THE tomato situation in this county remains unsettled as to prices. The farmers are entitled to a price that will yield them a profit, and they say they cannot grow them to realize a fair return for less than 30 cents a basket. A prominent farmer living near Chestertown says he received a letter from a farmer in Delaware saying the farmers over there have not yet contracted and are waiting the results of the outcome in this county. If tomatoes cannot be grown here at a profit for less than 30 cents a basket the tomato growers should not attempt to grow them at all unless they can get the 30 cents. Why should they be expected to grow any crop at a loss. For years canners in some sections of this peninsula have paid a much larger price for tomatoes than has been paid in other sections. This to us seems unfair and unjust to the growers who are paid a price which is lower than is realized by other growers.

SPORTS

Washington College easily defeated the All-Stars at Salisbury Friday night yb the score of 37 to 16. A big crowd from Chestertown was there. During the game Fiore's nose was broken.

Luis Angel Firpo, South America's contender for heavyweight world honors, recently knocked out Bill Brennan, of Chicago, in the twelfth round of their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, which was filled to capacity Monday night. Firpo weighed 220 and Brennan 203. A terrific right to the head in the twelfth following round after round of a slashing exchange of blows, sent the Windy City boxer down for a count of 10.

There is much talk throughout Talbot county of organizing a county baseball league for the coming season. Last year Easton was in the Tricounty League, and the backers found that hired players were expensive and hard to get, not to mention the trouble of handling them. Oxford, St. Michaels and Easton went behind in financial affairs, and it is thought that if sufficent interest can be aroused a county league would afford more interest than any other. St. Michaels still has its organization of players, has a fine field and is preparing to begin training soon. Oxford has a good field and would gladly welcome an opportunity to get in such an organization. Bozman and Neavitt have a strong aggregation of ball players, and Easton can get a good team together without much trouble. A fine field is also ready at Community Park for the Easton club. A meeting will be held soon to determine on something definite.

Baseball now has the center of the sportlight at Washington College, as well as the balance of the Shore, and Wednesday saw a big squad of athletes on Washington Field, getting preliminary training for the coming season. The following reported: Capt. Griffith, Flowers, Jonnston, Bradford, Duffy, Hickman, Cavanaugh, Carrington, Holland, Scarborough, Simmons, Armstrong, Carroll, Dumschott, R. Adkins, J. Adkins, Buchanan, Rayne, Gardner, Whittington, Tyler, Culver, Vinyard, Bankard, Bounds, Kelly, Fiore, Conant and Galvin. Although several places were made vacant by graduation last year, the prospects are much brighter than that of the previous year. It is true that the absence of such men as Duffy, Wright, Jones and Bounds will be keenly felt, yet there seems to be loads of material from which to pick worthy successors.

The pitching situation was relieved to a great extent by the return of Bradford, the southpaw who was instrumental in the defeat of University of Pennsylvania last year. Hickman and Carroll, of last year's pitching staff, are also back. In the line of recruit pitchers, Scarborough, Simmons and J. Adkins seem to be outstanding figures. On the receiving end are found Duffy, Holland and Carrington; all three are experienced catchers and who will be the regular man back of the bat is a problem.

Cavanaugh seems to be the man most likely to hold down the initial sack, while Armstrong or Dumschott will be elected to fill the vacancy at second. Flowers and Johnston will, of course, cover short and third, respectively. In the outfield Griffith will be at center, with Vinyard, Conant and R. Adkins to pick from for the other two positions.

The schedule opens at Annapolis with the Navy, and there are 25 contests on the schedule.

The object of this association is to hold sales semi-annually of Poland China Hogs.

Items Of General Interest

A violent wind storm visited Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Georgia last Sunday, wiping out villages and injuring over 200 people, also killing 44, while the damage done to property was very great.

Sand bars, like time and tide, are no respecter of persons. The President's house boat has been so delayed by them that it has only made 30 miles in 24 hours since leaving Palm Beach for Miami, where he is to meet Mr. Firestone, who has been working with the government in an endeavor to solve the rubber problem.

Miss Lyon, a Michigan girl, has been creating a quite a stir in the medical world by carrying a temperature of 114 degrees. As her pulse was good, the dictors made an examination and found that she was concealing a small hot water bottle in her clothes to which she applied the thermometer, thus making the remarkable rise in temperature.

BETTER PROSPECT FOR FARMERS THIS YEAR

Farmers are to get an increase over last year's prices for peas, corn and tomatoes, according to a representative of the canning interests. Some time ago the canners met and discussed the prices to be paid this season. Contracts are being drawn up for peas—in fact, most of the canners have already contracted for pea acreage, and an advance of $10 a ton over last year's prices has resulted in increased acreage.

Plowing is now under way in Queen Annes county and but for the recent snow and rain the crop would have been planted. Large fields are now partly ready for the seed.

Tomatoes will bring a greater advance in price than the other canning crops. While $10 a ton was the average last season the canners are now ready to sign contracts at $15 a ton. Sugar corn brought $10 a ton last year, and this year the canners agree to offer $11. Farmers are not exactly satisfied with the corn price, and hope the packers will see their way clear to advance this by the time the contracts are offered.

A prominent packer stated that the great majority of the packing houses had studied the situation and believe increases for the coming season.

Men prominent in the commercial life of this section have been making strong appeals for the assistance in behalf of the farmers.
