THE TRANSCRIPT

Entered at the Postoffice at Chestertown, Md., as Second Class Matter.

THE nomination of a negro as collector of the port of New Orleans failed to be confirmed by the United States Senate.

IT is hoped that the rebuke given the Republican party in the November election will have some salutary influence on that party's legislation in this Congress.

BY the Democratic filibuster in Congress the Republican majority has been forced to abandon the Dyes anti-lynching bill. The fact is they never expected to pass it; it was a make-believe attempt to fulfil a campaign pledge so as to satisfy the colored voters.

THE TRANSCRIPT goes to its readers today laden with advertisements from our merchants, telling the public what they have to offer them. Every reader of this paper should consult its advertising columns for information before making their purchases. The attractive prices and stocks would most probably suggest to you just the thing that would suit. Local reading matter will be found on every page of this issue, as advertising space has been so much in demand that we found it necessary to change somewhat the local make-up of this issue.

Delayed

On account of lack of space the answers of the winners of the three prizes offered by the Third National Bank Nov. 25 have been crowded out of this issue, but will appear in this paper in its issue of Dec. 16.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE

The new college monthly, which will be published jointly by the college and the student body, has been named "The Eastern Shore Trade Journal." The first copy of the magazine is scheduled to appear during the latter part of January. It will take the place of the Washington College Bulletin. The purpose that it intends to serve is twofold. First, it will act as a source of advertising and information for alumni and outside friends. Secondly, it will be more of a technical journal and aims to offer practical information to students and the people of the Eastern Shore and Delaware. To accomplish that purpose it will secure prominent men of the forementioned localities, who are prominent in their respective fields of work, to contribute articles on commerce, industry in general, agriculture, fishing, the professions, etc. Most colleges have service bureaus, which issue technical pamphlets to outsiders, merely as an individual institution, which sends out a periodical lesson to its students. Washington College goes one step further. It wishes that every subscriber to the magazine should feel himself the teacher as well as the pupil. Contributions on practical problems from subscribers and non-subscribers will be highly appreciated. The college desires that the magazine be an organ through which the people of the Eastern Shore and Delaware may exchange ideas and offer helpful advice to each other. Another important fact to be noticed by advertisers is that the magazine will cover a very large territory, the entire Eastern Shore and part of Delaware.

The Message Of The Christmas Seal

Christmas Seals have come to be as closely associated with the holiday season as Santa Claus, mistletoe and plum pudding. They are sold in order that everybody may become a working partner in the campaign to stamp out tuberculosis. Buy them for your Christmas packages; put them on the back of your envelope in your correspondence. Be proud that Kent Co. has an opportunity to help the cause.

The death of Mrs. Mary J. Taylor, widow of the late William H. Taylor both of whom had resided and were well-known in Kent and Queen Anne's counties, occurred at the residence of her niece, Mrs. John Taylor, Baltimore, Monday morning, Dec. 4. She was about 84 years old and leaves the following relatives near Rock Hall: Brother-in-law, Alexander Taylor; sister-in-law, Mrs. Joshua Atkinson; nieces, Mrs. John Diehl and Mrs. William Wagner, Jr.; nephews, J. B. Atkinson and John Atkinson; and John W. Taylor, of Chestertown. The funeral services were held in Wesley Chapel on Wednesday, interment in the adjoining cemetery.

—John Schauber, Jr., the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schauber, had his leg broken Sunday morning in front of the Catholic Church when he darted in front of a car being driven by Mr. Clarence Newcomb. Mr. Newcomb was traveling at a very moderate pace and Mrs. Schauber and others who saw the accident fully exonerated Mr. Newcomb from blame. He was taken to Wilmington Hospital and is now getting along nicely.

Sad Accident At Massey

Thomas, the twelve-year old son of Postmaster and Mrs. Michael J. Dunn, of Massey, Kent County, was instantly killed Saturday while playing on the farm of his uncle, Mr. Thomas J. Dunn, near Massey.

The little boy and a companion had built a swing of rope, attached to an old scaffold used for hanging hogs after being slaughtered. The scaffold, probably weak from being out in the weather, gave way, the heavy piece of timber striking the boy on the head and crushing in his skull.

This was one of the saddest and most unusual accidents that has occurred in that part of the county in years. The parents and family have the sympathy of the whole county in their bereavement.

The funeral took place on Monday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Dennis' Catholic Church, Galena, interment in the old Catholic Cemetery at Lambson. Six of his school mates, Thomas Cochran, Gene Moffett, Omar Rowan, Chas. Massey, Harry Stidham and Preston King, acted as pallbearers. The school was closed in the morning and a large number of the school children attended; a pretty spray of snap-dragons, given by the school children, displayed the thought that "although their playmate was gone, he was not forgotten."

—Mr. C. M. Taylor received word recently that his son-in-law, Walter Porter, was a passenger on the ill-fated steamer, "Lepolobampo," which capsized in the Gulf of Mexico on Nov. 18, when 90 passengers lost their lives. He escaped unhurt.
