John's College. The game will take place on the local gridiron, which has been put in fine shape for the event, which is always one of the leading athletic events of the year at the college. While Washington College has an inexperienced light team, Coach Kibler has developed some good team work among them and he has a way of bringing out everything in a team. Consequently we look for Washington College to put a team against their old rivals that will surprise them. Coach Kibler's teams defeated St. John's at nearly all athletic contests before the war broke up the sports at the colleges of the state.

Moving Time For Pullets.—October is the moving time for the pullets which must be transfered from the range to their winter quarters, and this must be done as soon as possible so that they may become accustomed to their cold weather quarters before the time to lay. Too many poultry raisers neglect this important feature of the business year after year.

The Fountain Trial.—State's Attorney C. J. Butler, of Talbot Co., is taking steps to contest the right of the Court of Appeals to fix the court at which the negro Fountain is to be given a new trial. Mr. O'Dunne, Fountain's lawyer, wants him tried in Baltimore. The Court of Appeals will meet on Oct. 6 and hear the arguments of the attorneys.

Officers Of Athletic Committee At W. C.—The election of officers of the Athletic Committee at W. C. resulted as follows: Pres., L. M. Gorsuch; V. P., H. D. Norris; Sec., T. S. Davis; Treas., H. C. Wickard; the election of baseball manager resulted as follows: Mgr., L. M. Gorsuch; Asst. Mgr., F. Ayres, Jr.; the election of the Collegian staff rsulted as follows: H. C. Wickard, editor-in-chief; H. R. Rasin, associte editor; Frank Ayres, Jr., business mgr.; Lake Vane, asst. bus. mgr.

Will Hogs Be Cheaper?—There is considerable talk of cheaper hogs for this winter and cheaper corn. But we can't understand how this can happen with farmers losing their hogs by the hundreds from cholera and paying as high as $5.50 per day and board for cutting corn. These conditions should keep both the price of hogs and the price of corn well up, coupled with the high prices that the farmers have been compelled to pay for everything they have used to make a crop of corn.

Clocks Go Back October 26.—The clocks of the country will be turned back October 26. Many persons in the county and state were under the impression that the daylight savings plan ended on October 1. This is not true. The clocks and watches are not to be turned back an hour until Sunday morning, Oct. 26, at 1 o'clock. At that hour the timepieces will be put back to 12 o'clock. Due to Congress passing a bill, doing away with the daylight-saving plan, there will be no more turning of clocks ahead or back in the future.

Hunting Season Approaching.—While the squirrel season in Kent Co. closed last Tuesday, the "real hunting season" opens November 10, when quail, squirreis and rabbits may be killed. Every man who carries a gun into the field this fall should observe the following rules: Never shoot at anything until you know what it is; never carry a loaded gun in a vehicle or boat; never point a loaded gun at any human being or anything else; never drink intoxicating liquors when gunning; never draw a gun toward you muzzle first; never forget to be careful at all times.

Herd of Deed On Peninsula.—Along the banks of the Indian River, in the lower part of Sussex county, Delaware, a herd of deer are said to have taken quarters. Where they came from no one knows, but many believe they have migrated from Virginia, North Carolina or possibly Pennsylvania. In the early summer two were seen in a wood near Piney Grove, four miles from there, and three were seen a short time before in Nanticoke district. It is thought that they finally herded along the Indian River, where there is fine grazing.
