REPORTS of the indications of the wheat crop throughout the country for 1923 is about equal to that of 1922, although the acreage is much less. Let us hope that the prices may be more stable and the grower reap the profit rather than the speculator.

CHESTERTOWN is to be congratulated on the fact that our steamboat line is not to be discontinued. Idle water fronts generally betoken lack of thrift and in this, our community, we cannot afford to take a backward move. The trip up and down our beautiful river is one of the great attractions to strangers coming to the town and the freight conveniences would be much missed if taken away. Let our citizens more fully appreciate the advantages this line has so long given us and contribute all they can to its advancement.

ON a visit to Easton last week we noticed the children of the town thoroughly enjoying the playground. A number of swings, a nice baseball ground and a number of other sports were contributing to the pleasure and health of the children. Some time since the writer was impressed by seeing a number of our boys enjoying a game of baseball, but the only place they had was on private property and, of course, the trespassing had to be stopped. Cannot our community, like Easton, make an effort to provide a place where all the children of the town may enjoy healthy sport. Happy children make good citizens.

THE election of Mr. Jackson as mayor of Baltimore is a distinct Democratic victory over both the Republican party and an independant ticket which tended to draw most of its support from the democrats. In fact the Democratic victory in Baltimore is a very encouraging sign to the Democratic National Committee and drew from it the statement that it is significent of a wonderful reaction throughout the country to the Republican landslide in the past Presidential election. It is generally conceded that politicians in the State have been awaiting the outcome of the Mayorality fight in Baltimore before starting on an active campaign which will result in a State wide election in the fall.. In fact it appears that this will be a political year throughout the State with a hot Democratic primary fight. It is also possible that there will be a primary fight in the Republican party, although it is thought that Mr. Alexander Armstrong can have the nomination if he desires it.

The political bee has certainly started buzzing and now that the mayoralty fight in Baltimore is over, he is extending his operations throughout the state. We hope the result will be a better and stronger Democratic party.

FARMERS AND THE TARIFF

For a great many years the Democrats have been trying to make the Republican farmers understand that the protective tariff costs them a great deal of money and puts very little in their pockets, but, of course, the Republican farmers don't read what the Democrat party prints; they read Senator McCumber's speech priding himself on getting a duty of 30 cents on wheat, of which America is a large exporter, and the price of which is fixed in the world's market in competition with the wheat of Russia, India, Argentina and Australia. There are probably farmers in North Dakota capable of believing that they get 30 cents a bushel more for their wheat than they would get if it were not for the Fordney-McCumber tarig.

Now the American Farm Bureau Federation, chief sponsor for the farm bloc in Congress, is telling the farmers just what the Democrats have been trying to tell them, and the farmers will read what the Bureau puts out. That is their own organization. They will read what it says, and they will believe it. The Bureau sets its economists to find out how much import duties actually benefitted the farmers and also increased cost of the commodities the farmer must buy. The Bureau economists concluded that the tariff cost the farmers an average of $426,000,000 a year, and it brought in to them $125,000,000 a year, so that the protective tarriff is a net expense to the farmers of $301,000,000 a year.

The precise figures are unimportant. Different compilers might reach different conclusions regarding the amount of money the tariff takes out of the pockets of the farmers and the amount it puts in. But the general fact is unmistakable, that the tariff enhances the price of almost everything the farmer buys, and that the greater part of his money crops are sold abroad in a world-wide competition, so that he benefits little by the tarriff and pays a large part of the tariff taxes. Now that the Farm Bureau Federation says so we trust that the Republican farmer will see it and believe it.

HEARN GASOLINE

Is Uniform and Dependable Because it is tested before it is sold

One of the tests to which Hearn Gasoline is always subjected before it goes to the filling stations is the Distillation Test. This is important to every user of Hearn Gasoline.

A fifth of a pint of Hearn Gasoline is put into the flask. When this begins to boil, the vapor rises through the tube, is condensed, and passes into the flask as the liquid rises in the graduate.

Hearn Gasoline must always begin to distill between 123° and 127°F. The Distillation must always be complete between 427° and 430°F. The rise in temperature and the increase of the distilled gasoline must always be uniform. This is the Hearn specification for gasoline and it is more rigid than the specification of the United States Government.

Here is the significance to you of the Hearn Specification:

1. The low point at which distillation starts indicates a fuel which becomes a gas quickly at a low temperature, insuring easy starting.

2. The high point at which distillation is complete indicates a fuel that imparts high power to the motor.

3 The uniformity with which the rise in temperature and the distillation proceed indicates a fuel which burns evenly, insuring smooth action in the motor.

When you buy Hearn Gasoline you buy gasoline which has been put to the Distillation Test. You are certain of a gasoline that starts quickly, gives power, and burns evenly. The name HEARN on a filling station is a certification of a gasoline that is always of the same high quality and the same reliability.

THE DISTILLATION SPECIFICATION IS ONLY ONE OF THE REQUIREMENTS WHICH HEARN GASOLINE MUST MEET. ANOTHER SPECIFICATION WILL BE EXPLAINED IN THE NEXT ADVERTISEMENT
