LAST ANALYSIS OF SUCCESS

Some Worth-While Thoughts That It May Pay the Busy Man to Ponder Over.

It isn't success if it costs you the companionship and chumminess and love of your children. Very often busy, wealthy men of momentous affairs discover too late that they have sacrificed the finest thing in life, the affection of their family. Let me relate an incident recently told me which contains a priceless suggestion for many ultra-busy business men. A prominent public utility executive of Illinois told a friend that he was going to give his young son an unusual Christmas present. "I'm going," he said, "to write my boy a letter telling him that, as a Christmas present, I'm going to give him an hour of my time every day." He added that he had been doing a lot of thinking on the subject, and felt that he owed this to his son.

Alas, he died two weeks later.

I work at least an average of twelve hours a day, but I never fail to find time to romp with my little fellows or to tell them stories—"grand new ones"—after they are ready for bed. I wouldn't forego this pleasure for the sake of any amount of money. Wealth is an excellent thing to possess if earned honestly and utilized sensibly. But wealth won at the expense of health or family affection isn't wealth, but poverty, poverty of heart, poverty of soul.—Baltimore American.

Rat Campaigns Successful.

The biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture conducted an anti-rat campaign in Georgia during December, and followed it with a similar campaign which is in progress in Virginia. In co-operation with the extension service of the Georgia Agricultural college, preliminary organization work was done, and a statewide publicity campaign was put on. The campaign attained its greatest efficiency at Atlanta when the chamber of commerce purchased and distributed free of charge two and three-quarter tons of barium carbonate for poisoned baits for rats. Satisfactory results are reported both in the number of rats killed and in the interest aroused in making conditions less favorable for these pests by eliminating sources of food and harborage, and by the rat-proof construction or repair of buildings. It is planned to follow up the drives from time to time as required to control the rats effectively.
