COMMENT OF INTEREST TO OUR LOVERS OF SPORT IN MANY BRANCHES

The biggest fight of the year in the baseball world this season is between Williams, of St. Louis, Miller of the Phillies, and Ruth, of the New York Yankees, for home run honors. Williams is at present setting the pace for the others. Baker, of the Yanks, also promises to keep close to the leaders and may show them something that will surprise them before the season closes.

Mr. Isaac Gibbs, of Massey, is playing first base for Middletown, Del., this year.

Millington lost to Price at baseball recently by the score of 9 to 5.

Washington College will tackle the crack University of Pennsylvania baseball team next Tuesday on Washington Field. This will be the biggest game of the season. Baseball fans will remember with interest the great game that was played between the two teams last year, which was, in some respects, the greatest game ever played here. Bush Wright, who twirled such a wonderful game against this team last year, will again oppose them on the mound and will be in condition to pitch the game of his life. Wright is good for about one game a week. His arm seems to weaken when worked harder than that In condition, Wright is one of the best twirlers who has played baseball here, and, from all reports, he is in fine condition. Over a thousand witnessed the game last year. We hope the same number will be present next Tuesday and encourage Wright in his effort to turn back the University of Pennsylvania aggregation, in spite of the fact that the team that will support him is playing away below the form of the Washington College teams of recent years.

The Eastern Shore Baseball League opened its season yesterday, June 9. Fans in the towns where the league will play are in a high state of excitement, but in the other towns on the Shore the Eastern Shore League is causing no more comment than the ripple caused by a pebble cast into the Pacific.

Captain J. Thomas Kibler has decided not to manage the Cambridge baseball team. During the war Captain Kibler, who served his country so well upon the battlefield, lost the third finger on his right hand from a German bullet. This has always been a tremendous handicap to him in fielding, while his batting has not, apparently, been affected. Recently, however, it has caused him considerable inconvenience after a game and his doctor has advised against him playing the game. Cambridge was very anxious to have the services of Captain Kibler, as they realized his ability on the field and on the bench, and wanted him to manage the team without playing. This Captain Kibler declined to do. Capt. Kibler is actively engaged in business in Chestertown with his brother, and, coupled with his duties as athletic instructor at Washington College, keeps him on the job pretty actively. He has been a baseball player of extraordinary ability in the past, and can still play the game, being one of the most opportune hitters that we have ever seen. He managed the clubs at San Antonio, Texas, and San Francisco, Cal., and had he not had the misfortune to have broken his leg in the zenith of his career, the Eastern Shore would probbaly have had the honor of producing another player who would have ranked with Baker and Herzog.

Kennedyville defeated Chestertown Tuesday at Kennedyville, 9 to 4. The Kennedyville baseball team plays remarkable baseball, when you consider the amount of practice which they are able to get. The team, year after year, gives a good account of itself on the diamond. It is almost always composed of young men who work on farms and are unable to get the proper training which develops first-class teams. But in spite of this handicap they are always hard to beat, and usually win a great majority of their games. Their fielding, as a whole, is not up to the standard set by their batting. They always have sluggers, with a keen eye for the ball, and it takes a good pitcher to hold them down. When Kennedyville plays a team you can always look for a hard-fought game.

Owners Claim Page "Makes Good"

Recently a run was made from Philadelphia to Pittsburg and return as a result of a friendly discussion relative to Paige 6-66 performance, which occurred at the dinner table daily between Mr. S. B. Lisk, of Riverton, N. J., and Mr. E. A. Oppelt, Camden, N. J. and a number of their friends. Mr. Lisk and Mr. Oppelt made rather strong claims for their Paige cars, and they insisted it could be done—their friends doubted them, in fact, they said it couldn't—in order to "make good" their claims—the former said they would prove it, and they did—the following is a story of the results:

They checked out at the Bellevue Stratford behind the wheel of Mr. Oppelt's Paige 6-66 at 3.45 a. m. on May 12, drove up to the Wm. Penn Hotel, Pittsburg, at 2 p.m., May 12. They were held up on the Columbia Bridge for 1-2 hour and it was necessary to stop at Gettysburg for fifteen minutes for oil and gasoline—the actual running time between Philadelphia and Pittsburg being nine hours and thirty minutes.

After being properly registered so as to leave no room for further doubt as to Paige performance, these Paige enthusiasts left Pittsburg at 5 p. m. May 12 and were checked in at the Bellevue-Stratford at 3 a. m. May 13 by the same porter who checked them out,and who was rather inclined to doubt that they had been to Pittsburg at all until they produced the undisputable proof.

On the return trip they were delayed at both Chambersburg and Bedford; once for a light lunch and again for gasoline and oil. One of the stipulations of the run was that it was to be made throughout in high gear. No repairs or adjustments were necessary. Forty gallons of gasoline was consumed on the entire trip, making an average of fifteen miles to the gallon.

When they checked out at the Bellevue-Stratford the speedometer register read 7102. When they checked in it registered 7709—deducting all delays. The actual running time of the entire trip was 19 hours and 30 minutes, averaging 31.1 miles per hour—seven hours of which was night driving through the mountain section and more than a hundred miles was made in a driving rain.

One of the First

There was a time when an automobile dealer considered the sale of the car as his entire responsibility to his customer.

But in the nature of things it developed that the automobile owner needed more than a new car to be entirely happy.

We are proud of the fact that we were among the first to recognize and accept the dealer's responsibility for the satisfaction of the owner.
