THE EMBLEM OF HUMANITY
CARING FOR POOR WOMAN IN TENEMENT

The district or visiting nurse, who makes regular rounds without charge to her patients, advising her about the care of the baby and about sanitation or dietetics, is sorely needed in thousands of communities in the United States—in both town and country Upon the success of the Red Cross membership campaign—the roll call of Americanism and humanitarianism—November 2 to 11, will partially depend the extent to which the American Red Cross will be able to carry on such work. Enroll now as a worker at the local Red Cross Headquarters.

JAPAN'S SMALL RICE GARDENS

In Comparison With America's Miles of Farms They Might Almost Be Termed Laughable.

Almost one-half of the land capable of cultivation in Japan is planted in rice. Handkerchief gardens would perhaps best describe the little rice fields, many of which are no larger than a tennis court, are equally flat and are surrounded by rims of earth to hold the water when the fields are flooded.

The average rice field in Japan is about one acre and a half in size; but large or small, each field must be leveled and each must have its rim or dike. There must be a system of canals to bring water to the fields and another system of ditches to take it away when it is no longer needed.

It is said that there are 12,000 square miles of rice land in Japan, the greater part of which has been prepared with an almost infinite amount of labor. That area of land cultivated in rice virtually feeds a nation of 50,000,000 people.

EMINENTLY FITTED FOR JOB

Society Matron, Trying to "Do Her Bit," Had Distinct Laugh on Ill-Natured Farmer.

Society is having a delightful giggle over a story now going the rounds and of which Mrs. Mackay is heroine. Seems that with several other prominent women of the 400, she went in for farmeretting on Long Island, and the brigade was assigned to a farm whose owner had always had a grudge against the rich. He thought that now was his opportunity and approaching Mrs. Mackay said: "The first thing I'd like you to do is clean out the pigsties. Think you can manage it?"

Imagine his amazement and chagrin when the multimillionairess social arbiter smiled and cooed: "Certainly; at home I always attend personally to cleaning out the bird cage."

Heroism That Is Real.

For heroism when the engine room of his ship was filled with live steam, Niels Anderson, chief machinist's mate, United States navy, has been given official commendation. The act occurred when the exhaust lines of the steering engine were carried away by the breaking of the tiller, causing the engine room to fill with steam. Without hesitation Anderson went down a ladder to the compartment, but was driven back. Again he made two more attempts. The third was successful, and, groping his way through the cloud of steam, he cut it off. Anderson enlisted in the navy at Norfolk, Va., in April, 1898, giving as his home address 2420 South Broad street, Philadelphia.

Our Limited Resources.

We should put out of our minds the idea that we have stores of accumulated wealth upon which to draw for war supplies. England had such stores, but we have not. When England went into the war she had great stores of outstanding legal claims upon the working organization of the outside world. She had also an established credit that enabled her to gear into her own working system the industrial power of the United States and many other neutral countries. We are devoid of any comparable resources. We have no capital to throw at the enemy. We have nothing to throw but our current income.—Charles Ferguson in Humanitarian.

Why the Lambs Cried.

Bobby was having his first experience on his grandfather's farm at sheep-shearing time. The men had the lambs separated from their mothers and turned them back into the flock at night, and there was the usual great commotion. Bobby went to his mother and said: "Mother, do you know what makes the lambs bleat so tonight?" Upon her telling him she did not know, he proceeded to explain: "The lambs are crying because grandfather skinned their mothers today and they cannot tell which one they belong to."

All Appropriate.

The match shortage in England is used by the British press to recall a story of the well-known firm of Bryant & May, match manufacturers. One day when they were in the heyday of their prosperity the senior partner, Mr. Bryant, dressed in the height of fashion, drove a spanking team onto the Ascot race course.

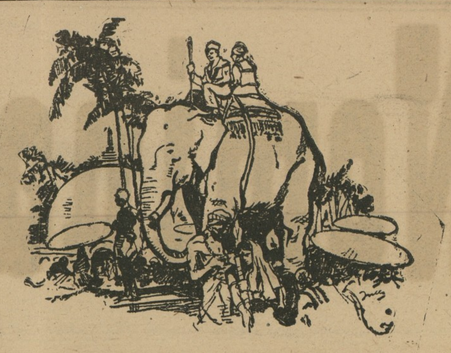

"Halloa!" exclaimed a wit, pointing to the horses, "Bryant's got his match there."

"Yes, and Bryant himself looks very striking on the box."

A Stranger's Mistake.

"Mr. Bibbles! You were intoxicated last night. I saw you zigzagging all over the street."

"Merely the result of misapprehension. I didn't know the painted white lines were for automobiles. I thought they were for the guidance of pedestrians."

Give the world the once over

LISTEN, fellows, to some straight talk. Many a man when he gets to be 40, misses something. He may have lots of money, and a fine family but—

He never "got out and saw things". After he gets settled down, it's too late.

Every man wants to see the world. No man likes to stand still all his life. The best time to TRAVEL is when you're young and lively—right NOW!

Right NOW your Uncle Sam is calling, "Shove off!" He wants men for his Navy. He's inviting you! It's the biggest chance you'll ever get to give the world the once over!

The Navy goes all over the world—sails the Seven Seas—squints at the six continents—that's its business. You stand to see more odd sights, wonderful scenery and strange people than you ever dreamed of.

You'll work hard while you work. You'll play hard while you play. You'll earn and learn. You'll get, in addition to "shore-leave", a 30-day straight vacation—which is more than the average bank president can count on.

You can join for two years. When you get through you'll be physically and mentally "tuned up" for the rest of your life. You'll be ready through and through for SUCCESS.

There's a Recruiting Station right near you. If you don't know where it is, your Postmaster will be glad to tell you.

Shove off!-Join the U.S.Navy
