QUICK ACTION BRAKES
EXTRA LARGE AND EXTRA SAFE

In the construction of Dodge Brothers Motor Car, every consideration has been given to the owner's safety.

This is particularly evident in the brakes, which, with their 14-inch drums and 2¼ inch lining, are appreciably larger than the average. The extra surface thus provided develops greater friction when the break bands contract over the drums—and it is this friction which stops the car."

Connecting levers are designed to transmit the maximum of power with the minimum of effort. The slightest pressure on the brake pedal has an immediate effect. This pressure is distributed evenly between the two rear wheels by a highly efficient equalizer, which prevents skidding because t retards both wheels simultaneously.

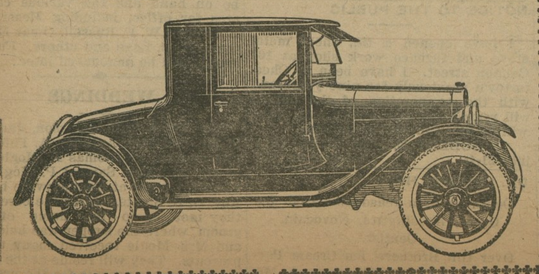

And the brake bands grip evenly all around the drums. This protects the lining against irregular wear and enables the driver to stop quickly, quietly and safely.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

Minute Talks by the Business Men's Association of Chestertown

As an aftermath of the recent tour of representatives of the Association Through the Del-Mar-Via Peninsula we are compiling a set of statistical data gathered at that time. This information will deal with the government of the various towns visited as well as with the management of municipal plants; tax rates, commercial and industrial developments and civic interests in general. The data will be published in booklet form and distributed through the Peninsula and will serve not only as a valuable result of the Shore trip but as a contribution of Chestertown to the development of further cooperative movements among the Peninsula municipalities.

This is rather reversing the process of the Jonesville Chamber of Commerce which did the right thing at the wrong time.

"I'm going to bed early tonight," remarked the gray-haired traveling salesman wearily. "I went to the circus with an old customer over in Jonesville yesterday and I'm all in. We went with a party from the Jonesville Chamber of Commerce, all of them go-getters. You know, I had always gone to the circus to be amused and to relax. I expected to have some fun. But these fellows sat there and counted the crowd and figured up the day's business, worked it out into weeks, subtracted the expenses and computed the income tax. They took an inventory of the lemonade stands. They estimated the cost of feeding the horses. They checked the number of performers against the program and worried when a ringful refused to check. They counted the number of times Lily Lenzel turned over on her perch and had a hot argument as to whether she had left one turn out. they audited the elephants and certified the clowns. Driving back from the grounds they worried about whether the owners made six per cent net. I got my host to drop me down town as soon as possible so I could go into a movie and get some rest. I'll catch up with the circus in Smithville and then I'm going again."

The Wilmington Chamber of Commerce entertained a party of about twenty-five from Chestertown at luncheon at the Du Pont Hotel on Monday last and took them on a tour of the commercial, industrial and manufacturing interests of the city. A mere detailed account of the trip will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Dog Days

There appears to be an epidemic of dogs in Chestertown. The writer counted fifteen stray dogs of assorted shapes and sizes on Washington Avenue one night a short time ago and their voices ranged from basso profundo to lyric soprano. There was not a note in the musical scale that escaped a massacre horrible to contemplate and though the book and lyrics of the concert may have been music and poetry to the canine ear yet the effect on the audience was anything but pleasant. The solos, duets and mixed quartets lasted through the night. It was a lengthy performance; in that respect, at least, rivalling Wagner's "Ring."

Similar reports have come from all over town and we feel that something should be done by the town authorities to remedy this unpleasantness. This matter is being mentioned in this column by request.
