SPORTS

The Chetsertown High School football team and Elkton High School football team were playing on Washington Field yesterday when we went to press.

One of the hardest-fought football games of the entire season was being played at Washington, D. C., yesterday, Friday, when we went to press—Navy vs. Penn State. Penn State had perhaps the best team of the East last year and have a good team this year, but have many cripples. To wipe out the stain of last Saturday's defeat by U. of P., Navy will throw its full strength against Penn State in an attempt to crush them.

Washington College's football team is considerably crippled for the game today with Mt. St. Mary's. It is doubtful if Cavanaugh, the star quarter, will be in the line-up, and while a number of the best players of the aggregation will be in the scrimmage, they will go in with a lot of the edge taken off their work by injuries.

We pick these winners of the big games for today:

Washington 3, Mt. St. Mary's 0 (with Cavanaugh in the game).

Navy 13, Penn State 7 (Friday).

Lafayette 20, Washington and Jefferson 7.

Yale 14, Brown 0.

Princeton 13, Swarthmore 0.

Milk Meeting

There will be a county-wide milk meeting held in the Court House, Chestertown, on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 7.30 p. m., at which Mr. H. D. Allebach will address the milk producers of Kent County. The meeting is being called by Mr. Edgar Pennington, our director of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association in co-operation with County Agent Derrick, in the interest of the milk industry of Kent County.

Crossing Accidents

In spite of the most extensive educational campaign against railroad crossing accidents ever carried on, figures just completed by the Insurance Department of the Pennsylvania R. R. System show that in June, July and August of this year such casualities increased to 30 per cent as compared with last season. The period covered embraces the first three months of the "National Careful Crossing Campaign," in which railroads of the United States have joined in efforts to make plain the deplorable results of carelessness. During the three months, on the Pennsylvania system alone, there were 107 accidents at crossings, in which 71 persons were killed and 115 injured. That this year's increase in these casualities is chargeable almost entirely to growth in the reckless and inexperienced driving of autos, is shown by the face that casualities at highway crossings from all other causes combined decreased.

Halloween Celebrated

Halloween was more elaborately observed in Chestertown this year than perhaps ever before in the history of the town. Windows were decorated in a most fitting manner, parties were held all around the county, while on Tuesday evening the ghosts and goblins held high carnival.

The committee judging the Halloween window displays awarded first prize to C. A. Godwin; the Postoffice and H. F. Jefferson tied for second and Bordley & Son third.

A big crowd was in town Tuesday evening from the country to see the sights and they were not disappointed. Boys, girls and young women and men, dressed to imitate ghosts, devils and most every character under the sun, paraded the streets in wierd attires and were the cause of many comments and caused much fun. It was well on toward ten o'clock when the college boys came down and went through a most elaborate program.

Senator France's Record merits his defeat by good Americans

France Has Brought Shame Upon Maryland

Read what the New York Times, in an editorial published October 27, says about the necessity of defeating this patron of Bolshevism

FOR SENATOR FROM MARYLAND

Senator France, of Maryland, has won for himself and his State an unfortunate notoriety of which its thoughtful citizens, whatever their party, must be weary. Much is said by his apologists of his "courage." A courage shown only by opposition to his party when it is right deserves small praise. Dr. France has studied in several colleges and universities. His studies, on some subjects at least, don't seem to be accompanied or followed by thought. He is flighty, fantastic, full of whims. He was the sole Republican Senator to vote against the ratification of the Naval Treaty, one of four Republicans to vote against the Four-Power Treaty, one of three to vote against the treaty with Japan about the Island of Yap. His passion for recognition of the Soviet Government, his Russian excursions ,are only too well known. No doubt he has many excellent and engaging private qualities; but, in the present stage of his development, he is much better fitted to be a contributor to some of our "intellectual" weeklies than to be a Senator. It would be to the advantage of the Republican Party as well as of the country to give him leisure to continue his studies as a private citizen after March 4, 1923.

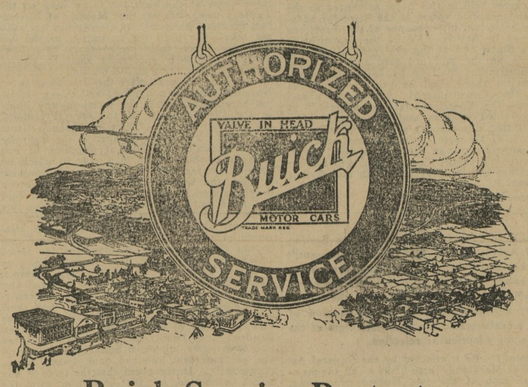

His Democratic opponent, Mr. William Cabell Bruce, is eminently fit to be a Senator. He is the leader of the Maryland bar, deeply grounded in legal and constitutional principles and precedents and in American history, to which as an author he has made notable contribution. He is an orator of distinction. He is a man of the highest character. He has never been an extreme partisan. He has been an active friend of reform and good government. He has a thorough knowledge of business. Above all, in complete contrast to Dr. France, he is a man of sound, stable and balanced judgment. His intellectual powers are of the first order and would make him an honor to a Senate which admittedly needs improvement. No doubt for some minds eccentricity has its charms, but when it is an eccentricity not of mere appearance or habit or demeanor, but of opinion, it greatly limits or destroys a public man's power for public usefulness; tends, indeed, to make him a nuisance. How can a party or a State be adequately represented by a man of unstable temperament and shifting political fantasies? To borrow from Dr. Johnson, Dr. France is at best a meteor, while Mr. Bruce is a fixed star.

In a contest between ordinary partisans the country at large would have small interest; but all Americans of good-will have a strong interest in the defeat of a patron of Bolshevism.

Elect Bruce and Restore Maryland's Prestige in the Senate.
