WASHINGTON COLLEGE LOSES TO ANCIENT RIVALS IN A GREAT CONTEST—TO PLAY THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY TODAY

The Washington College football team, almost wholly recovered from last Saturday's big game with the St. John's team, will line up again Catholic University, at Washington, today. The game should be a close one. Catholic University will likely present a heavier team than Washington.

The world's baseball series ended on Monday, when the Giants won the deciding game. Five games were played, the Giants getting four, and one was a tie. The Yanks put up the poorest exhibition of baseball ever exhibited in a world's series contest.

The Chestertown High School football team, under the guidance of Coach Atwater, lined up against the Washington College Scrubs yesterday afternoon on Washington Field. The High School team will be composed of the lightest team that ever represented the school this year.

Quite a number from Chestertown witnessed the professional football contest in Baltimore Sunday in which Thomas F. Healey, Esq., of Chestertown, is teh coach of the Baltimore Professionals. Mr. Healey played tackle for the team and gave a good account of himself. Coach Healey's team will play the Marine team tomorrow. These games are preliminary to the big games that are to come in the near future. Coach Healey understands the football game and can also play it.

It is not generally known that persons hunting raccoons or oppossums are required to have a hunter's license, but such is the case. Deputy Game Wardens have received a letter from the State Game Warden calling attention to the provision of the law requiring persons hunting game on which there is an open and closed season to procure a hunter's license to so hunt or kill. It is also unlawful for any person to set, place, keep or maintain any steel traps, or similar devices within the county for the purpose or catching these animals.

The St. John's "jinx," an almost perpetual visitor at every Washington College-St. John's football contest in the past twenty years, followed the game last Saturday over the sodden sward at Annapoils for almost four periods of hard-fought football before it found its opportunity to put in its work. The game seemed won by Washington; the score was 3-2 (sounded like a baseball score); the Kent county rooters had screamed themselves hoarse when Cavanaugh had given them the lead with a neatly placed drop-kick between the posts in the last quarter; only four more minutes remained to be played. Washington kicked off to St. John's; the ball was slippery from long playing in a drizzle. Here was the opportunity and up jumped the jinx and got in his work. Cavanaugh failed to get the ball half the distance he would have had the ball been dry. The poor kick, flying low, went into the waiting arms of Kirkpatrick, the fleetest runner on the team. The jinx was in his glee as Washington, exhausted from the constant pounding of a heavier team, fell back to the shadow of their posts and finally succumbed. In spite of the herculean efforts of Washington's men, St. John's and the jinx had won again.

But the game was one of thrills and excitement and the fans from here who witnessed the heroic efforts of Washington's team to outplay a superior and a heavier aggregation, will never forget the spectacle. Washington was keyed for the contest and went into it filled with the desire and the hope to win. Coach Kibler had instilled in his team an eternal spirit to win, but human efforts can be carried to a certain pinnacle, then it falls back beaten in face of superior strength or superior numbers.

Washington's team, however, covered itself with glory and was a credit to the efforts of the trainer and instructor.

St. John's made their score in the first quarter when Cavanaugh was thrown back of his own goal line, as the result of a slippery ball.

Then came two scoreless quarters, when two mud-begrimed elevens struggled back and forth over the slippery field.

The fourth quarter was one of real thrills, when Washington made a drive for St. John's goal line which placed the ball on the five yard line, on the second down. It appeared that Washington College would surely score. St. John's, however, presented such a defense that Washington was unable to penetrate it for the desired distance. On the third down, with Keenan back, and two yards to go to a touchdown, the ball was fumbled and went into play again on St. John's ten yard line. Cavanaugh then dropped back and kicked a beautiful field goal, placing Washington College in the lead, 3-2, and the game, apparently, being won.

Both elevens seemed exhausted, as play was resumed, but St. John's having a wealth of material on hand, sent in reserves, and playing in better form than Washington, snatched a well-earned victory from what looked like a sure defeat.

The following started the game for Washington College: Reiger and Carroll, ends; Duffy and Fiore, tackles; Keenan and Monahan, guards; Kelly, center; Crowe, Cavanaugh, Galvin and Bankard, backs.

Oliver W. Stoops, 624 W. High St., Chestertown, says: "I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back got so lame and stiff I could hardly keep at my work. When I stooped, it was all I could do to straighten again. The action of my kidneys was irregular and for two or three weeks I was almost past going. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills helping others and bought some at Toulson's Drug Store. They were what I needed and soon fixed me up. I have had no return of the trouble."

BRICE'S MILL
JOSEPH BRICE, Proprietor.
Bake things he likes with FLAVO FLOUR. It's healthful and tissue building. There is more nutrition and a sweeter taste in FLAVO FLOUR. It is made with a new process by the most modern mill in the world. Nature's food values and the delicious flavor of the wheat are not milled out as they are by other methods. FLAVO FLOUR is milled at home from home wheat. It is good. Buy it and patronize Home Industry.
