The counties receiving the birds were Harford, Carroll, Howard, Dorchester, Caroline, Wicomico, Worcester and Kent. A total of 4000 birds hatched out at the state game farm are to be distributed this year.

Maryland's Best Wheat Crop In Years

Coincident with the drop in the price of wheat come reports from Maryland farmers of one of the best wheat crops the state has had in years. It is 95 per cent of perfection, accoriding to John S. Dennee, crop statistician of the U. S. Bureau of Economics, Department of Agriculture, with offices in the Keyser Building, Baltimore. Mr. Dennee's report, as of Aug. 1, places the estimated total of the yield in Maryland at 10,472,00 bushels, compared with an average over the last five years of 0,655,000 bushels. This, he estimates, indicates a yield of 19.5 bushels an acre, as against 15.3 for the five-year average. In addition to the unusually good yield, he said, the wheat is also of good quality. Rye, said the report, is of good quality and good yield, the report indicating a total of approximately 280,000 bushels, compared with a five-year average of 14.7.

A Good Word For Transcript Foreman

Mr. John W. Barnes, of Chestertown, Md., was a welcome caller at the Ledger office this week. He was in Havre de Grace as a delegate representing the Chestertown Order of the P. O. S. of A., which has been in convention in this city.

Mr. Barnes, who is 66 years old, is the foreman in the composing room of the Chestertown Transcript, which position he has held for 50 years. He entered the Transcript at the age of 16, and has a reputation throughout the State as one of the best and fastest composers who ever 'picked up a stick."

The writer, who served his apprenticeship under Mr. Barnes, has always held this grand old printer in high esteem, and he is known to everyone in the printing craft of Chestertown as "a glutton for work." No less than fifty boys have learned the trade of printing under Mr. Barnes in the Transcript office, and among them he has turned out many high-class printers. One thing above all else that Mr. Barnes demanded of his pupils was promptness, and he maintained a strict discipline at all times in the work room, for which he has been highly praised time and again by "his boys" who are now out in the world earning their living at a trade which ranks third in the industries of the country.—Havre de Grace Ledger.
