FOOTBALL SEASON NEARLY OVER

Washington College Loses To Gallaudet—Harvard and Yale Ready For Today's Big Game—C. H. S. In Clash With Easton

The football season at Washington College ended on Saturday afternoon with a defeat by Gallaudet College by the score of 33 to 10. Washington's defeat came again as a result of lack of real experience in the game, for the visiting team gained four of their five touchdowns by intercepting Washington's forward passes and rushing over the line with the ball, in every instance with nearly a clear field before them and several times with the ball in the center of the field. The score does not indicate accurately how evenly the teams were matched. In fact, we believe that an accurate measurement of the distance gained by the two teams would show that Washington College gained more than did Gallaudet.

The first half ended with Washington College in the lead by the score of 7 to 6 and looking the best team. They had gained more consistently and held their opponents safe and looked the winner. But an intercepted pass by Gallaudet in the third period gave them the lead, but even then the aggressive Washington College team did not relax their efforts and threatened to tie the score at any time. But Gallaudet's line held at critical times in this period and the local Collegians were held.

Washington College entered the last and final period determined to plant the standard of victory on the Washington College field for once this year anyhow. The only way to do this was by the aerial route and the home team immediately began to attack brilliantly. But the rally was short-lived and Gallaudet intercepted three forward passes in this period and ran them for touchdowns.

The all-around work of Washington College was a decided improvement over all the other games of the past year. The offensive and defensive work of Robbins was the feature of the game. He gained ground by line plunges consistently and tackled hard and sure. Ballard's field goal and his kicking throughout was far better than his opponent and shows that Washington College will have a kicker to depend on in the future.

Taken altogether, the game was the best played here this season and shows the result of the weeks of expert and efficient coaching that Coach Kibler has given them.

Princeton's defeat of Yale on Saturday by the score of 13 to 6 was another case of an alert player taking advantage of an opportunity at a critical time. Both teams, as a whole, were evenly matched, but this individual, brilliant performance won for Princeton.

The writer picks the following winners for today's big events: Johns Hopkins over St. John's; Harvard over Yale; Pittsburg over Washington and Jefferson; Swarthmore over Haverford; Lafayette over Lehigh; Maryland State over Western Maryland.

It looks like Maryland State College will win the state football championship again this year. Thus far they have clearly demonstrated their superiority over the other teams and it only remains for them to defeat Hopkins on Thanksgiving day to win. Hopkins will, however, put up a strong game. We look for Maryland State to defeat them.

The football team of the Chestertown High School, which has reached such an efficient state through the efforts of Coach Wheatley, lined up again the Easton High School team yesterday afternoon. We went to press before the contest ended.

Harvard and Yale will play today, Saturday, at Cambridge, Mass. This game is nearly always looked upon as the great football classic of the year. This year, however, with Yale beaten twice and Harvard tied, the game will lose much of the glamor that has marked the contest in the past.

The Chestertown High School football team won handily from the Easton High School football team at Easton on last Tuesday by the score of 13 to 0. An intercepted forward pass by Armstrong paved the way for the first touchdown, a forward pass by H. Russell to E. Russell on Easton's ten-yard line making the first score. The second touchdown came as a result of Armstrong carrying the ball to Easton's 1-yard line on a long run and Townshend carrying the ball over. The all-around good playing of the Chestertown boys was the feature of the game. Armstrong kicked Chestertown's only goal.

—Mr. Harry Bennett and family will remove to Wilmington where he has secured a lucrative position.
