WASHINGTON COLLEGE, PLAYING FIRST BASKETBALL OF SEASON, GIVES NAVY A SCARE —OTHER INTERESTING NOTES OF SPORTING REALM

Washington College opened the 1922-1923 basketball season Saturday afternoon with the Naval Academy basketball team at Annapolis. Navy won, 37-30, but not without one of the most bitterly contested games ever seen on the Navy floor. Both teams showed wonderful flashes of basketball that kept the gallery thrilled all the time. A number of St. John's cadets were on hand and cheered lustily for Washington College, their old rivals in all branches of sport.

Washington's team was not in the shape for the game that the Navy team was, because the latter had already been in several contests, and showed the difference in comparison with the Washington College boys.

With the wizard of the basketball floor, Carroll, doing his finest, W. C. literally swept Navy off its feet for the first few minutes of play and with the half about one-third over held a 7-4 lead over Navy, all their points being due to foul shots. But Navy soon showed their class and after 11 minutes of play were leading by a count of 18-8, and were able to hold the lead until the half closed, the score then standing 21 to 13.

Washington College, who had by this time gotten used to the floor and had also shaken off their "stage fright," outplayed Navy in the second half of the contest, which developed the hardest kind of fighting. In this half Washington scored one more point than did their opponents

The stellar work of Carroll was the outstanding feature of the game. He made eight baskets for Washington and shot four fouls out of eight chances. In this he was excelled by Carrington, who shot 7 out of 9.

Washington started the game with Dumschott and Carroll, forwards; Gordy, center and Johnston and Lohran, guards. The Navy had McKee and Harris, forwards; Scheibler, center; Barnes and Jones, guards.

Washington substituted Carrington for Dumschot; Carrington for Carroll; Carroll for Carrington; Carrington for Dumschot; Bankert for Gordy; Fiore for Lohran; Lohran for Johnston.

In the game with Navy Saturday Carrington and Fiore lived up to their reputations as basketball men of real ability and will doubtless shine brightly on the basketball floor before the blue birds begin to sing. Bankert is a coming player and will make a good man also. In fact, there is a wealth of good material at the college.

Kent County basketball lovers will have a long wait to see the 1922-23 basketball team in action. Blue Ridge has postponed their game and then the holidays come. After that the W. C. team will go on their southern trip. The first game here is on January 20 with Mt. St. Mary's.

Some idea of the magnitude of conducting intercollegiate athletics at the big universities of the country is given by a recent financial statement given by the University of Pennsylvania for the fiscal year which ended on June 30. It does not include the football season just closed. It shows that the University of Pennsylvania teams earned a total of $309,781.95, while the expenditures were $247,757.32. This shows a net profit for the operation of these sports of $62,024.63. These figures do not include such charges as interest on outstanding bonds, the sinking fund and other charges for the maintenance of Franklin Field. When all these are included the profit for the year is shown to be only $6,938.56.

Washington College is scheduled for November 24 at Annapolis. We had hoped and understood tihs game of football was to be played here.

The annual array of all-star football elevens, picked from an exclusively Eastern viewpoint, has passed in review. Picked as the opinion of 15 writers, first and second all-Eastern teams shape as follows:

First Team—Gray, Princeton, end; Parry, Navy, end; Treat, Princeton, tackle; Gulian, Brown,tackle; Schwab, Lafayette, guard; Cross, Yale, guard; Bowser, Pittsburg, center; Pfann, Cornell, quarter; Owen, Harvard, half; Erickson, W. and J., half; Kaw, Cornell, fullback.

Second Team—Taylor, Navy, end; Lynch, Dartmouth, end; Hanson, Cornell, tackle; Thurman, Penn, tackle; Hubbard, Harvard, guard; Welch, Colgate, guard; Garbisch, Army, center; Buell, Harvard, quarter; Ramsey, Cornell, half; Jordan, Yale, half; Wood, Army, fullback.

Eddie Kaw, captain and brilliant back of Cornell's great eleven, ranks as the most conspicuous and popular star of the East. He was the only one of the list selected by everyone of the fifteen observers for a place on the mythical eleven.

The open season for the trapping of muskrats begins January 1 and lasts until March 15, both dates inclusive. Owing to the high prices at which the fur of these little animals has been sold in recent years there has been a great temptation to vioalte the law, with the result that heavy penalties have been imposed upon some of those who failed to observe its provisions. While the law may seem severe it is necessary for the preservation of this game. That part of the State Statutes relating to the killing or catching of muskrats provides that no person or persons shall shoot or in any manner kill or catch, except by gigging or trapping, any muskrat or otter, and it shall be unlawful for any person in Maryland to dig into or in any manner molest or destroy the roof or any part of a muskrat house or den.

William Peden is, according to all reliable records, the champion fisherman of the past season in Delaware Bay. During the season, from May 14 to Nov. 19, he caughtt 10,578 fish. The greatest number in any one day was 176, and the heaviest fish he caught was a 41-pound channel bass.

The need of an honest control over boxing is shown by the following: The Siki-Carpentier affair in France; the Fulton statement that he was double-crossed by Dempsey; Jack Johnson's statement that he was double-crossed by Willard; continued gossip to the effect that Johnson had agreed to lay down to Jeffries, and then changed his plans, the message which he sent to Jeffries. These all may have been rumors, but the fact that almost every fight of any calibre is always so styled shows how closely the sport should be watched.

The football team of West Virginia University will in a sense face two opponents when it lines up with the eleven from Gonzaga University on Christmas Day. One will be the Gonzaga eleven itself, no mean opponent, and the other will be overconfidence, which West Virginia possesses plentifully. The game should be well worth seeing.

The booking of the Navy-Princeton football game for Baltimore Stadium was a real master stroke for Maryland athletics. The game will be contested on Oct. 27 and will, without a doubt, fill the stadium. Baltimore has not been accustomed to the big things in athletics in these late years, but here's hoping she responds to this move in real sportsmanlike fashion.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friends stands by you when in need. Chestertown people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mrs. Romie E. Patrick, of High St., Chestertown, endorsed Doan's many years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

"I was in a bad way with a run down condition of my kidneys," says Mrs. Patrick. "My back ached and my kidneys were too free in action, causing annoyance. It seemed as if weights were tied to my back and were pulling me down. I felt tired and was in a miserable condition. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in our family for several years, so I started to take them. After using about one box the trouble was entirely gone. I generally bought this excellent remedy at Toulson's Drug Store." (Statement given August 16, 1916.)

On January 26, 1921, Mrs. Patrick added: "I never miss a chance to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Since they cured me of kidney complaint, I have had no return."

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of

CARDUI

and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.
