CHORAL UNIONS

To Be Organized By President Gould, Of Washington College—All Residents Of Chestertown And The County Interested In Music Are Invited To Join

Plans are being perfected by President Gould, of Washington College, for the organization of a new musical club which will combine the muiscal forces of the town, county and college in one large organization. The club will be patterned after the choral unions established at prominent universities and colleges and will have for its principal purpose the presentation of a series of concerts, both by the organization itself and by visiting artists and organizations who are to appear under its auspices.

Invitations are being issued through the newspapers, and by letter to those who are personally known to the directors, of all interested in vocal and instrumental music to attend the first rehearsal of the club to be held on Tuesday night, October 14, at 8 o'clock, at the college, in the auditorium of William Smith Hall. No membership dues will be levied and no financial responsibility will be attached to membership in the organization. Rehearsals will begin at eight o'clock and will last one hour.

The organization will be under the leadership of Professor Marten Ten Hoor, under whose direction an orchestra is also being formed, which will include instrumentalists of the town and college and which will work in conjunction with the Choral Union. Prominent musical people of the town have already promised support of the new organization and all indications are that Chestertown will again place itself prominently on the musical map of the Eastern Shore.

All residents of Chestertown and nearby towns who are interested in vocal and instrumental music are cordially invited to attend the first rehearsal of the College Choral Union, to be held Tuesday, October 14, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of William Smith Hall.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CANDIDATES VISIT KENT COUNTY

Large And Enthusiastic Mass Meeting Held at the Lyceum Theatre, Chestertown, Thursday Evening.

A largely attended meeting of representative Democrats from every part of Kent county gathered at the Lyceum Theatre Thursday evening to welcome the state candidates and hear from them direct the issues of the present campaign discussed. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Robert Moffett, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, who named Mr. W. B. Copper chairman of the meeting. Mr. Copper, in his usual pleasing manner, spoke of the splendid qualifications of the local candidates for the various positions for which they have been nominated and expressed the opinion that they would unquestionably be elected on Tuesday, November 4. He introduced Mr. W. F. Russell, our local candidate for the State Senate, as the first speaker. Mr. Russell, though not well, made a short talk. We all know Will can talk when he is in trim, but as he said, a pig had gotten the better of him, by his having eaten a little too much of it and that he could only make a brief talk. He spoke very complimentary of the state candidates and approved the State Democratic Platform.

Chairman Copper then introduced Mr. Keating, candidate for Attorney-General. Mr. Keating stated that the state candidates based their claims for election on their public record and by that record they stood, win or fall.

E. Brooke Lee, candidate for Comptroller, was the next speaker. He referred to the excellent record of Attorney-General Albert C. Ritchie, candidate for Governor, and stated that no man in the state had a better public record than Mr. Ritchie. That he was aggressive and fearless when confronted by a public duty. He referred to his excellent services given the citizens of Baltimore city in his fight for cheaper and better gas and electricity for that city and had saved its people thousands of dollars from overcharges.

Attorney-General Ritchie was next introduced. Mr. Ritchie was very modest in reference to himself. He promised that if elected he would be on the job and give the state the best that was in him. He approved of the platform and stated that the provisions therein would be carried out to the letter. He favored the continuation of good roads and better schools.

The state candidates, accompanied by W. B. Copper, S. Scott Beck and some of the local candidates, made a tour through the upper part of the county Thursday morning and were most favorably received wherever they went by all elements of the Democratic party.

With the Democratic party united, Kent should give a substantial Democratic majority this fall.
